HITLER SPEEDS BALKAN DEALS

DRIVE TO CHECK NEW DEAL WAR ALARMS GROWS

Move Wins Support in Every State.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Pictures on page 9.)

Washington, D. C., April 19.—[Special.]—The people of the United States have responded with overwhelming enthusiasm to the announcement of a campaign to counteract the New Deal's war hysteria, Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] disclosed today. A short week ago Fish proclaimed the formation of the national committee to keep America out of foreign wars. Twenty-five members and former members of the house associated themselves as an executive board of the committee, pledging their united efforts to battle White House and administration war propaganda.

Representative Fish.

A tide of letters praising the aims of the committee and offering the services of the writers in the furtherance of the organization immediately flooded Fish's office. The response has been from every state in the Union.

Seek Places on Board.

Congressmen, who have heard from their constituents in support of the new committee's objectives, are beseeching Fish for places on the executive board. There is every indication that the movement will sweep the country, Fish declared.

The purpose of the committee was outlined in the original announcement as follows:

"The facilities of the President and the New Deal administration to disseminate war propaganda and hysteria, and to prepare the youth of America for another blood bath in Europe, are so enormous that it is essential to form a national organization to counteract these un-American, provocative, and dangerous policies with every resource available and to conduct an open and militant campaign of education through organization, the press, and the radio to keep America out of foreign wars unless attacked."

[President Roosevelt, in a message to Young Democratic clubs at a Jackson day dinner in Washington last night, demanded unquestioning loyalty to New Deal policies. Details on page 9.]

Fish Temporary Chairman.

At the first meeting of the committee Fish was chosen temporary chairman. Two former congressmen, both Democrats, John J. O'Connor of New York and Samuel B. Pettengill of Indiana, and Representative Harold Knutson [R., Minn.] were chosen vice chairmen.

A special committee, headed by Representative Jesse P. Wolcott [R., Mich.], was appointed to draft an outline of permanent organization procedure. An advisory committee of fifty prominent men and women in all sections of the country is to be selected later.

Units of the organization will be set up in every state, Fish said. A woman's division will be formed. Although a formal plea for funds has not yet been made, contributions are coming in, he announced. There will be no paid officials in the organization.

Tells of Organization.

"The organization was initiated in congress because congress alone has the right to declare war," said Fish. "If the country is to be saved from embroilment in a foreign war by the President, the people must let congress know that they are against entangling alliances, war commitments, and policing and quarantining the world with American blood and treasure.

"At a time when the American public should be calm, it is continually being excited into a frenzy by President Roosevelt and his New Deal spokesmen. The youth of America are again being prepared for shedding their blood in Europe in order to make the world safe for democracy.

"The time to wage war on war is in time of peace. If we do not speak out now it will be too late after war is declared."

Urge Prison Building at St. Charles

LOCK UP TOUGH BOYS, PROPOSAL OF LEGISLATORS

Fence Advocated as Emergency Step.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—[Special.]—Construction of a new security building—with walls around it if necessary—to house criminally inclined boys at the St. Charles School for Boys was recommended late today by the legislative committee investigating the institution. The legislators also proposed, as an emergency measure, the immediate erection of a high fence about the school buildings to prevent escapes until the security building is constructed.

State Senator Thomas P. Gunning [R., Princeton], chairman, said the committee would ask an emergency appropriation of $40,000 to build an eight foot steel fence, and, pending its completion, would recommend that armed guards patrol the school grounds.

Outrages and depredations committed by escapees and parolees from the institution brought on the investigation. The committee has moved especially fast since the hatchet attack committed on an elderly farm wife last week by Vivian Denton, 17 year old parolee.

Cost Put at $250,000.

Senator A. L. Marovitz [D., Chicago] won adoption of the recommendation for a new building. He believes it could be constructed for about $250,000 and suggested that that sum be taken from "the very substantial appropriation sought for road building."

"I realize and appreciate the opposition of persons living in the vicinity of St. Charles to a walled institution," Senator Marovitz said, "but there must be restriction on the criminally inclined portion of the boys sent there.

"I believe we could plan a building which would not look like a prison, but which would have all the security features. It could be adjacent to the present buildings so that no new land would need to be purchased nor a new power plant built."

Horner's Support Pledged.

Senator Gunning reported to the committee that Gov. Henry Horner had told him he was thoroughly in favor of the investigation and would follow any recommendations made by the committee.

The recommendation for the fence was made by a subcommittee headed by Senator Arnold P. Benson [R., Batavia]. Other recommendations made by the committee were:

1. Stopping of all paroles from the school until the practice has been investigated. This was proposed by Mrs. Maud N. Peffers [R., Aurora].

2. Reducing the age limit of boys who could be sent there from 17 to 15 years. Senator Peter P. Kielminski [D., Chicago], assistant superintendent of the Bridewell, the Chicago city prison, sponsored this recommendation. Kielminski also proposed that guard towers and flood lights be placed along the fence. This will be discussed at later meetings.

Marovitz said he understood that about fifty of the more than 550 boys in the institution are too tough for the sort of discipline maintained there.

ADMITS PLANNING KILLING

Vivian Denton, 17 years old, parolee from St. Charles School for Boys, yesterday confessed that his attack with a hatchet on a 77 year old woman was premeditated.

"He admitted he planned the attack while he was still at the school," said State's Attorney Charles A. O'Connor of Kane county. "He said he agreed to take a farm job so he could get a parole, and he did so with the intention of fleeing from the farm and killing or maiming any one who sought to restrain him."

Denton was paroled to Chris Christiansen, a farmer near St. Charles. Three hours after he began working on the farm he beat Mrs. Meta Christiansen, the farmer's wife.

"If Mrs. Christiansen dies I believe we can make a case of premeditated murder against Denton," O'Connor said.

ROOSEVELTS MAY PAY VISIT TO ENGLAND IN 1940, LONDON REPORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 20 [Thursday].—President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt may come to London next spring, the London Daily Sketch said today.

The paper said this development was one result of the announcement that the visit which King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth of Britain will pay to the United States in June will be official. Such a visit, said the Sketch, usually is returned.

"Americans over here are excited at this news," the paper added. "The only other visit by an American President was that of Woodrow Wilson, who stayed in Buckingham palace as a guest of King George [V.] in 1919."

Washington, D. C., April 19.—The White House had no comment tonight on a report from London that President and Mrs. Roosevelt might go to the British capital next spring.

For days the steps of the little boys and girls at the Bridge Elementary school kindergarten, 3800 North New England avenue, have been light and cautions. Occasionally there could be heard a cluck. Yesterday cheeps were added to the cluck and the little boys and girls were enthralled.

Bonnie, a white leghorn, sent to the school to provide a nature lesson, gratefully accepted cracked corn, water, and an occasional angleworm.

When she was lifted off, six little chicks were peeping from beneath her wings. Another, more venturesome, was trying to climb over her back. That they were dark chicks dismayed Bonnie not at all, but two small boys bolted for the door, toy spades in hands.

"More worms!" they shouted. "Worms for the seven dwarfs!"

Steve Sumner Dodges Feast; Avoids Arrest

The annual testimonial dinner of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union for its officers was held last night in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House. Among the 1,200 who attended were three uninvited guests; three dour and determined deputy sherifs.

Because they were present Steve Sumner, the veteran secretary-treasurer of the union, usually the most testimonialized of the officials, was absent. He knew, apparently, that if he appeared the deputies would arrest him. They were carrying an order from Judge Charles A. Williams of the Superior court to seize him on a charge of contempt.

Complains for Company.

The order had been issued in the afternoon at the request of Attorney Louis E. Hart, representing the Bowman Dairy company. He asserted that the 89 year old Sumner and two of his assistants, Alvin Richards and Stuart Simons, had violated a temporary injunction issued Tuesday by Judge Williams forbidding officers of the union to call a strike of the company's drivers.

Specifically, Hart said, Sumner, Richards, and Simons appeared yesterday morning at the Washington Heights station of the Bowman company at 1348 West 103d street and urged union members not to make deliveries. Hart added that the drivers obeyed the request.

Attorney David Riskind, for the union, contended that the injunction was issued without notice and that his clients were not familiar with its provisions. He argued also that the acts complained of occurred before the order went into effect.

Hearing Set for Today.

Judge Williams overruled the objections. He set a hearing on the contempt citation for this morning, and ordered that Sumner and his friends should be locked up. The arrest order was given shortly afterward to the deputies, Julius Lenz, Earl Bartman, and Louis Collins.

Equipping themselves with $2.50 tickets of admission to the dinner, and accompanied by Attorney Hart's son, Edward, they went to the ballroom entrance at about 6:30 p. m.

Time passed. One seat at the speakers' table remained empty. It was Sumner's.

About 9 p. m. the gavel sounded for the oratory. Then came the presentation of testimonials. A handsome one, framed, was given to the union president, Robert G. Fitchie. Then he announced that there were gifts for others, but that these could not be awarded "for important reasons."

Expect Surrender Today.

Attorney Riskind promised the judge that Sumner will surrender and appear in court today. The deputies decided that he was willing to forego his hour of glory at the banquet to insure against an overnight stay in jail.

The bill which Attorney Hart filed for the temporary injunction set out that the union had threatened to call a strike unless the Bowman company restored price cuts on milk sold at retail in stores. This milk is now 10 cents a quart, compared with the delivered price of 12 cents. Formerly there was only a 1 cent difference in the two prices.

TAXES IN 1938 TOOK 22 CENTS OF EVERY DOLLAR YOU EARNED

New York, April 19.—[Special.]—Taxes in the United States took 22 per cent of the national income last year, more than in any other year for which records are available, the national industrial conference board reported today. The previous high was 17.7 cents a dollar of national income in 1937.

Last year's federal, state, and local taxes totaled $13,700,000,000, the board estimated. The sum was described as representing a tax burden of $105 per capita and an average of $317 for each employed person.

Connecticut Finally Puts O.K. on U.S. Bill of Rights

Hartford, Conn., April 19.—(AP)—Connecticut, the last of the forty-eight states to ratify the bill of rights, today approved the nation's fundamental guarantees of liberty which have been in the constitution nearly 150 years. The state senate adopted a ratifying resolution, adopted by the house a week ago. Governor Raymond E. Baldwin sent the senate a special message, remarking that Connecticut had its own bill of rights as far back as 1650.

Russians Face Famine; Grain Crop Is Ruined

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, April 19.—Great Britain's plan to form a grand alliance with England, the United States, France, and soviet Russia pledged to take united action against members of the anti-communist pact has encountered unexpected difficulties in Moscow. The planned economy of the soviet government again interfered with the realization of Moscow's favorite prospect of security—help from Britain and the United States against Germany and Japan.

Eighty per cent of Russia's grain has been destroyed by an abnormal winter and an unusual spring with high temperatures alternating with subzero weather in the most important grain growing regions.

Face Threat of Famine.

Soviet authorities are confronted with the task of greatly enlarging the spring sowing campaign. The government must devote its efforts to increase the summer harvest of grain in order to avert a crop catastrophe which threatens to develop into a great famine.

While this situation is nothing unusual for the bolsheviks, it comes at a moment when the soviet government is conducting negotiations with the British, American, and French governments about Moscow's planned collective security pact. London recently renamed it the grand alliance.

Soviet officials admit that the failure of the winter's grain crop complicated these negotiations and is preventing Russia from making military commitments against Germany.

Tank Cars Unavailable for Army.

Although the soviet general staff claims to have adequate stores of motor fuel in its arsenals on the western frontier, it will be impossible to replenish these supplies now or during summer when every available tank car and means of transport will be mobilized in an attempt to supply the fuel needs of mechanized agriculture.

Moscow faces a fateful dilemma. Should the mechanized Red army be obliged to move against Germany in order to assist its potential ally, England, the nation's mechanized agriculture will collapse. A famine more serious than that of 1921 would threaten Russia. It cannot fall back on horse power for farming, since the country still has less than 40 per cent of the horses shown in the census of 1928.

The unwillingness of the soviet government to coöperate with the British offensive plans against Germany is believed to be due to Russia's urgent need of an improved harvest.

Fear Immediate War.

The London-Moscow negotiations were complicated further by the Kremlin's demand that Britain should guarantee all Russian frontiers. Moscow observers believe such a guarantee might result in immediate war between Russia and Japan in the far east because conditions in Siberia are far better than those in Russia. Then, too, the morale of the far eastern army, according to Gen. Gregory Stern, the commander in chief, is likely to suffer unless the soviet government begins military operations soon against Japan.

Soviet officials are pleased with the decision of the American government to transfer the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific. They claim this move draws the United States nearer to possible war with Japan, which would assist Moscow to deal with its enemy in the far east.

FUEHRER OFFERS GUARANTEES TO LITTLE NATIONS

Aims to Get Pacts as Reply to Roosevelt.

BULLETIN.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, April 19.—The police tonight were reported to have uncovered a plot to overthrow the Nazi government of Danzig. Thirty one former members of the opposition parties, mostly Socialists, were arrested. They were accused of conspiring, with the help of the Poles, to seize power during Adolf Hitler's birthday celebration tomorrow. Police charged the Poles agreed to furnish arms in event of a clash.

BERLIN, April 19.—Behind the scenes of the triumphal birthday ovations for Reichsfuehrer Hitler, Nazi leaders are attempting frantically to work out a peace agreement with all nations in southeastern Europe.

Grigore Gafencu
[Rumanian foreign minister.]

They are offering these Balkan states tremendous promises. In return they are urging the acceptance of proposals which would enable Hitler to step before the reichstag on Friday, April 28, and present to the world a concrete plan for a durable peace approved by those concerned.

This plan, Nazis said, would take the place of the vague suggestions of President Roosevelt. The President in a peace message to Hitler and Benito Mussolini of Italy urged them to make pledges not to invade thirty-one nations for a period of ten or twenty-five years.

Shower Visitors with Offers.

Delegations from Rumania, Bulgaria, Jugo-Slavia, Greece, Italy, Hungary, and the Scandinavian nations, who are in Berlin for Hitler's fiftieth birthday celebration tomorrow, are being showered with attentions and offers. The offers consist of guarantees to respect the integrity of their nations if they agree to exhibit an understanding for what the Nazis describe as the requirements of the German living space.

"Mr. Roosevelt's speech was a mine sprung against us," Hitler has told his lieutenants. "We shall spring a counter mine infinitely more powerful and impressive than anything the democracies ever evolved."

The Nazis already claim they have succeeded in winning Grigore Gafencu, Rumanian foreign minister, who was received by Hitler today. Gafencu was entertained lavishly by Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany.

Stress Military Leadership.

German military leadership is being used as an argument in the effort to win the support of Balkan nations for their new order in Europe. Nazi circles said the Rumanian foreign minister expressed his willingness to sign a semi-military pact with the Germans on top of the recent economic treaty.

"This pact," Nazis said, "would provide German guarantees for Rumanian integrity if Rumania guaranteed to remain neutral in a possible war."

They added that Germany expects Rumanian guarantees for the delivery of raw materials in war and peace and fair treatment for the German minority.

The Rumanians denied any such agreements have been discussed or initiated.

Goering Points to Palaces.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Nazi No. 2, told the Rumanian visitors of the vast wealth they would accumulate under German guidance by virtue of the richness of their native land. He pointed to the palaces, automobiles, and yachts Nazi leaders have attained under the Nazi system of government.

Germany is supplying her smaller allies and the countries she hopes to win as allies with military aircraft. Ten military training planes were sent to Rumania and thirty-six to Bulgaria. An unspecified number of aircraft was delivered to Hungary.

The Nazis formerly stressed that Nazism was merely for home consumption. Nazi radicals now assert that when Hitler answers Mr. Roosevelt he will address an appeal to the whole world.

"He will show how the democracies failed their peoples and he will urge populations abroad to concentrate on coöperation with the authoritarian powers," Nazis said.

Use Wartime Propaganda.

Just as propaganda of the allies in the world war was aimed to undermine the morale of the German people by declaring the allies had nothing against Germans, but merely opposed former Kaiser Wilhelm II. and his government, Nazi radicals expect the Fuehrer to assure foreign populations of Nazi friendship. This will be an attempt to drive a wedge between the foreign governments and the people who elected them.

Nazi circles are hopeful that the high pressure negotiations they are carrying on in Warsaw will lead to the return of the free city of Danzig to Germany, possibly tomorrow or at the latest before Hitler replies to Mr. Roosevelt. The Polish embassy continues to deny any such conversations.

In Rome Premier Mussolini is presenting pacification schemes to representatives of Jugo-Slavia and Hungary. Both the German and Italian dictators face difficulties because their eastern neighbors still are possessed with the fear that gripped them when Hitler seized Czecho-Slovakia and Mussolini took Albania.

1,500,000 Cheer Hitler.

Close to one and a half million men, women, and children lined the triumphal road to pay homage to Hitler tonight when he opened the new east-west highway. The highway was a blaze of light.

Prior to this ceremony Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, praised the Fuehrer in a radio broadcast.

"The name of Adolf Hitler is a political program for the world," he said. "It travels around the world like a legend. There is nobody on earth to whom this name can be indifferent.

"To be a great politician one requires imagination and a sense of reality. Both qualities are combined in Hitler. Imagination shows the goal, realism the way to reach it.

Voices Contempt for Democracies.

"The democracies, the enemies of Germany, are at the end of their knowledge. We punish their hysterical yells with solemn contempt because the German people feel that the Fuehrer lifted them back to the position to which they are entitled. The reich again stands under the protection of the German sword."

Konstantin von Neurath, the protector of Bohemia and Moravia, escorted Emil Hacha, the last president of conquered Czecho-Slovakia, into the Hotel Esplanade late tonight. A military guard was drawn up in the hotel to pay tribute to Hacha and to Father Joseph Tiso, the premier of Slovakia. Both came to Berlin to pay respects to their supreme protector—Hitler.

Conscript More Troops.

Military training is being continued at high pressure. The military high command announced that that part of the class of 1919 [men who were born in that year] which has not yet been conscripted and the whole class of 1920 will be called up for six months in the labor service, and two years of military service starting April 24. In Sudeten Germany, three classes of 1918, 1919, and 1920 will be called to the colors.

At the same time, all able bodied men of the classes of 1906, 1907, and 1913 to 1918 who for some reason or other escaped conscription will be summoned for brief military training periods.

Some of the German volunteers who fought for Gen. Francisco Franco in the Spanish civil war are expected to participate in tomorrow's birthday parade. Hitler will review 55,000 troops.

House Approves Primary Training of 15,000 Pilots

Washington, D. C., April 19.—(AP)—The house today passed and sent to the senate a bill authorizing the civil aeronautics authority to start immediate primary training of 15,000 civilian air pilots at a cost of $5,675,000. The program, requested twice by President Roosevelt, already has been approved in the senate, but in another form and bill.

CURB ON ISSUES IN MILK CARTON CONTEST ASKED

Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel, yesterday requested the federal district court to limit the points at issue in the suit of the Fieldcrest Dairies to compel the city to permit sales of milk in paper cartons. He requested that the dairies be forbidden to introduce testimony showing that such cartons are legal in Philadelphia and New York. Hodes said such testimony was immaterial, the only real issue being whether the city had the power to pass an ordinance forbidding carton use. Judge Philip L. Sullivan held the matter over to April 22, when Judge Charles E. Woodward will consider it.

Ireland Bans King George's Name from Its Passports

DUBLIN, April 19.—(AP)—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera announced in the Irish senate today that the name of King George VI. of Britain would be eliminated from Ireland's new passports. The revised form of the document requests "safe passage to the citizens of Eire [Ireland] in the name of Eamon de Valera, minister for external affairs."

Topeka, Kas., April 19.—(AP)—Sixteen years ago a young county prosecutor won his first big case—conviction of Emery Knight for a holdup murder. Today Knight, a life termer, was denied clemency by the Kansas governor. The county prosecutor who convicted him and the governor who turned him down were one and the same—Payne Ratner.

HUNGARY SPURNS ROOSEVELT PLEA FOR ITS SECURITY

Charges Interference in Central Europe.

ROME, April 19.—(AP)—Hungary, through its foreign minister, repudiated President Roosevelt's concern over its independence and territorial integrity today in an official utterance which made it plain that Hungary had thrown its lot with Germany and Italy.

Foreign Minister Count Stephen Csaky dismissed Mr. Roosevelt's week-end appeal to Premier Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Hitler for at least ten years of peace as an unwelcomed surprise and new American interference with the affairs of central Europe.

Hungary was one of the thirty-one nations on whose behalf Mr. Roosevelt asked nonaggression pledges from Hitler and Mussolini.

Assails Wilson's Points.

Count Csaky's statement was given to the official Italian Stefani news agency and was prominently published in the Italian press. The statement said in part:

"All Hungarians . . . remember every moment of their lives the unfortunate fourteen points [of President Woodrow Wilson].

"They do not forget that the treaty of the Trianon [which fixed Hungary's diminished post-war boundaries] was the result of the fourteen points, because there is no one who does not see that the effects of the precarious peace established on that base continue to poison day by day the lives of individuals and relations among peoples.

"Wilson's interference is too recent and its results too tragic for us not to feel a sense of resentment for what has happened . . . as a result of the Trianon treaty."

Confer with Mussolini.

Hungarian Premier Count Paul Teleki and Count Csaky conferred with Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano. Hungary's desire to regain more of the territory she lost in the world war was understood to have been discussed.

Hungary absorbed parts of fallen Czecho-Slovakia and now expresses territorial claims on western Rumania [Transylvania] and northern Jugo-Slavia, parts of the former Austro-Hungarian empire.

The Hungarian visit developed into a round robin conference with Italian, German, and Polish representatives. This activity was believed by observers to presage a counteroffensive against the French and British alliance which the axis nations consider an attempt at encirclement.

Talk with Polish Envoy.

German Ambassador George von Mackensen called on Teleki and Csaky at the Hungarian legation and later Polish Ambassador General Boleslao Wieniawa Dlugoszowski called on them.

Importance was attached to the Polish-Hungarian talks since Poland is one of three continental powers to which Britain and France have pledged aid to defend their independence. Greece and Rumania are the others.

The Hungarian ministers will go from here to Berlin. They are to be followed here by the Jugo-Slav and Rumanian foreign ministers. Some diplomats believed a Hungarian-Jugo-Slav nonaggression pact was one object of the negotiations here. Such a pact would draw Jugo-Slavia closer to the Rome-Berlin axis.

RULER TURNS INDIA'S OLDEST MOSLEM STATE INTO A DEMOCRACY

BOMBAY, India, April 19.—(AP)—The nawab of Palanpur, diminutive native territory in western India and the oldest Moslem state in the country, today announced sweeping constitutional reforms.

Arrow points to Palanpur.

The nawab [ruler], whose family has ruled Palanpur for 500 years, proposed to transform the state from a virtual dictatorship into a broadly democratic régime by establishing a popularly elected assembly. He also proposed to restrict his privy purse to place the bulk of the state's revenue at the disposal of the people.

Semi-official sources said they believed the nawab's announcement was timed to coincide with the visit to India of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former president of the Reichsbank of Germany. Schacht has been accused by part of the Indian press of attempting to foment anti-British agitation among India's Moslems.

ARGUE OVER FIRE COMPANY'S PAY; FACTORY BURNS

A mysterious explosion last night in the plant of the Cello-Silk Manufacturing company on Northwest highway, a mile west of Barrington, resulted in a fire that caused damage estimated at $50,000.

John Saracino, owner of the company, called the Barrington fire department. At first it refused to go to the fire. Chief Victor Rieke explained later that there had been trouble two years ago with Saracino, who had refused to pay $50 for services of the Barrington department at a fire.

Last night, however, the Barrington department went to the fire, but demanded $50 and another $50 in advance before it would help. Finally Saracino sent for the Fox River Grove department which brought two trucks and twenty men, but too late to save the factory. Saracino said he had no insurance on his stock and only $3,000 on the building.

SECOND MUNICH DEAL IS BREWING, BRITISH BELIEVE

Expected to Take Form by Middle of May.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 19. — The belief that an arrangement by way of further appeasement would be reached between the Rome-Berlin axis powers and the Anglo-French combine was strengthened tonight. Such an arrangement would take the form of a second deal along Munich lines about the middle of May, according to indications.

This belief is based on two disclosures. The first was made by Peter Bennett, president of the Federation of British Industries, who told the annual general meeting of his organization that he was unrepentant about the pact which the federation signed with the German industries group the day after Reichsfuehrer Hitler seized Prague and which the British government refused to repudiate.

Bennett insisted the deal, supposedly to share trade between British and German industry, was a good thing and not aimed against any other country.

Envoy Going Back to Berlin.

The second disclosure was by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, who told the house of lords that Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador, would return to his post in Berlin as soon as he had finished his vacation. Sir Nevile was called home on March 17 after Germany took Czecho-Slovakia.

Halifax indicated also that current negotiations with Moscow for an air pact meant almost nothing.

Discussing the cry of encirclement raised by Germany and Italy against the French and British front, Halifax said:

"I would be prepared at any time to give a most solemn undertaking on the authority of the government that no such idea would ever find a place in British policy."

Halifax said Britain's purpose, rather than encirclement, was "a comprehensive system against aggression excluding no one who will come in with us."

An Unnecessary Challenge.

The tendency was to discount alarmist rumors about possible warlike complications between the axis countries and those of the Anglo-French combination, and to consider that President Roosevelt had thrown down an unnecessary challenge in the European squabble.

Halifax condemned Mr. Roosevelt's peace message to the dictators with faint praise saying only, "Britain is in essential agreement with the President's outlook on international affairs."

"Mr. Roosevelt is no impartial arbiter, attempting to bring together violent antagonists," Ponsonby said.

American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy gave a luncheon today for leaders of all British opposition parties.

It was disclosed that the troopship Somerset, carrying 2,000 British soldiers to Palestine, was ordered to remain at Gibraltar until the arrival there of the first battalion of the Welsh guards regiment. The guards are to reënforce the Gibraltar garrison.

Pushes Civil Defenses.

The government asked local authorities to push civil defense measures ahead of other business for three months, and arrangements were made for bakers to store more flour to meet wartime requirements.

The government has been making "fairly large" purchases of Argentine canned meat since last September for use if war breaks out, it was learned authoritatively. The food will be distributed to training and refugee centers in case of war.

[Argentine sources reported today that 10,000 tons above normal quotas of canned meat had been purchased from Argentina and Uruguay by Britain.]

BRITISH TO BUILD WAR BOOM AS PROTECTION ACROSS RIVER CLYDE

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

GLASGOW, Scotland, April 19.—Preparations are being made for the placing of a protective boom across the Firth of Clyde between Dunoon and Cloch.

Such a boom was used during the world war to bar enemy craft from the upper reaches of the river.

While the work is proceeding, vessels using the firth have been instructed to follow a prescribed channel and certain sea marks laid down for their guidance. A similar boom has been placed across the Firth of Forth.

CROATS DEMAND SWIFT ACTION ON FREEDOM EDICT

Serbs Fear They Will Call on Nazis for Aid.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, April 19.—Two major problems—one internal and one external—today claimed the attention of Jugo-Slavia's sorely tried government.

The internal problem is the Croatian demand for independence. It is becoming more urgent as the time approaches for Reichsfuehrer Hitler to make his answer to President Roosevelt's appeal for peace.

A delegation of Croats arrived in Belgrade this afternoon with the determination either to reach an agreement with the Serbians within the next few days or to break off negotiations and declare the problem insoluble—at least inside the framework of the present Jugo-Slav state.

Demands Audience with Regent.

Contrary to reports issued yesterday, Vladko Matchek, leader of the Croats, will not visit Belgrade on Friday. It was reported he will not leave Zagreb until his deputies in Belgrade have reached an agreement and it is ready for his signature.

If and when Matchek visits Belgrade he insists that he shall be received by Regent Prince Paul and have dealings directly with him. Matchek's view is that the regent is the only really responsible authority controling the country and that he alone has the power to make an arrangement which the Croats can trust.

Patriotic Serbians are praying that some way will be found of settling the Croatian problem. The situation is regarded as crucial, especially since the Serbians have become aware that the younger members of the Croat nationalist party are threatening to take the bit in their teeth and sweep away the conservative old leaders like Matchek.

Lean Toward Germany.

These young Croats have meager feelings of allegiance to the Jugo-Slav state. They want an establishment of their own. They do not consider a protectorate by Serbia as preferable to protectorate by one or two other powers. The first of those powers is Germany.

There also is an external cause for acute worry. It is the news that Premier Count Paul Teleki and Foreign Minister Count Stephen Csaky of Hungary have been welcomed in Rome by Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano. The Jugo-Slav government assumes that Hungarians and Italians together are brewing mischief at the expense of Jugo-Slavia.

Specifically, they fear that Teleki and Csaky are intriguing for Italian support for their claim to the northeastern section of Jugo-Slavia known as the Banat.

The Banat is an indefinite region of plains and pasture land lying north of Belgrade partly in Jugo-Slavia, but extending into southern Hungary and over into western Rumania.

The part of the Banat now held by Jugo-Slavia was in Hungary before the world war. It has a mixed population of about 400,000. More than 50 per cent of the inhabitants are Hungarian. Since 1919 intensive colonization by Serbians has introduced a large Serbian minority into the area.

NEW TELEPHONE SYSTEM SPEEDS TRIBUNE SERVICE

Public Finds 3 Separate Numbers Convenient.

The operation of THE TRIBUNE'S new telephone service has brought a quick and favorable response from readers, advertisers, and the public. Persons telephoning THE TRIBUNE are availing themselves of the convenience of the bulletin system. Further speed and facility in communication have been achieved by the installation of thirty additional trunk lines.

The new service was inaugurated Monday. The use of three telephone numbers immediately became one of its most popular features. Superior 0100 is the number for placing advertisments, arranging for TRIBUNE delivery, communicating with THE TRIBUNE staff, departments, W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system, and reporting news happenings witnessed by the callers.

Here's General Information.

Superior 0200 is used for the many departments of the public information service such as weather reports, road conditions, election returns, data on Tribune sponsored events, and all inquiries of general and miscellaneous nature.

Superior 0260 is the number to call for sports service, such as inning by inning scores and results of Cubs and Sox baseball games, outcomes of major fights, golf tournaments, and other headline events, except horse racing.

This last number—Superior 0260—has received an average of 10,000 calls each of the three days—Monday, Tuesday, and yesterday. This was because of the great interest in the scheduled opening of the major league baseball season.

Calls Answered en Masse.

Calls on this number were transferred to the bulletin service, which operates from a switchboard off the main telephone room. There an operator, whose telephone mouthpiece has a special amplifying device, can answer as many as thirty incoming telephone calls every ten seconds.

Yesterday she was announcing that the Cubs and Sox baseball games had been called off. Miss Anne Garrow, Tribune telephone manager, explained that a caller on the bulletin service has at most a few seconds' wait before receiving information. The operator handles incoming calls in a mass, making her announcement to one set of calls and then switching in a new set, which have come in while she was talking to the previous group.

"On days when there was important news we have had as many as 20,000 calls," Miss Garrow said.

2 WOMEN, 4 MEN HOLD UP 6 AND STEAL 3 AUTOS

Four men and two women took part early today in a swift foray of crime during which they stole three automobiles and held up six persons.

Their first victim was Brol Darnesal, night manager of a garage at 1800 Humboldt boulevard. They took $11 from Darnesal and stole an auto. In it they traveled to a gasoline station at 3601 North Cicero avenue, where they held up F. J. Bonk for $69.

At 2715 North Kildare avenue they held up Mrs. Florence Hedlund of 1114 Roscoe street, who was seated in her car. They broke open the door of the car, which she had locked, and took her purse with $6.

Their next call was in Berwyn, at 15th street and Harvey avenue, where they held up John Endermuehle, 753 Shubert street, for $18, and Anna Waterman, 3023 Madison street, for $5, and took Endermuehle's car. This they abandoned at 3830 Gladys avenue, walked to 346 South Keeler avenue, where they robbed Peter Polico of $1 and his automobile.

KILLED AS AUTO OVERTURNS.

Taylorville, Ill., April 19.—[Special.]—Francis May Jr., 28 years old, of Stonington, was killed early today when his car missed a curve on state route 51, one and a half miles north of Assumption, and overturned twice in a ditch.

LILAC TIME NEAR FOR SHUT-INS; 83 CLUBS LAY PLANS

Program to Be Outlined on W-G-N Today.

Although lilac blooms are expected to open later than usual in Chicagoland this spring, plans already are being made for the eleventh annual "Share Your Lilacs" campaign. THE TRIBUNE and the Chicago Plant, Flower, and Fruit guild will, as usual, be the connecting link between the lilac growers and the shut-ins.

Plans for gathering and distributing the lilacs will be told on the June Baker home management program at 10:30 a. m. today over W-G-N. Mrs. George Plamondon of Wheaton and Mrs. India Moffett, society editor of THE TRIBUNE, will discuss the arrangements in an interview with Miss Baker.

Work Begun in 1929.

Mrs. Plamondon is president of the Garden Club of Illinois. She has been one of the leaders of the lilac sharing organization since the movement was begun in 1929.

The movement, in which thousands of volunteers take part, is one of the largest of Chicagoland community enterprises. Eighty-three garden clubs with a combined membership of 2,500 will participate this year in the work by which the fragrant lilac blooms will be delivered to shut-ins and the sick in hospitals and institutions of the Chicago district.

Cutting and shipping of the blossoms is supervised by garden club members who belong to the plant, flower, and fruit guild. School children and Boy Scouts help with the work.

Railroads Aid Distribution.

Railroads furnish free transportation from the suburbs to Chicago stations. There the flowers are picked up by TRIBUNE trucks and taken to the thousands who look forward each year to Lilac day.

Last year lilacs were delivered to 134 institutions caring for 21,000 individuals.

The delicate lilacs, which are sensitive to weather conditions, generally are ready for distribution between May 10 and 20. Because of the chill spring, however, it is expected that the flowers will bloom later this year.

HITS PROPOSED NEUTRALITY ACT AS WAR SOURCE

Breckenridge Long Rakes Thomas Bill.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 19.—[Special.]—The power to designate and attempt to punish an aggressor nation, long desired by President Roosevelt, was described as a war making power today by Breckenridge Long, Mr. Roosevelt's former ambassador to Italy. Testifying before the senate foreign relations committee on pending proposals to nullify the neutrality act and align the United States on the side of Great Britain and France in a war between those countries and the totalitarian nations of Europe, Mr. Long denounced specifically the aggressor naming bill introduced by Senator Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah].

Thomas' bill would permit the President to declare the aggressor—any nation violating any treaty to which the United States is a party, including the Kellogg-Briand peace pact—and then, with the approval of congress, to levy sanctions against that nation.

Calls for Exemptions.

This would be accomplished by exempting the victim of aggression from the embargo provisions of the neutrality act, while prohibiting the shipment of munitions and raw materials to the belligerent declared to be the aggressor. Thereafter, the President, on his own authority, could make changes at will in the embargo list.

"This resolution authorizes a change in the embargo list during war on the single authority of the President, and authorizes him to take a step which is, or would be, a virtual declaration of war," said Mr. Long, who was an assistant secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson.

"It is subject to the objections that it contravenes the intent of the constitution, if not its letter, for an action by the President as authorized in this resolution would be participating in a war without that contemporary coöperation of the congress which is contemplated in the constitutional provisions that the congress shall declare war and resolve on specific other steps which the framers of the constitution considered warlike steps, such as granting letters of marque and reprisal.

Opposes Delegating Power.

"I entertain very serious doubts that it was contemplated in drafting the constitution that the congress be empowered to delegate blindly and in advance its own authority and solemn responsibility to take a deliberate step which would constitute participation in any war anywhere.

"Furthermore, the policy of participating in a foreign war by emplacing or raising embargoes as a unilateral act of the United States is indefensible unless it should be done by the President under specific and contemporary authorization of the congress—and even then the congress would understand that such an act would be in effect a declaration of war and would be prepared to assume responsibility in the name of the government."

Mr. Long, who is an authority on international law, thus supported the contention of Senators William E. Borah [R., Idaho], Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.], and other foes of international meddling that economic sanctions, aggressor naming, and "quarantining," as proposed by Mr. Roosevelt, are synonyms for war.

Favor Cash and Carry Plan.

Long, however, approved the so-called cash and carry bill introduced by Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], thereby emphasizing the clash of opinion among the internationalists as to methods of choosing sides in Europe's next war. The Pittman bill would permit all belligerents to purchase arms, ammunition, and implements of war in this country for cash, provided they came after them in their own ships. It assumes that Great Britain and France would control the seas and hence would benefit, while Germany and Italy would suffer. Existing law prohibits the shipment of munitions to any belligerent.

THE NEIGHBORS—By George Clark

"Friend of mine," barks James Steele's dog, Laddie, when he and Mr. Steele see a mounted policeman. "Pull over a minute. I want to talk to him." That's what Mr. Steele think Laddie's barks mean, anyway.

Mr. Steele and Laddie were on their way home to 1124 South Gunderson avenue, Oak Park, yesterday when they met Policeman Marty Sullivan on his horse, Buddy. "Woof rowr owooo—" began Laddie. "I know, I know," said Mr. Steele. He stopped beside the policeman and held Laddie out the side of the car. Laddie and Buddy chatted and rubbed noses, for it's the mounted policeman's horses—not the mounted policemen—that Laddie knows.

NYE TELLS NEED FOR A STRONGER NEUTRALITY ACT

The American neutrality act is not a failure, but it should be strengthened, Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] said yesterday. And some one should buy President Roosevelt a pair of glasses so he can recognize that a state of war exists in Japan and China, he added.

Senator Nye spoke before the Youth Committee Against War in Mandel hall at the University of Chicago. He shared the platform with Tucker P. Smith, educational director of the United Automobile Workers.

"Though I detest war, I would not side with those who say we should not fight at all," said Senator Nye, who is a member of the senate military affairs committee. "We must protect our institutions in America. But we must never ask our men to fight again on foreign soil unless we are certain of winning such a peace as we desired in the last war."

At an outdoor meeting after the Mandel hall assembly, Smith administered the Oxford oath to more than a dozen students. The oath follows: "I will not support my government in any war it may undertake."

Pageant of Brooms Opens Schools' Cleanup Drive

Boys and girls of the Revere school called attention to the school system's annual clean-up campaign yesterday with costumes and pageantry. They paraded in the school yard, carrying brooms, rakes, hoes, and paint brushes. Schools throughout the city are participating in the campaign. Since 1923 Chicago has won the state award for the best community clean-up campaign.

FRENCH SUSPECT FOREIGN AGENTS SET LINER AFIRE

Warnings of Plot Bared by Authorities.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 19.—An investigation into the burning of the French liner Paris at Le Havre was launched tonight following the disclosure that the first warning of a possible attempt to destroy one or more ships by fire had reached authorities a month ago.

Although the origin of the fire, which destroyed and sank the third greatest vessel of the French Line, still was undetermined, French authorities suspect that it was incendiarism, and that if the trail of the criminals ever can be found it will lead outside the French borders.

Letter Tells of Plot.

A police official at Nice revealed that he had passed on to the Surete Nationale [secret service] last month an anonymous letter which contained a warning about a plot to destroy a French vessel. The Surete also received other anonymous warnings about four days ago. It was for this reason that visits to trans-Atlantic liners in Le Havre had been banned and guards reënforced.

Authorities were under the impression that the Normandie was in the greatest danger of being set on fire or blown up. They tripled the guard on that ship, while only raising the guard on the Paris from nine to fifteen men.

The main reason for suspecting a deliberate crime—apart from the fact that the burning of the Paris is the climax to a long series of mysterious accidents which have befallen French shipping in recent years—was a report that the fire broke out in two or possibly three widely separate parts of the vessel simultaneously.

Turns Over as It Sinks.

The Paris turned over as it sank in thirty-six feet of water. The vessel settled in such a way as to partially block the ship lane from the docks to the mouth of the port. Its masts and stacks will have to be cut away in order to make passage for the Normandie, which has been in drydock.

The fire on the Paris will cost a group of English insurance companies about 2 million dollars. The ship was built at a cost of 15 million dollars.

FRANCO TO STAY NEUTRAL IN WAR, PARIS ASSURED

Removes Source of Worry for French Shipping.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, April 19.—Relations between France and Nationalist Spain have taken a turn for the better as a result of new assurances by Generalissimo Francisco Franco that his country will remain neutral in case of war between the Rome-Berlin axis powers and the democracies, it was understood here tonight.

These assurances, which were communicated to the chamber of deputies foreign affairs committee by Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, were said to include a pledge that the totalitarian states will not be allowed to use Spanish ports and islands as naval and air bases during a war.

Insofar as it can be accepted at face value, Franco's promise removes one of the acute sources of worry for French and British defense authorities. It means a greater degree of safety for the Mediterranean shipping and imperial communications of both powers.

Has Success at Burgos.

Bonnet apparently gave the members of the committee the impression that he was willing to accept the assurance.

Bonnet reportedly declared Ambassador Marshal Henri Petain had won an explanation from Gen. Franco that his adherence to the German, Italian, Japanese pact against communism does not imply that he is bound to sit in as an active partner in the poker game his fellow dictators are playing in Europe.

Bonnet was able to lay before the committee at least concrete indication of the friendly attitude of Burgos. This was the assurance that Deputy Tillon, a communist, and the French consul who have been virtual prisoners in the French consulate in Alicante, will be released speedily.

Return Fishing Boats.

As a reciprocal gesture, it was announced that the French government had started the return of seventy-four Spanish fishing boats which had taken refuge in French ports during the Spanish civil war.

It is believed Franco has been impressed by the firm measures the French have taken in conjunction with the British to defend their interests in Morocco and the western Mediterranean and is jockeying for a neutral rôle.

Bonnet was questioned on the government's conversations with the soviet union. While pointing out that the initiative lies with London in the task of bringing the Russians into the system of defensive pacts, Bonnet was said to have revealed that the main object of the direct negotiations between Paris and Moscow was to insure immediate automatic operation of their mutual defense agreement should it ever be invoked.

Triumphal Tour

(Story in adjoining column.)

Along the road from Cadiz to Malaga, Spain, indicated by dotted line, Gen. Francisco Franco rode yesterday in triumphal progress on his peace tour of Andalusia. The road into Malaga was carpeted with flowers and lined with cheering crowds as the victor rode into the city.

BRITON ACCUSED OF SELLING ARMS SECRETS TO NAZIS

LONDON, April 19.—(AP)—Charges that an armaments worker sold vital secrets of a royal ordnance factory to Germany, aided by the German consul at Liverpool, were made at a court hearing today at Chorley, Lancashire.

The defendant, Joseph Kelly, 30 years old, was accused of selling the factory site plan and other secrets stolen from the armaments plant for $140. He was held for trial under the official secrets act. Prosecutor G. R. Paling said Kelly got in touch with the German secret service with the aid of the Liverpool consul and then went to Cologne, Germany, to deliver the secrets. Paling said one of the documents had been recovered but that another still was missing.

The prosecutor said Kelly, who was arrested upon his return from Germany, had spat out a bit of chewed paper when he was taken into custody. This paper, Paling declared, proved to be a copy of a code given to the accused man while he was in Germany.

GERMANY BUILDS ARMY IN AFRICA, SMUTS CHARGES

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, April 19.—(AP)—Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, former premier and now minister of justice, declared in parliament today that hundreds of young Germans are sent annually from southwest Africa [pre-war German colony] to Germany and returned as fully trained soldiers.

The remainder of the population of southwest Africa has had no military training whatever, Smuts added.

The house gave first reading to a bill to incorporate police of southwest Africa with the union force. The bill follows upon the government's dispatch of 500 police to the former German colony under sealed orders. Southwest Africa now is administered under mandate by the South African Union.

FRANCO EXTENDS PEACE TOUR OF SOUTHERN SPAIN

Seeks to Enlist Andalusia in Nationalist Cause.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MALAGA, Spain, April 19.—Gen. Francisco Franco rode into Malaga today over a road carpeted with flowers and bordered by cheering crowds after triumphal progress along the entire coast from Cadiz.

What first was understood to be a simple visit to Seville for the city's victory celebration now is revealed as a peace tour of all Andalusia celebrating the Nationalist victory and restoration of peace to Spain. Tomorrow he is expected in Granada. Thence he will go to Cordoba.

The generalissimo started from Cadiz, where he reviewed cadets of San Fernando Naval academy last night. He rode in a motor caravan for 150 miles along the coast, stopping a few minutes in each town to receive greetings from the local authorities and the cheers of the people.

Each little town had triumphal arches covered with greenery, flowers, and orange blossoms, and as Franco's car arrived girls in traditional peasant costume threw armfuls of flowers.

Halts Facing Gibraltar.

For miles along the beautiful coast road local Falangists [Fascists] had painted across the road at intervals of fifty yards the word "Franco." Even the ancient Moorish gate of Tarifa had across it a huge red and gold banner with the words "Viva Franco! Arriba Espana!" [Live Franco! Up Spain!]

The route lay through Chiclana, famous for wine; Vejer, a little village portrayed as a smugglers' rendezvous in the opera "Carmen"; and along the coast past Tarifa and San Roque, with Gibraltar, the British stronghold, looming in the background. One halt was made in Algeciras, just across the bay from Gibraltar.

The whole coast is full of tradition for Spaniards, since it is the site of many battles with the Moors. San Roque has a more modern tradition, for it was the site of the first important engagement participated in by Moroccan regulars in the Spanish civil war.

Return Ships to Franco.

BURGOS, Spain, April 19.—(AP)—The National Service Maritime Communications organization announced today that fifty-nine Spanish ships aggregating 312,486 tons had been recovered from foreign ports.

Agents of Nationalist Leader Gen. Franco have been actively engaged since the close of the civil war in rounding up the ships which were taken to foreign ports by the Spanish Republicans [Loyalists]. Franco's representatives are continuing a search for others.

The maritime communications organization declared that "Spain must aspire to become a great sea power."

ALEXANDER WEDDELL NOMINATED AS FIRST ENVOY TO NEW SPAIN

Washington, D. C., April 19.—[Special.]—Alexander W. Weddell, ambassador to Argentina, was nominated today by President Roosevelt to be the first ambassador to Spain under the Franco régime.

Alexander Weddell.

Mr. Weddell succeeds Claude G. Bowers, who was accredited to the fallen Loyalist government. Mr. Bowers fled his post upon the outbreak of the revolution and set up an embassy in the safety of Hendaye, France.

Bowers' flight from his post embarrassed the state department. He was ordered home several weeks ago.

Weddell is a career diplomat. He entered the service in 1908 as secretary in the American legation at Copenhagen, Denmark. He served in various capacities in Greece, Egypt, India, and Mexico. In 1933 he was named ambassador to Argentina.

WOMAN KILLED; MAN HELD TELLS OF SUICIDE PACT

Memphis, Tenn., April 19.—(AP)—Dennis M. Bracey, 37 years old, president of a tile company, was charged with murder today in the death of Mrs. Dora Singer, 32, his companion on a night automobile ride.

Sherif L. S. Manning quoted Bracey as saying he and Mrs. Singer made a suicide pact and that the woman died after inhaling fumes from a hose connected to the exhaust pipe of the car.

Bracey declared the gas had no effect on him, although he tried twice to carry out the pact. He pleaded not guilty to the murder charge.

ROOSEVELT PEACE PLEA PREJUDICED, CATHOLICS CLAIM

Lacks Moral Authority, Vatican Agency Says.

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

ROME, April 19.—President Roosevelt's message to Italy and Germany was not received favorably in Roman Catholic circles. His intention is applauded, it was stated, but the feeling is that the President had no moral authority on which to base his action, that he was apparently prejudiced and that the appeal should have been addressed to all nations and not just to Italy and Germany.

These sentiments were expressed in a bulletin given out today by La Correspondenza, Vatican news agency.

The statement said Mr. Roosevelt's move "has not produced a good impression in Catholic circles." Although there is no disposition to discourage any sincere, well meaning initiative toward appeasement, "it does not seem as if the President's message contains within itself the fundamental elements necessary to arrive at or at least approach his intentions."

Say Americans Disapprove.

Not even American Catholics agree with the move, according to information received in these circles.

"It does not seem," La Correspondenza continued, "that Mr. Roosevelt, to begin with, had the moral authority with which one who proposes, unasked, to be arbiter, peacemaker, and judge should be cloaked. Moreover, it would not seem evident that there was in him that spirit of superior disinterestedness and strict impartiality which is required in this sort of international arbitration."

Other American initiatives of the sort ended "miserably," it was recalled.

Moreover, "Catholic circles hold that the voice which invites the world to a shorter or longer period of peace should first of all be addressed indiscriminately to all peoples."

Refer to Pope's Message.

"At any rate, it is believed in Catholic circles," the statement concluded, "that in the way it is formulated, implying a previous sentence of condemnation, Mr. Roosevelt's initiative will fail to receive any adhesion from the apostolic see, whose viewpoint—dictated from an evangelic spirit and clearly above any contingent reason—is and remains that expressed by the Holy Father in his peace message to the world at the commencement of his pontificate and stressed in his homily on Easter Sunday."

If this is taken as expressing the Vatican's viewpoint, it must be considered a direct rebuke to Mr. Roosevelt.

However, it cannot officially or authoritatively be taken as such, a Vatican spokesman said, because the Holy See holds itself above mixing in international politics and takes no sides on particular issues. Its attitude, it was said, is to work for the general cause of peace.

NAZIS ARE DEFEATED BY A WIDE MARGIN IN DUTCH ELECTIONS

AMSTERDAM, the Netherlands, April 20 [Thursday].—(AP)—Final results of the election of eleven provincial councils—important as a barometer of Netherlands domestic politics—early today showed big losses for Nazis and for Premier Hendrikus Colijn's Calvinist party.

The Nazis, who polled only 4 per cent of the vote in 1937 elections, lost more than a third of that small showing in yesterday's balloting.

Compared with the 1937 figures, Calvinists lost 4 per cent of their following, Socialists 0.6 per cent, and communists 0.15. Liberals gained 3 per cent, Christians 2.5, and Catholics 1.

The elections were of little importance except as a possible indication of the domestic political trend.

Nazis to Double English Broadcasts on 2 Stations

BERLIN, April 19.—(AP)—The number of English language news broadcasts over German radio stations at Hamburg and Cologne will be increased beginning Friday, it was announced today. These two stations, of medium wave length, introduced a news service in English about a month ago. It was transmitted at 8:15 p. m. daily. Henceforth there will be two broadcasts a day, the second going on the air at 10:15 p. m.

VIGILANTES OF QUALITY

By CALEB

UP on our eleventh floor—reached only by a maze of aisles and steps, and turns to right and left—I came upon a group of men behind whose quiet, unseen tasks lies a real story of satisfaction insurance.

These are the experts in our glassware stockroom to whom is entrusted the duty of final inspection . . . the checking of each individual piece before it goes into delivery to the purchaser. As not every customer may know, stemware (which makes up the bulk of year-round buying) comes in two forms: manufactured pieces, and hand-made pieces . . . the latter, of course, commanding the higher prices, because of special skill, individual design, and finer materials employed. Pieces that are hand-made vary in many particulars—and when a set is ordered by the customer who wants "each piece alike," a critical matching operation is necessary.

This matching — as done by Field stockroom connoisseurs in glass is something to watch with unfeigned fascination. To one's own uninstructed eye, for example, here are two tall and shimmering glasses, brilliant on their slender stems, that appear exactly identical. But not so to the matcher alongside—who proceeds to show us, in weight, patterning, the absence of a mold-line from one, its presence in the other, why the glass at the left sells for $7.50 the dozen, and its neighbor for $18.

"Checking points?" he echoes our question. "First, of course, there's pattern. Then the item itself: is it exactly what the customer ordered? And after these, we check the provisions for each piece's protection; its freedom from chips, breaks and scratches; the number of pieces; uniformity of weight; stem thickness, and overall height. All this requires expert knowledge of glass, a keen eye for flaws and variations, and . . . time! On a recent order for a simple design of goblet, six pieces, we actually matched sixty in order to make the perfect set. On another order—eight dozen, containing seven different items—three hours were consumed in completing a satisfactory matching job."

When one discovers that in stemware open stock are carried hundreds of thousands of pieces—and that in a single year Field's handles nearly a million pieces of glassware . . . this safeguarding feature applied to all hand-made wares assumes large dimensions as a quality-maintenance measure. It is just one more of those invisible operations from which, though the customer may not even be aware of its existence, we derive the satisfaction that comes with rendering the unusual in service.

COL. LINDBERGH BEGINS STUDY OF U. S. AIR FORCES

Slated to Inspect Plants for War Department.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 19.—[Special.]—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, trans-Atlantic flight hero, worked today in the war department on an important mission connected with the drive to win for America the military air superiority now regarded as held by Germany.

Lindbergh was as elusive as ever to newspaper men and photographers. He slipped into the army munitions building on Constitution avenue through a side door and went to an office on the second floor. Two armed guards patroled the corridor outside the door and warned bystanders to move on.

Interviewers Barred.

The army would not admit that Lindbergh was at work in the building. Requests for photographs and an interview were refused.

Lindbergh was summoned to active duty yesterday to conduct a survey of aviation research facilities. It was understood that the assignment was the reason for his return to this country after an absence of more than a year.

It was reported that the flyer's consent to give his services to the army was won by his friend, William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France. Lindbergh was wanted by the army to participate in the air expansion program because he has seen so much of the inside of European air power.

During his residence abroad he has inspected most of the European fleets and facilities, notably those of Russia and Germany. He has made a secret report on his observations in his capacity as a colonel in the army reserve corps.

Reports to Gen. Arnold.

This morning, Lindbergh reported for active service to Maj. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the air corps. He received his orders to inspect all plane research and all important plane manufacturing plants in the country.

At the end of his tour Lindbergh will assemble his observations in a confidential report to Gen. Arnold. In this he will tell what he thinks is wrong with the military aviation picture and what he believes should be done to make and maintain America as the leading air power.

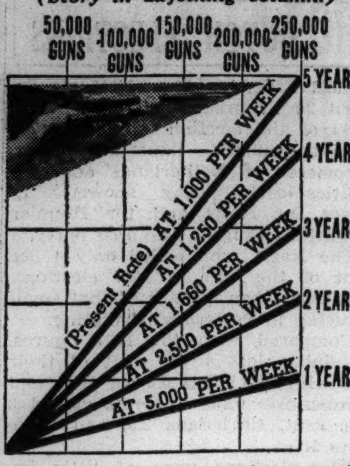
He is expected to tour some thirty aircraft research centers in the next month. The government has only one research center and that is at the national advisory committee for aeronautics laboratory at Langley field, Va. Germany has at least six aeronautical laboratories.

ROBBER SUSPECT'S ARREST ASKED.

Judge Matthew D. Harugan of the Felony court yesterday ordered forfeit the $2,500 bond of Milton H. Harper, 27 years old, 9761 Winston avenue. The court issued a capias for his arrest, when Harper failed to appear on a charge of armed robbery.

Step Up Production

(Story in adjoining column.)



Production of the semi-automatic rifle pictured in upper left corner of chart has been stepped up from 100 rifles a week to 200 rifles a day, or 1,000 a week. The army needs 250,000 of these weapons, and at the present rate of manufacture it would take five years to get them, as chart shows.

AUTOMATIC RIFLE PRODUCTION IS RAISED TENFOLD

Army Plans to Rearm Fully in Year.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 19.—[Special.]—Production of the new Garand semi-automatic rifles, which make every soldier the equal of five armed with the obsolete Springfield rifle, has been stepped up tenfold, it was learned today.

The army hopes to raise production to a rate which will permit the arming of the regulars and National Guardsmen and allow establishment of reserve stores within the year.

Only 10,000 Made in Year.

At present the army has 10,000 of the new rifles. This number represents about a year's production in the arsenal. The National Guard has only a few of the new weapons, although plans called for delivery of 2,500 before July 1 of this year and 12,500 before July 1, 1940.

When the new weapon was accepted by the army and manufacture was begun, production was slow. Until recently only twenty rifles were turned out each day in the Springfield, Mass., arsenal, or 100 a week.

This was stepped up early this year to 40 a day or 200 a week. Within the last few weeks, the production has been stepped up to 200 a day.

Need 250,000 Weapons.

At this rate it will take several years to supply the regular army with a sufficient number of weapons and several more years to place the improved rifles in the hands of National Guardsmen.

The army plans to put 400,000 men into the field upon the outbreak of a war. Such a force would need at least 250,000 weapons. At the present speed of production it would take five years to supply this number of weapons.

Unless production is increased there will be a shortage of weapons for this field force and no reserve store for the great body of the army, the citizens to be summoned to training camps.

HUGHES NAMES JUDGE TO HEAR MANTON'S CASE

New York, April 19.—[Special.]—Judge W. Calvin Chestnut of the federal District court of Maryland has been designated by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes to sit as a trial jurist in New York during May to hear the case against Martin T. Manton. Trial of Manton, former presiding judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, on charges of bribery and conspiracy is scheduled to start May 22.

Judge Chestnut was appointed to the District court bench by President Hoover in 1931 to succeed Judge Morris A. Soper on the latter's elevation to the Circuit Court of Appeals. He formerly lectured at the University of Maryland law school and was an active member of the American Bar association.

Although there are four indictments pending against Manton, each naming other co-defendants, United States Attorney John T. Cahill has indicated that an additional indictment probably would be returned by the federal grand jury, combining the various charges into a single bill, and one on which the government would probably move for trial.

Marion Talley and Mate Agree on Child's Eye Test

New York, April 19.—(AP)—[Special.]—Marion Talley, the singer, and her estranged husband, Adolf G. Eckstrom, entered into a stipulation today in Supreme court for an examination of their daughter by Dr. Charles A. Perera, eye specialist. The child's left eye is said to be affected by strabismus. Eckstrom stated her natme as Betty Ruth. Miss Tally insisted her name is Susan. The girl's eye condition, it was indicated, will be a main issue when Miss Talley's suit for custody is heard.

SETTLE 5 POINTS IN UNION DISPUTE WITH WIEBOLDT'S

Grand Jury Resumes Labor Terror Inquiry.

Five major points of a pact for settlement of the dispute between the Wieboldt Stores, Inc., and the trucking unions were agreed on yesterday during conferences with the city council committee on labor and industrial relations.

Such progress was made during the talks with the council committee that spokesmen for both the stores and the unions reported that only one serious point remains at issue. All the discussions have been carried on through the aldermen. At no time in the conferences have representatives of both sides been in the same room together.

During the day the Cook county grand jury resumed its inquiry into labor terrorism and the slaying of a store trucker on April 12.

Both Sides Want Vote.

The foundation for the settlement, it was reported, lies in the desire of both sides for a poll of Wieboldt truck employés to determine whether they want the trucking unions or their own organization to represent them. The one controversial point is the date for holding this election.

When the conferees left the city hall last night the union leaders were insisting upon an early date for the election. Elmer F. Wieboldt, head of the stores, and his attorneys were equally determined that at least two weeks should elapse after the signing of any settlement pact before the voting should be started.

Wieboldt and his lawyers agreed to consider a proposal made by the unions that would allow the council committee to interview each one of the sixty-eight Wieboldt truck drivers who now, according to the union chiefs, are union members. It was proposed that the committee ask each man in private whether force was used to persuade him to join.

If no evidence of this is found, the union leaders said, the council committee then should order an election within twenty-four hours. If the workers reported that pressure or force had been brought to bear upon them the election then could be postponed for two weeks. In either case the Wieboldt employés could return to work as soon as the interviews were commenced.

Second Proposal Turned Down.

Wieboldt turned down a second proposal made by Dan Carmell, general counsel for the Joint Council of the International Brotherhood of Teasters, the unions involved in the dispute. This suggestion was that the truck employés return to work immediately and that the election be held after three days had elapsed.

Besides the principle of the employés' election, both groups also agreed to the following:

1. Regular drivers of the Wieboldt stores will be rehired without prejudice or discrimination regardless of the outcome of the election.
2. The election will be supervised by Judge Donald S. McKinlay, who, on April 12 issued the injunction that prohibits mass picketing of the stores and violence or other interference with its business or workers.
3. Union pickets that still remain at the stores, garages and warehouse of the company will be withdrawn as soon as the procedure for settlement is arranged
4. Both sides will have observers at the election. These observers, however, will be allowed to do no electioneering of any kind.

Demands Free, Fair Election.

"The reason why the company, in the interest of its employés, cannot agree to an election in twenty-four hours is self-evident," said Wieboldt. "The stores still are picketed and our employés compelled to remain away. A free and fair election cannot be held after thirteen days of intimidation and terrorism."

Members of the council committee said Wieboldt informed them his company is anxious to communicate with its employés. This point was taken up with the union leaders. They agreed, it was said, that letters should be distributed to the employés after being examined by the aldermen.

The grand jury spent the afternoon listening to the stories of nine witnesses, all of them temporary employés of Wieboldt stores. They were beaten and threatened during the day of violence on April 12. Among them were Joseph Borowski, truck driver, who was slugged into unconsciousness, and Gordon Pierce, helper, who was beaten on his way to work Tuesday morning.

MARGARET RAWLINGS.

New York, April 19.—[Special.]—Margaret Rawlings and Godfrey Tearle, who played the leading röles in Charles Morgan's play, "The Flashing Stream," sailed for England yesterday on the liner Georgic, irate at New York's lack of artistic appreciation.

"The Flashing Stream," which opened at the Biltmore theater on April 10, closed after eight performances. New York critics, though admiring the abilities of its author, who is the dramatic critic of The Times of London, found the play generally too abstract, pompous, and heavy.

Miss Rawlings intimated that the play, on the contrary, was too delicate for New York's crude standards.

MAYOR PRAISED FOR NEW LABOR RELATIONS BODY

Attorney Luis Kutner, speaking yesterday before the Human Relations association, of which he is honorary moderator, praised Mayor Kelly for establishing the city council's new committee on labor and industrial relations. This committee will succeed, Kutner declared, if it recognizes the basic human element in industrial conflict.

"The absence of all orienting discipline between capital and labor has been accepted as justification for the dogma of stupid and pointless conflict," Kutner said.

"Capital and labor have yet to fully acknowledge the interpersonal relation that is at the heart of all conflict. Neither group has scientifically or intelligently probed for the basic sources of disharmony in human adaptations.

"Industry is coming to recognize that espionage, riots, and sitdown strikes are essentially archaic and costly methods of liquidating labor hostility and animosity. It becomes self-evident that destructive industrial conflict reflects against the competence of industrial leadership."

BUSINESS MEN ARE YOUTH WEEK LUNCHEON HOSTS

Throughout the city yesterday, several thousand business men lunched with young employés—girls and boys—as part of Youth week, which began Monday.

One of the major luncheons was held in the Palmer House, under the sponsorship of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Maj. John L. Griffith, president of the Chicago Youth week committee, and John Holmes, president of Swift & Co., addressed the luncheon.

Eleven scholarships and awards will be given to the outstanding student in Chicago public high schools tomorrow at a civic assembly luncheon of the Executives' club in Hotel Sherman. The Very Rev. Michael J. O'Connell, president of DePaul university, will speak on problems of youth.

CHICAGO KILLING CITED IN PLEA FOR LABOR PEACE BILL

Lantz Measure to End Strife, Senators Told.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—[Special.]—Violence in the Chicago truck drivers' labor controversy, resulting in the slaying of one man and the injury of others, would have been averted under the industrial peace act proposed for Illinois. Such was the testimony today at a hearing on the bill before the senate agriculture committee.

E. W. Marcellus, director of personnel for the Wieboldt department stores, strongly urged passage of the measure, introduced last week by Senator Simon E. Lantz [R., Congerville]. One of its provisions would require ten day notice of a strike.

"Had a ten day breathing spell been required, it is our feeling that all of this trouble could have been prevented," Marcellus said.

"The sudden impact of a large group of pickets, without warning, lent itself to the breeding of violence."

Crime Commission Backs It.

Indorsement of the Chicago crime commission was given to the bill by R. W. Dvorak, assistant operating director.

"We are not interested in labor controversies as such, but are concerned about public order and the welfare of innocent bystanders," Dvorak said.

"A bill has been introduced that does not take sides in labor controversies but recognizes the rights of the great class of people who suffer when there is not industrial peace.

"The Chicago crime commission demands that labor disputes be settled without violence."

Joliet Troubles Related.

Another witness who spoke from recent experience was M. A. Gray of the Joliet Retail council. Outsiders came to Joliet and demanded that merchants organize their employés, he said, leading to a long series of secondary boycotts.

"If this bill had been in force I feel the Joliet situation would not have developed," Gray said.

Senator Lantz declared that agriculture in many ways has the largest stake in the bill. He recalled that strikes had harmed farmers not directly involved in labor controversies.

Opponents of the measure will be heard on Tuesday.

Son a Union Member, So He Has to Picket Father

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 19.—(AP)—While Ed Werner sat in his office sorting orders for moving some 400 families to new homes in the next two weeks, Ed Werner Jr. picketed his father and boss. The elder Werner is one of thirteen trucking employés affected by a strike of the American Federation of Labor Teamsters' union. Werner Jr. has worked for his father three years and belongs to the union. The union compelled him to join the picket lines.

WORKER PLEADS SELF-DEFENSE IN UNION CLASH

Harassed by Pickets, Lawyer Asserts.

Employés have a right to defend themselves when harassed beyond endurance by union organizers. This plea was advanced yesterday in Felony court in defense of Herman Brandt, employed in a produce store at 6520 South Cicero avenue.

Brandt faces two charges of assault with intent to kill as the result of a fight last Sunday between Herman Wadler, the store owner, Brandt and twenty-four other employés on one side and a group of pickets on the other. Four unions—the meat cutters, egg handlers, grocery clerks, and teamsters—are picketing the store. A police guard for the pickets has been placed since the fight.

Union Official Wounded.

During a dispute with Brandt, Harry Thieme, financial secretary of the egg handlers' union, was shot in the leg. He is recovering. John Moran, business representative of local 546 of the meat cutters' union, charged that Brandt tried to shoot him, but was restrained by police.

Moran and Thieme have been charged with disorderly conduct. Because Thieme is still in the hospital, Judge Matthew D. Hartigan continued hearing on all of the cases until May 10.

"The unions tried to organize the employés against their will," Attorney Louis Gould, representing Brandt, told the court. "The union people have gone too far. Mr. Brandt and Mr. Wadler had the right to defend themselves."

"The state has a different theory," replied Assistant State's Attorney Joseph O'Connor. "We are investigating to learn whether Brandt was a slugger employed by Wadler to break up the picket line."

"All of this happened 1,000 feet away from the store," Attorney Allen Jackson, counsel for Thieme, asserted. "The union men were running away when Brandt fired."

"When we come to trial," answered Gould, "we will show that the union had strong arm men around trying to force the employés to join."

Givs Names to Unions.

Wadler was not in court. At his store he said he had given the unions the names and addresses of all his employés.

"If my employés want to join a union, it's all right with me," said Wadler. "But I am not going to act as an organizer for any union or force my employés to join. None has said he wants to. Some have said definitly they do not want to join."

Wadler said Brandt was not a hired slugger, but was employed as a handy man in the store.

NLRB CHAIRMAN BACKS MUZZLES FOR EMPLOYERS

Would Silence Talk About Communists in Unions.

Washington, D. C., April 19.—(AP)—J. Warren Madden, chairman of the National Labor Relations board, expressed the opinion today that an employer who told his workers that their union representative was a communist might be guilty of coercion to curtail union organization, even though he spoke the truth. The question of legality, he said, would depend on surrounding circumstances.

Madden expressed his opinion in response to questions by members of the senate labor committee at a hearing on proposals to amend the labor act. He added that he did not wish to be committed on any question of that kind which might come before the board in the future.

Three Senators Protest.

Senators Robert A. Taft [R., O.], Allen J. Ellender [D., La.], and Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.], took sharp exception to Madden's views.

"The truth ought to be a defense," Ellender asserted.

Madden contended it would be gross class discrimination to prohibit union pickets from carrying truthful placards on banners. He would permit employés to say anything they desired so long as it was true.

"I suppose that ten times out of ten," Madden added, "the employer makes these statements for the very purpose of keeping his employés from joining the union. What else is he making them for?"

Madden also expressed the opinion that employers generally preferred to bargain with A. F. of L. rather than C. I. O. unions.

A. F. of L. Contracts Set Aside.

Senator Holt commented that fifteen A. F. of L. collective bargaining contracts had been set aside by the board on the ground of collusion between employer and union representatives, while only one C. I. O. contract had been invalidated on that ground.

The board chairman attributed this to greater willingness of employers to deal with the A. F. of L. than with the C. I. O. in most industries.

"If you took a vote among employers, I believe you would find a strong preference for the A. F. of L," Madden said. He told the committee that the one case the board had found of collusion with the C. I. O. involved a United Mine Workers contract.

Opposes Smith Appointment.

Senator Ellender announced during the session that he would bring before the senate labor committee criticisms of the appointment of Donald Wakefield Smith to the national labor relations board.

Smith was given a recess appointment last summer, but President Roosevelt has not yet sent his nomination to the senate.

CUT MINNESOTA EXPENSES, ENACT LABOR REFORMS

Legislature Adjourns After Notable Session.

St. Paul, Minn., April 19.—[Special.]—The Minnesota legislature adjourned early this morning, its principal accomplishment having been the enactment of Republican Gov. Harold E. Stassen's program for labor peace and economy in government.

Final blows for reducing the cost of government were struck at dawn after an all night session. Accurate totals were lackings, but indications pointed to economies of more than $5,000,000, compared with 1937 appropriations, which reached $77,000,000. Virtually all departments were put on reduced budgets. A slash of $3,000,000 in relief appropriations was effected.

Immediate reduction in taxes was found impossible. The Farmer-Labor administration of former Gov. Elmer A. Benson left a $14,000,000 deficit, which was a factor in reënacting the 10 mill levy against property. No changes were made in the income tax scale.

Arrange for Emergencies.

Borrowing provisions were made in event revenues fail to reach the expected level. Improved business conditions, however, were counted upon to reduce the relief burden.

Awaiting signature of the governor is the labor relations bill, based on Scandinavian practices of preventing strikes by means of conciliation. Under this law, ten days must elapse after strikes are voted before they become effective, during which interval a state conciliator will try to iron out the controversies. In certain industries affecting the public interest, a thirty day waiting period is required.

Also in the bill is a list of unfair practices. The bill forbids sit-down strikes, guarantees collective bargaining, limits the closed shop, forbids blacklisting of employés and spying on unions by employers, and limits picketing by prohibiting illegal interference with workers seeking to enter or leave struck plants.

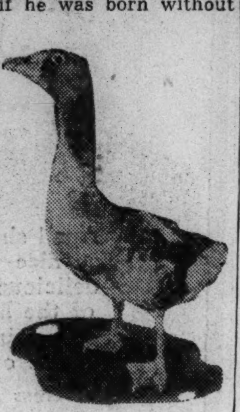
Picketing Evils Curbed.

Obstructing public highways also is forbidden, and at places not immediately involved in a strike, only one picket is allowed. The picketing restrictions provoked a sharp struggle between the house and senate, in which the governor intervened to support the more liberal provisions of the lower house.

Ranking with the labor peace measure is the reorganization bill requested by the governor. This measure puts the state government on a more business like basis, setting up a financial manager who will have full control of the state's books and finances. Three commissions now divide this work.

The new system of managing state purchases and auditing accounts is designed especially to terminate waste, extravagance, and graft, exposure of which was a sensation of the legislative session. A series of criminal and civil actions have been instituted and prosecution of persons high in the Farmer-Labor régime has brought several notable convictions. The civil actions are designed to restore to the state funds lost through illegal spending.

GOOFY, GOOFY GANDER, HE FINDS A PLACE TO WANDER — IN SAFETY!



Goofy the Goose.

It seems hardly fair to call him Goofy, even if he was born without wings. Goofy is as alert mentally as any goose you'd care to meet, according to Ernest C. Brinks, whose commission firm at 1118 Fulton street received him in a shipment from Iowa. Goofy staggers a little when he walks because he lacks the balance a pair of wings would give him. Brinks' employés are keeping him as a mascot because [1] they think Goofy is a pretty solid citizen as geese go and [2] nobody will buy Goofy anyway.

SANDBOAT RAMS CANAL ST. BRIDGE; DAMAGE $10,000

Damage of $10,000 was done yesterday to the Canal street bridge north of Cermak road by the sandboat Fitzgerald. It crashed into the north leaf. Girder on the bridge were damaged and damage to the boat was estimated at $4,000. It was taken to a shipyard for repairs. Engineers propped the damaged leaf up with timbers and said two weeks would be required for repairs. The bridge is one of the oldest in the city. Officials have been hoping to replace it.

GIRL, 12, IS SHOT BY 2 YOUTHS AT TARGET PRACTICE

Target practice by two young men in a west side back lot resulted in the serious wounding of a young girl last night. The victim is Catherine Dressel, 12 years old, who was washing dishes in the kitchen of her home at 2949 Congres street when she was shot in the head. She was rushed to the Presbyterian hospital, where brain surgeons were seeking to save her life last night.

Catherine Dressel.

Arrested by police were George Viscariello, 20, of 2941 Harrison street, a student at Crane Technical High school, and John Paul Burrows, 17, of 3000 Flournoy street, who attends Manley High school.

The two had been shooting with .22 rifles at a target in the back yard of 2948 Harrison street, across the alley from the Dressel home. They had placed their target against a concrete wall, but Burrows said Viscariello had climbed up on a landing of the building and fired down at the target a time or two, causing the bullets to ricochet.

42,409 in County Given Old Age Benefits in March

Old age assistance was given to 42,409 persons in Cook county during March, it was reported yesterday by the state old age assistance bureau. The cost in the county was $1,003,220. There were 128,043 recipients in the state and the March program cost a total of $2,411,602.

SUPREME COURT FINDS CONVICTION OF CRABB VALID

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—[Special.]—The prison sentence of one to fourteen years imposed on James W. Crabb of Delavan, Ill., for perjury in connection with the fatal shooting of his bride was upheld today by the Illinois Supreme court.

W. J. Reardon, counsel for Crabb, said at Pekin, Ill., that a rehearing will be sought.

Crabb, 22 years old, is a son of Willis W. Crabb, former president of the Tazewell County National bank in Delavan, who entered Leavenworth penitentiary last March 2 to serve a four year term for forgery and misapplication of $75,000 of the bank's funds.

Young Crabb was convicted last Oct. 1 by a jury in the Tazewell county Circuit court. He was found guilty of perjury on the basis of an unsigned statement which authorities said he made shortly after the shooting of Betty Collison Crabb, 19 years old, his bride of five weeks.

CUT MINNESOTA EXPENSES, ENACT LABOR REFORMS

Legislature Adjourns After Notable Session.

St. Paul, Minn., April 19.—[Special.]—The Minnesota legislature adjourned early this morning, its principal accomplishment having been the enactment of Republican Gov. Harold E. Stassen's program for labor peace and economy in government.

Final blows for reducing the cost of government were struck at dawn after an all night session. Accurate totals were lackings, but indications pointed to economies of more than $5,000,000, compared with 1937 appropriations, which reached $77,000,000. Virtually all departments were put on reduced budgets. A slash of $3,000,000 in relief appropriations was effected.

Immediate reduction in taxes was found impossible. The Farmer-Labor administration of former Gov. Elmer A. Benson left a $14,000,000 deficit, which was a factor in reënacting the 10 mill levy against property. No changes were made in the income tax scale.

Arrange for Emergencies.

Borrowing provisions were made in event revenues fail to reach the expected level. Improved business conditions, however, were counted upon to reduce the relief burden.

Awaiting signature of the governor is the labor relations bill, based on Scandinavian practices of preventing strikes by means of conciliation. Under this law, ten days must elapse after strikes are voted before they become effective, during which interval a state conciliator will try to iron out the controversies. In certain industries affecting the public interest, a thirty day waiting period is required.

Also in the bill is a list of unfair practices. The bill forbids sit-down strikes, guarantees collective bargaining, limits the closed shop, forbids blacklisting of employés and spying on unions by employers, and limits picketing by prohibiting illegal interference with workers seeking to enter or leave struck plants.

Picketing Evils Curbed.

Obstructing public highways also is forbidden, and at places not immediately involved in a strike, only one picket is allowed. The picketing restrictions provoked a sharp struggle between the house and senate, in which the governor intervened to support the more liberal provisions of the lower house.

Ranking with the labor peace measure is the reorganization bill requested by the governor. This measure puts the state government on a more business like basis, setting up a financial manager who will have full control of the state's books and finances. Three commissions now divide this work.

The new system of managing state purchases and auditing accounts is designed especially to terminate waste, extravagance, and graft, exposure of which was a sensation of the legislative session. A series of criminal and civil actions have been instituted and prosecution of persons high in the Farmer-Labor régime has brought several notable convictions. The civil actions are designed to restore to the state funds lost through illegal spending.

GOOFY, GOOFY GANDER, HE FINDS A PLACE TO WANDER — IN SAFETY!

Goofy the Goose.

It seems hardly fair to call him Goofy, even if he was born without wings. Goofy is as alert mentally as any goose you'd care to meet, according to Ernest C. Brinks, whose commission firm at 1118 Fulton street received him in a shipment from Iowa. Goofy staggers a little when he walks because he lacks the balance a pair of wings would give him. Brinks' employés are keeping him as a mascot because [1] they think Goofy is a pretty solid citizen as geese go and [2] nobody will buy Goofy anyway.

SANDBOAT RAMS CANAL ST. BRIDGE; DAMAGE $10,000

Damage of $10,000 was done yesterday to the Canal street bridge north of Cermak road by the sandboat Fitzgerald. It crashed into the north leaf. Girder on the bridge were damaged and damage to the boat was estimated at $4,000. It was taken to a shipyard for repairs. Engineers propped the damaged leaf up with timbers and said two weeks would be required for repairs. The bridge is one of the oldest in the city. Officials have been hoping to replace it.

GIRL, 12, IS SHOT BY 2 YOUTHS AT TARGET PRACTICE

Target practice by two young men in a west side back lot resulted in the serious wounding of a young girl last night. The victim is Catherine Dressel, 12 years old, who was washing dishes in the kitchen of her home at 2949 Congres street when she was shot in the head. She was rushed to the Presbyterian hospital, where brain surgeons were seeking to save her life last night.

Catherine Dressel.

Arrested by police were George Viscariello, 20, of 2941 Harrison street, a student at Crane Technical High school, and John Paul Burrows, 17, of 3000 Flournoy street, who attends Manley High school.

The two had been shooting with .22 rifles at a target in the back yard of 2948 Harrison street, across the alley from the Dressel home. They had placed their target against a concrete wall, but Burrows said Viscariello had climbed up on a landing of the building and fired down at the target a time or two, causing the bullets to ricochet.

42,409 in County Given Old Age Benefits in March

Old age assistance was given to 42,409 persons in Cook county during March, it was reported yesterday by the state old age assistance bureau. The cost in the county was $1,003,220. There were 128,043 recipients in the state and the March program cost a total of $2,411,602.

SUPREME COURT FINDS CONVICTION OF CRABB VALID

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—[Special.]—The prison sentence of one to fourteen years imposed on James W. Crabb of Delavan, Ill., for perjury in connection with the fatal shooting of his bride was upheld today by the Illinois Supreme court.

W. J. Reardon, counsel for Crabb, said at Pekin, Ill., that a rehearing will be sought.

Crabb, 22 years old, is a son of Willis W. Crabb, former president of the Tazewell County National bank in Delavan, who entered Leavenworth penitentiary last March 2 to serve a four year term for forgery and misapplication of $75,000 of the bank's funds.

Young Crabb was convicted last Oct. 1 by a jury in the Tazewell county Circuit court. He was found guilty of perjury on the basis of an unsigned statement which authorities said he made shortly after the shooting of Betty Collison Crabb, 19 years old, his bride of five weeks.

PROPOSE TO BAR MEN IN ALLIANCE FROM WPA ROLLS

Organization Is Attacked as Communistic.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 19.—[Special.]—A movement to forbid the payment of relief money to any WPA worker who is a member of the Workers' alliance was started in the house today.

A Democratic leader, who asked that his name be withheld temporarily, made this suggestion as a result of revelations before the house appropriations committee that the alliance, which claims to represent 260,000 relief workers, is dominated by members of the communist party of America.

Herbert Benjamin, general secretary of the alliance, confessed to the committee yesterday that he has been a communist for eighteen years. Six members of the executive board of the organization were also identified as communist party members in testimony before the committee.

Bargaining Agent Now.

The Workers' alliance is now recognized by the Works Progress administration as an official bargaining agent for WPA workers. In view of the disclosures that the alliance is, in effect, a branch of the communist party, the committee plans to call Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA administrator, and ask him whether this recognition will continue to be extended.

Harrington will be asked whether he considers the alliance, under communist party control, a proper representative of WPA workers. The recognition of the alliance was extended a year ago when the WPA was under the direction of Harry L. Hopkins, now secretary of commerce. Aubrey Williams, then assistant administrator, wrote David Lasser, president of the Workers' alliance, that the WPA considered the alliance a qualified representative of WPA workers in dealing with the government.

Wants Harrington on Record.

"We feel that Col. Harrington should be put on record concerning his opinion of the Workers' alliance as a proper representative of relief workers in view of the testimony concerning its communistic affiliations," said the house leader, who is a member of the appropriations committee.

"Unless we are assured that the alliance will no longer be recognized as a representative of the workers, I shall propose an amendment to the law denying the payment of relief funds to any worker who is a member of this communist organization.

"The testimony of Lasser and Benjamin shows clearly their leanings toward communism, which aims at the overthrow of the government. The people's money should certainly not go into the hands of those who are themselves communists or who by their membership in this organization give force to its aims.

Termed Necessary Remedy.

"This is admittedly a drastic remedy but a necessary one. We do not feel that workers ought not to organize, but are convinced that if in organizing they place themselves under the banner of an organization honeycombed with communists, they cannot protest against congressmen upholding their oaths to support the constitution and to fight against enemies both within and without the country.

"We do not propose to let relief money go into the coffers of a communist organization. The Workers' alliance is furthering the aims of the communist party by preying on those in want, spreading the cloak of communism over a large segment of those who ask the government for subsistence.

"The responsibility is now on the WPA if it wishes to continue recognizing the alliance."

HEAVY CLOUDS CONCEAL SUN'S PARTIAL ECLIPSE

Heavy clouds over Chicago prevented observance of the partial eclipse of the sun between 9:30 and 11:30 a. m. yesterday. The eclipse was visible over most of North America and Europe, where the weather was clear.

Miss Maude Bennot, acting director of the Adler planetarium, said the next eclipse in the Chicago area will be an eclipse of the moon on May 3, but this will take place during the daylight hours and will not be visible. A lunar eclipse will take place during the night of Oct. 27 and 28, she said.

United Airlines reported that passengers on its 9:15 a. m. eastbound plane saw yesterday's eclipse while they were above the clouds near Cleveland. Bernard Boland of Chicago Heights said glimpses of the eclipse were had in the suburb during short breaks in the clouds.

RAPIST-SLAYER LOSES FIGHT TO ESCAPE CHAIR

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday affirmed the conviction of Robert Nixon, colored rapist and murderer who was sentenced to death last October for the brutal brick slaying of Mrs. Florence Johnson, wife of a city fireman. Nixon, who has won seven stays of execution since his conviction, is scheduled to die in the electric chair at the Cook county jail June 16. In his appeal to the Supreme court Nixon contended that a companion, Earl Hicks, wielded the brick with which Mrs. Johnson was killed last May 27. In denying his appeal, the high court said that he had received a full and fair trial.

BE NEW DEAL OR ELSE! ROOSEVELT TELLS HIS PARTY

Unquestioning Loyalty of Democrats Demanded.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 19.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight asserted that the Democratic party would commit suicide by abandonment of New Deal policies.

In a message to Young Democratic clubs at a Jackson day dinner the President demanded unquestioning loyalty from Democrats to the policies of his régime. Members of the party who hold views at variance with the course the administration is taking were invited by Mr. Roosevelt to join the Republican opposition or "subordinate their prejudices and remain loyal."

The strong terms used by Mr. Roosevelt gave added strength to the belief, practically universal in the capital as a result of his recent utterances, that the President is a candidate for a third term. The statement was that of a man preparing for a campaign in which he expects to take the leading part.

Warns Party of Fate.

"In the campaign we are now approaching there is just one agency potent enough to defeat the Democratic party," the President declared, "and that is the Democratic party itself. It can commit suicide by abandonment of the policies that brought it to power.

"There is no use fooling ourselves. If we are to have a reactionary régime—or, if that term is too horrific, call it a conservative régime—you may depend upon it that it will be the other fellow's régime."

If the Democratic party "shifts ground," the President continued, it will lose the votes of "Republican liberals," who sided with Roosevelt in 1932 and 1936.

"Even those men and women with little or no affiliation with either party and who went with us because we voiced their principles will quit us in disgust if we throw them down now," he declared.

No Sniping, He Decrees.

The President then laid down his dictum that he wanted no sniping at the New Deal by men within the party. This was a reference to his Democratic critics in both houses of congress and was expected to provoke some impassioned rejoinders in the national legislature in the next few days.

"We can also destroy our chances by fratricide," said Mr. Roosevelt. "No victories are won by shooting at each other. There never was and never will be a political party whose policies absolutely fit the views of all its members. Where men are at variance with the course their party is taking it seems to me there are only two honorable courses—to join a party that more accurately mirrors their ideas or to subordinate their prejudices and remain loyal."

The President said he did not mean that Democratic dissenters to his program were not within their rights in seeking to change that program.

Explains His Meaning.

"It would be a poor sort of politician or statesman who did not fight for his sincere principles," he conceded, "but that is a different thing from allying themselves with their party's enemies and getting in a stab wherever and whenever they can do so safely."

The President concluded:

"Whenever it [the Democratic party] offered the country an ersatz [psendo] Republicanism, the people spurned the imitation and sent our party to stand in a corner until it had learned the lesson," he said. "Suppose for a change — and you know I am frequently accused of being devoted to change—we learn our lesson this time without being sent to the corner to meditate."

KILLS HIMSELF WITH GUN.

Otto Franzen, 56 years old, 165[illegible] North Kildare avenue, shot and killed himself yesterday in his room.

COMMITTEE IN HOUSE MOVES TO PREVENT RETURN OF BERGDOLL

Washington, D. C., April 19.—(AP)—A congressional committee acted swiftly today to prevent Grover Bergdoll from returning to the United States from his self-imposed exile in Germany, but encountered opposition from the war department.

Chairman Andrew J. May [D., Ky.] of the house military affairs committee said that in view of the opposition he would defer final action on the bill until Tuesday, when hearings would be held.

May said that if the war department endorsed the legislation it would be in the embarrassing position of being unwilling to carry out its court-martial sentence after convicting Bergdoll of desertion and sentencing him to imprisonment for 5 years.

Representative Forest A. Harness [R., Ind.], author of the bill, said he understood Bergdoll was planning to leave Germany for the United States in a week or 10 days.

SENATE PASSES $66,800,000 AIR BASE MEASURE

Washington, D. C., April 19.—(AP)—Legislation authorizing expenditure of $66,800,000 for development of naval air bases sped through the senate in less than twenty minutes today, exactly in the form recommended by the naval committee.

The measure now goes back to the house for action on amendments. The house had authorized construction costing 18 million dollars. Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the house naval committee said he would recommend that the house accept the senate changes so the bill could be sent at once to the President for signature.

A threatened controversy was avoided when the senate committee, following the lead of the house, shelved a proposal for 5 million dollars' worth of harbor improvements at the Pacific island of Guam, within flying range of Tokio.

U. S. NAVY CALLS NEW DESTROYER FROM EUROPE

Washington, D. C., April 19.—(AP)—The navy said today the order for the fleet to return to the Pacific had resulted in cancellation of the European shakedown cruise of the new destroyer Jouett.

The Jouett, 1,850 ton flotilla leader, sailed yesterday from Chatham, naval base in Kent, England, to join the naval force that will visit the New York World Fair.

There were unconfirmed reports that the cruiser Omaha, flagship of Rear Admiral Henry E. Lackey, commander of the American European squadron, would visit Malta, British naval base in the Mediterranean, next week.

IMPRISON PASTOR FOR MAKING LOVE TO 20 OF FLOCK

BlamesWives' Call to Pray for His Undoing.

Tiffin, O., April 19.—[Special.]—The Rev. Colson Owens, a former truck driver who became a pastor, was sentenced to prison for a term of one to fifteen years today after he had confessed relations with twenty girls and married women in his congregation.

The red-haired preacher is 41 years old, married and the father of five children. He is pastor of the Philadelphian Independent church, which he founded in this city of 18,000 when he came here from Detroit about twelve years ago. He had been a street car conductor as well as truck driver in Detroit.

Owens was sentenced on his plea of guilty to a charge of assault with intent to commit rape in 1937 on Margaret Brown, who then was 15 years old. The girl, who since has married, said the pastor came to her home in the absence of her mother and hugged and kissed her. She said she rejected his advances.

$800 Fraud Charged.

Four other indictments, in addition to the one on which he was convicted, were returned by the Seneca county grand jury today, shortly before the preacher's arraignment. Three of them charged adultery with married women "in 1937 and numerous other times," and one charged he obtained $800 under false pretenses from an elderly member of his flock.

"The women called me to their homes to pray with them while their husbands were at work, and I fell into temptation," Owens confessed to County Prosecutor Robert Carpenter.

The husbands of some of the women named in Owens' confession were in Common Pleas court today when the preacher was sentenced.

Under Investigation a Month.

An investigation of Owens' activities was begun by authorities about a month ago, following complaints that he frequently was seen motoring with young girls, and that he was discounting relief checks in a grocery he operated as a sideline to his church. It was said he charged a fee of 50 cents "in the name of God" for cashing checks.

FIVE RECKLESS MOTORISTS GET JAIL SENTENCES

Five reckless motorists were sent to jail yesterday by Judge Thomas A. Green in Safety court.

Theodore Hansen, 5617 North Kedvale avenue, was sentenced to serve 90 days. On Jan. 22, at Irving and Elston avenues, Hansen's automobile struck and killed John Olson of 4205 North Avers avenue, a street car conductor, who was turning a switch. Hansen was freed of a manslaughter charge by a coroner's jury.

James Mullen, 477 Deming place, was sentenced to 30 days for driving while intoxicated. George A. Young, 851 Fair Oaks avenue, Oak Park, when given a choice, chose a $25 fine instead of five days for reckless driving.

The following each were sentenced to 5 days for reckless driving: George Bourdosis, 7052 North Clark street; Clarence Edling, 5431 Justine street, and George Longley, 341 Menominee street.

KILLED BY AUTO WHEN HE WALKS ACROSS STREET

Franz Nothnagel, 65 years old, was killed last night by an automobile as he was crossing Addison street at Newcastle avenue. Nothnagel, a junk dealer, lived at 6940 Addison street. The driver was Karl Ullmeyer, 25, of 3516 Oleander avenue.

Edward E. Gray, 39 years old, operator of the Gray Stamping company, died yesterday in St. Joseph hospital, Joliet. Gray was injured when his car collided with another near Lemont, a few hours after he had been elected alderman of the 1st ward in Plano, where he lived.

Theophile Cazes, 67, of 2315 Commonwealth avenue, a chef, was killed early yesterday when an automobile driven by his employer struck a safety island at La Salle and Eugenie streets. The driver, Anthony Hauer, 50, of 553 Oakdale avenue, owner of a restaurant at 179 West Monroe street, was seriously injured.

An unidentified man, about 40, was killed early yesterday at 102d street and Michigan avenue by the automobile of Jack Kawall, 31, of 7700 South Michigan avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 266 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 206 were killed in Chicago where 5,584 were injured in the same period.

$2,000 Julius Caesar Ring Pawned by Thief for $5

New York, April 19.—[Special.]—A gold ring valued at $2,000 and supposed to have belonged originally to Julius Cæsar, was stolen from the studio of Mario Korbel, a sculptor, last Friday and recovered today in a pawn shop. It had been pawned for $5. The ring was found after police arrested Arthur Hall of Cleveland, O. Korbel said the ring was given to him by Prince Narvo Cordato of Serbia, who discovered the Roxana collection of jewels. Many of the items in the collection had belonged to the wife of Alexander the Great. They were dug up by the prince during archæological excavations in Macedonia in 1912.

GUN TOTER, THIEF OF 15, RUNS WILD; COURT IN UPROAR

Cited for Contempt and Locked in Jail.

A perverse young neighborhood tough climaxed two years of incorrigibility yesterday with a court outbreak that amazed spectators by its savagery. The youth—a gun toter, confessed thief and accused burglar—is James Callahan of 8220 Emerald avenue. He is 15 years old.

On hearing two of his pals held to the grand jury by Judge Jay A. Schiller in the automobile court, Callahan broke away from his guards, shouting curses. He hurled a pound candy bar that narrowly missed Judge Schiller and struck a newspaper photographer.

Breaks Away from Guards.

The young tough was seized by bailiffs, but again slipped through their grasp. He hurled himself upon the photographer, raining blows that smashed the camera. When he finally was pulled away, Callahan's face was livid.

"If I had a gun I'd kill you," he yelled.

The court was in an uproar. The youth was hauled, still struggling, before the bench. Judge Schiller appraised him sternly, then cited him for contempt of court and ordered that he be charged with assault and battery and be locked in the county jail.

Seeks Criminal Court Trial.

While young Callahan still was on his way to a cell, Assistant State's Attorney Ted Kucewicz announced he will ask the grand jury to indict him for trial in the Criminal court. The prosecutor acted at once to have the youth removed from the judisdiction of the Juvenile court, where he might expect leniency.

"He has caused us lots of trouble out at the Gresham station," said Police Sergeant Ray Mulligan. "He has been in and out of the station for two years or more, but was always able to avoid prosecution. When arrested the last time he was carrying two revolvers and two blackjacks."

At the station last night, other police said Callahan had been brought in accused of purse snatching and petty thefts, but that other boys always had taken the blame. They said his father was William Callahan, assistant manager of a south side café, who was slain during the prohibition era.

Identified in 25 Burglaries.

The youth was in court yesterday as a witness at the arraignment of four young thieves. The Gresham police have identified him in twenty-five burglaries in which merchandise valued at $10,000 was taken.

In several cases, the police said, his accomplices were Donald Lanktree, 18, of 8500 South Sangamon street, and William Leonard, 22, of 6523 South May street. Yesterday they were held to the grand jury for burglary.

Two other young men were arraigned on charges of larceny. They had stolen some of young Callahan's loot from a stolen automobile he had left unguarded. Thomas Pagokis, 22, of 7201 Stewart avenue, one of them, was sentenced to sixty days in the Bridewell. For the other, Donald Newquist, 21, of 7550 South Morgan street, a motion for probation was entered and continued until April 28.

NAB SECOND PAL OF BANDIT SLAIN BY POLICEMAN

One of the two surviving members of a robber trio who engaged in a pistol battle with Policeman William Phillips Tuesday was arrested last night. He is Walter O. Cedergren, 20 years old, 11540 Perry avenue. At the Englewood police station Cedergren admitted that he had fired a pistol during the fight, but asserted he did not aim at the policeman.

John Meneghini. handcuffs after arrest.

Phillips interrupted the three men after they had started to hold up a tavern at 1124 West 69th street. One robber, Joseph Meneghini, 22 years old, was killed. Soon afterward the second member of the band, Meneghini's brother John, 19 years old, was captured at the family home, 214 East 116th street.

Cedergren called his mother, Mrs. Oscar Cedergren, at their home last night while two detectives, Norman McGrath and Frank Miller, were there. Mrs. Cedergren persuaded the fugitive to return and surrender. Later he showed the police where he had hidden his pistol. Capt. Walter Healy, the police district commander, has commended Phillips for his work and requested that he be granted extra compensation.

MURRAY IS FREED IN $20,000 BOND ON ROBBERY CHARGE

James E. Murray, former brewer, west side politician, and ex-convict, was freed yesterday in $20,000 bond pending a hearing April 27 before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. Murray is charged with taking part in an $85,000 bank robbery in Pennsylvania last October. He was arrested in Chicago Sunday by federal agents.

Mrs. Edna L. Wallace scheduled property worth $50,000 for Murray's bond. His attorney, John V. Clinnin, identified her as the wife of Arthur Wallace, secretary of the painters' district council, for whom Murray once worked as bodyguard.

Murray was the central figure in the $2,000,000 Rondout mail robbery in 1924. He was convicted and served five and a half years. In 1930 he was paroled.

GUN TESTS SHOW SLAIN EX-CONVICT LIED TO THE LAST

When two bandits tried to hold up Antonio Guarascio last Saturday, Guarascio, a war veteran living at 3030 Harrison street, routed them with bullets. Police were called later to the home of Edward Calabrese, 22 years old, at 321 South Mozart street. They found Calabrese, an ex-convict rapist, dying of bullet wounds. But he insisted until he died that he was not one of the bandits. Ballistics tests of the bullets in his body were completed yesterday by Lieut. Joseph Wilimovsky Jr. of the coroner's office. They showed that the bullets came from the war veteran's gun.

Bandit Removes Victim's Pants to Thwart Pursuit

Michael Sikora was alone in a grocery at 1900 Chicago avenue yesterday when a bandit entered and forced him to surrender $27. The bandit tied Sikora's hands behind him and removed Sikora's trousers, to discourage pursuit. When the robber had gone Sikora called help.

ALIMONY RACKET LAWS DESCRIBED AS LEGAL RELICS

Already Put in Discard by Many States.

[This is the third in a series of articles on separate maintenance. Three bills to abolish this evil are before the Illinois legislature.]

BY MARCIA WINN.

The Illinois separate maintenance law as it now stands, and as it has stood since 1877, is merely a means to "holy deadlock," in the words of William F. Zacharias, professor of law at the Kent College of Law.

In an exhaustive study of this "decree for separation forever," as it is quaintly worded in the laws of some states, Prof. Zacharias has found it to be archaic—a relic of days when women occupied a position of legal inferiority. Many states have long since discarded it. Legalized blackmail is what he terms the perversion into which its abuse has developed.

Terms of Proposed Laws.

The three bills now before the Illinois legislature seek to take separate maintenance away from its position as a weapon for unscrupulous women. They limit separate maintenance to two years, and permit a divorce for either party at the end of that time, provided that the separation has been absolute. A wife's dower rights [one-third interest in husband's estate], property rights, and children are all protected.

The proposed measures do not abolish separate maintenance. It will still be open, as a remedy from bonds that chafe too severely, to those who desire it. As of old, two persons can be separated for 25 years and still be husband and wife, according to their will and desire. The only difference is that if one of them wishes a divorce and remarriage, he may have it after two years.

Prof. Zacharias' study shows how the separate maintenance decree started as a fine and wholesome means of protection centuries ago, when absolute divorce was considered a judicial impossibility.

Based on Old Church Law.

The equivalent of the separate maintenance decree was first adopted as part of the canon [church] law of Rome. From it came the divorce a mensa et thoro [from bed and board] of the ecclesiastical court of England, on which the present Illinois law is based.

Under the rulings of these church courts, which lost their power to the state in 1857, a wife could leave her husband in certain cases. To keep her from becoming a charge on the parish [in this era a wife had no property rights, having unconditionally forfeited to her husband anything she possessed at the time of her marriage] the courts decreed that the husband provide for her support.

The financial arrangement then was one of simple expediency, fully in tune with woman's lowly economic status at that time. But even then, when later adopted into civil law, this form of divorce did not fully satisfy the best legal minds, Prof. Zacharias points out. Chancellor James Kent, whose judgments form the basis for much of American equity jurisprudence, openly criticized it in 1826 as follows:

"These qualified divorces are regarded as rather hazardous to the morals of the parties. In the language of the English courts, it is throwing the parties back upon society, in the undefined and dangerous character of a wife without a husband, and a husband without a wife."

Forbidden by Florida Law.

Until recently, however, Prof. Zacharias observed, Florida was the only American state forbidding the granting of such limited divorces. Florida law specified "no divorce shall be from bed and board, but every divorce shall be from bonds of matrimony." West Virginia enacted a similar law in 1935.

Fourteen other states have restricted limited divorce. Louisiana, the District of Columbia, Virginia, and North Dakota limit its duration [as the proposed Illinois law would do]. North Carolina, Alabama, Kentucky, Nevada, Arizona, Washington, Maryland, Texas, Rhode Island, and Arkansas do not mention separate maintenance by name, but restrict it by permitting an absolute divorce after a varying number of years' separation.

Louisiana leads all in brevity. There, at the end of a year's separate maintenance, the wife may file suit for divorce. If she fails to do so, the husband may file at the end of an additional 60 days.

Provisions in Other States.

The District of Columbia ends its decree after two years; Virginia after two years, if granted for cruelty or desertion, and three years if granted on any other grounds. North Dakota law provides that the separate maintenance decree may be revoked at the end of four years and a divorce decree entered "in lieu thereof."

In other states, a separation alone—regardless of whether it is a legal one—is sufficient ground for divorce, providing only that the parties "have lived separate and apart and without cohabitation" for the required period.

Thus, two years is enough in North Carolina and Alabama. Of this, the Supreme Court of Alabama said when upholding it, "The object is to put an end to a situation of the parties which is barren of good, capable of evil and probably irremediable by any other means."

Kentucky, Nevada, Arizona, Washington, and Maryland exact five years, the law adding "and such separtion is beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation." The Maryland law was held constitutional and retroactive last year and a divorce granted to a man who had been separated [under a private agreement] from his wife since 1925.

Guilt Bans Divorce.

Texas and Rhode Island require ten years, and Arkansas three, but the latter is confined to cases where the separation is mutual and not where the husband has, by his misconduct, driven the wife from home, or where the wife deserted the husband. In other words, evidence of guilt bans divorce.

"These statutes differ in context," Prof. Zacharias wrote in the March, 1937, Chicago-Kent review, "but all are based on the proposition that where a husband and wife have lived apart for a period of time, without any intention ever to resume conjugal relations, the best interests of society and the parties themselves will be promoted by a dissolution of the marital bond."

Kicks on Kick

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. IRENE O'CONNELL.

Mrs. Irene O'Connell, 27 years old, thought she had shown admirable restraint by saying nothing on several occasions when her husband, Frederick, 29 years old, 4111 Barry avenue, arrived home with lipstick on his shirt. Finally, however, she felt she should speak, according to her attorney, Harry X. Cole, who explained it yesterday to Judge Rudolph Desort.

"When she did ask him about it," said Cole, "he kicked her."

Judge Desort granted the divorce and ordered O'Connell to pay $20 a week for the support of his wife, who lives at 2113 North Kenneth avenue, and her son, David, 1 year old.

NIGHT CLUB LOSES A SONGBIRD AND ITS OWNER A WIFE

Mrs. Phyllis Buckley, 23 years old, 831 Wilson avenue, will continue to sing in night clubs, but not in the Chez Buckley, which is owned by her husband, Richard, 33 years old. She sought a divorce yesterday before Judge Rudolph Desort on charges that Mr. Buckley was a hard master and was cruel to her. After Attorney Sidney Korshak had finished reciting her charges of cruelty, she waived alimony and Judge Desort indicated he will sign the decree.

FIGHT FACES PARK BILL FOR BONDS NEEDING NO VOTE

Delay Forced in House; G. O. P. Hostile.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—[Special.]—A bill authorizing the Chicago park district to issue $6,000,000 bonds without a referendum was faced with indefinite delay upon reaching the house today. Last night it was passed by the senate.

Benjamin S. Adamowski, Democratic minority leader, won backing of the house for his request that the bill be held up until the park district offers a bill showing the amount of the pegged tax levy it will request.

Two Reports on Levy.

"It has been said that if the bill is not passed the pegged levy will be $10,000,000, and only $7,500,000 if it is passed," Adamowski said. "We want to know before there is even a committee hearing on this measure."

Receipts of the bond issue would purchase property for boulevard, bridge or park improvements.

Rumblings from the Republican side indicated the bill faces a battle.

"Many G. O. P. members are opposed to a bond issue without a referendum," said Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg. "There should be no delay in killing the bill."

June 1 Tax Penalty Date.

Adamowski's bill fixing June 1 instead of April 1 as the penalty date for payment of 1938 real estate taxes in Cook county was passed, 108 to 0.

Despite spirited opposition, the house passed a bill that some members said would continue the economic war between states erecting commerce barriers. It prohibits the state from making purchases from producers in states which discriminate against Illinois products.

"If we continue to erect these barriers to interstate commerce, we can expect the vicious practice to spread," said Representative Jesse Fidler [D., Canton].

"Illinois should take the lead in cooperating with other states unless we want American commerce to be broken up into parcels the size of Balkan countries," Representative Joseph Sam Perry [D., Wheaton] warned.

Representative Reed F. Cutler [R., Lewistown] contended that his measure was an invitation to reciprocity by other states. It was passed, 81 to 10.

Flag in Each Schoolroom.

Without a dissenting voice the house passed a bill requiring display of the American flag in every public school room. The sponsor was Representative John A. Pelka [R., Chicago].

Speaker Hugh W. Cross announced that all proposed amendments to city manager enabling bills will be submitted next Tuesday. Amendments have been prepared to exempt Chicago from the bills, to require that city managers must be one-year residents of the municipalities where chosen, and to strike the enacting clause, which would kill the bills.

Ward Holds up Judges Bill.

In the senate Harold G. Ward, Mayor Kelly's floor leader, postponed final action on his bill to create eight additional judgeships on the Circuit court bench of Cook county. He was three votes short of the thirty-four required for emergency passage last night.

Signatures of between 10 and 16 per cent of the voters would be required on petitions of candidates for ward committeemen in Chicago under a bill passed by the senate. Five per cent is the present minimum. Senator William J. Connors, Democratic committeeman of the 42d ward, introduced the measure.

The senate passed Connors' bill to prohibit the use of marijuana, a weed smoked in cigaret form. The bill is an amendment to the narcotics act. Also passed was a bill increasing maximum prison penalty under the act from one year to five years. The maximum fine was increased from $5,000 to $10,000.

A brief session will be held tomorrow by each house.

NAVY FINDS DEEPEST PLACE IN ATLANTIC OCEAN—28,680 FEET

Washington, D. C., April 19.—(AP)—Discovery of the deepest place ever found in the Atlantic was reported today by the navy's hydrographic office.

Arrow locates Atlantic deep.

It is about 60 miles north of Cape Engano on the east of the Caribbean Island of Hispaniola, and is 28,680 feet, or nearly 5½ miles, below the surface.

The depression in the ocean's floor was recorded by means of a sonic, or echo, depth finder on Feb. 14 by the cruiser Milwaukee.

Florida House Approves 'Stepmother' Bill, 83 to 4

Tallahassee, Fla., April 19.—(AP)—The lower house of the Florida legislature today voted 83-4 for a senate-approved "stepmother" bill providing a second wife's share in her husband's estate may not exceed the share going to each child of the first marriage. The present law allows a widow's portion of one-third regardless of the number of children. Representative Fuller Warren of Duval said the act was aimed at women "whose occupation is trying to marry some rich old man who is too weak to resist."

ELECTION LAW CHANGE URGED BY COMMISSION

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—[Special.]—The state commission to revise the election laws recommended today that the legislature repeal the absentee voting laws and establish permanent registration in the state.

So-called chain voting is made possible in large communities by the absentee law, said the report. Permanent registration similar to that now provided for Cook county was urged.

The multiplicity of elections received special attention in the report. These should be consolidated so far as possible, not only for economy, but to uphold principles of democracy, the report said.

LUCAS, STELLE AND SLATTERY SEE GOV. HORNER

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—[Special.]—United States Senator Scott W. Lucas and Senator Designate James M. Slattery today conferred with Gov. Horner and Lieut. Gov. John Stelle. Slattery plans to leave for Washington on Sunday to take the seat of the late Senator James Hamilton Lewis. Senator Lucas will present him to the senate.

It was believed the principal topic at today's conference was the naming of a successor to Slattery as chairman of the Illinois commerce commission. The governor is expected to act on that post before Sunday.

Only Charles K. Schwartz, member of the tax commission and co-leader with Slattery of the governor's Chicago forces, has been mentioned for head of the commerce board.

Fine Feathers Make Fine Jail Bird Out of Walter

The fine gold watch chain worn by Walter Ostrego caused his arrest early yesterday. Detectives John Menihan and Kevin Ryan noticed the chain as they stood near Ostrego at North and Talman avenues. He admitted to them that he had smashed the window of a jewelry store at 2212 Division street several days ago and taken the chain and other trinkets, which were found in his pockets. Ostrego is 18 years old and lives at 1019 North Winchester avenue.

AROUSED BY DOG, 15 FLEE BLAZE IN FLAT BUILDING

Fifteen persons, comprising the families of three brothers, were routed early yesterday when fire attacked their three flat apartment building at 6421 Harvard avenue. Damage was estimated at $10,000. Ginger, a dog belonging to the family of Irving Himmel on the first floor, aroused the families. Duchess, the dog of the Louis Himmels on the second floor, was found dead from suffocation after the fire was extinguished. The third family was that of Harry Himmel. The brothers are partners in a fur store at 322 West 63d street.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

HITLER AT FIFTY.

Adolf Hitler at 50 is the absolute ruler of the German people. This is not only the reality, it is also the theory of the present German state. It is the essence of German political philosophy expressed in a statement by Prof. Carl Schmitt of Hamburg that "law is no longer an objective norm, but a spontaneous emanation of the Fuehrer's will." Dr. Frick, the minister of the interior, put it in another phrase: "All powers of government are concentrated in his person while he himself is responsible only to the nation." In still another phrase is "Wherever Hitler is there is the power."

There are other concentrations of power embodied in one person, but even in Russia there is a distinction between what Stalin actually is and the theory of government he is supposed to represent. Communism puts the dictatorship in the proletariat as represented by the party. Mussolini in theory is the servant of the crown. The embodiment of the state still remains in the king. There are no such reservations to Hitler's authority. He contains in himself the will, the voice, and power of the German nation. He is the state. He embodies all its authority.

At 50 this man is undoubtedly the strangest of historical figures. His achievement in capturing the German people is probably without parallel. In his youth he was a frustrated person apparently destined to drift protestingly from one futility to another in an obscurity which would never be brightened by any success however modest. He tried to be a water color painter and made a bare living by selling cards to small dealers. His only prospects were those of a derelict.

He was an Austrian subject and nothing could have been more remote in probability for him than a position of any consequence whatever in Germany. He was rejected for military service in his own country, but was accepted in the German army. Apparently he did his duty courageously. After the war there was no reason to believe that with his unstable temperament and his frustrations he would not be one of the drifting victims of Germany's chaotic conditions. He might easily have been only one of the many for whom the war ended every probability of success in life. The best that could have been predicted for him was that he would find some obscure niche and manage a precarious living.

This is the man who has successfully returned to the absolutism of a dead medievalism and resurrected the doctrine—dead for centuries—that law is in the mind of the prince and has force as it pleases him. This resurrection of dead authority has the destinies of Europe in jeopardy, has put the fate of millions of people at the command of a fanatical mystic, and has reincarnated the whole body of imperial Roman law. It has happened to a people who represent the most modern development of science, whose scholarship was respected the world over and whose culture was unchallenged. There were social, economic, and political conditions to help explain it, but it still remains the strangest phenomenon of history.

Napoleon was a much more explicable figure and his progress followed a logical and reasonable line of development which can be understood. Hitler could not have risen, of course, unless there had been something responsive in German temperament and character to the appeal his ideas and methods made in the disordered times in which he organized the Nazi party. Like Mussolini in Italy, Hitler in Germany was able to recreate the pride of the people, satisfy their sense of power and achievement, and bring them up out of their feeling of hopelessness and humiliation.

Neither the Italians nor the Germans in the conditions they faced were proving their governmental stability. They lacked what a democracy requires, which is a reasonable amount of agreement, minimizing party differences, and a sufficient cohesion to accept a government when formed. When Germans were subjected to intrigue, conspiracy, and disorder they yielded to the formula Hitler had made his own, one of coercion, humbug, violence, and fanaticism. With this formula successful, Hitler is the law of Germany, the controler of its destinies, and the terror of Europe. A neurotic Austrian is now the greatest of the German autocrats of all time.

WHY NOT RUSSIA?

If pretenses were truths Mr. Chamberlain's great natural ally on the eastern arc of his circle around Germany and Italy would be soviet Russia. The Fascist alliance is ostensibly an anti-communist alliance. The holy war is the war against Russia. The greatest spoils of war would be found in Russia.

Why try to drag the United States in and leave Stalin out? He is supposed to have the biggest army in the world with the biggest air force. He is also supposed to have a first rate reason for fearing Hitler and Mussolini as well as Japan. He has as many reasons for fighting as the United States has for not doing so.

Communist Russia's entrance into the bloc of free peoples against the dictators would be whimsical, but in 1914 czarist Russia was one of the great liberal powers against militarism. War has proved that it can take a joke and this would be a less serious one than the intervention of the United States to save the subject colonies of the European democracies.

Mr. Chamberlain, urged to take Russia in, says the matter is being considered and that he will not raise any ideological questions, which means that he will not discuss Karl Marx and the dictatorship of the proletariat. Stalin might be a disturbing ally. He is not only the greatest murderer of history. He is also the most treacherous of men. He might go over to Hitler. The two men have much in common.

The Red army is big. Massed in Red square it looks formidable, but it has been purged so terrifically that no one knows how it would fight. It is run by political commissars and the secret police. Its officers down to regimental commanders were executed by Stalin. The present command in addition to being much inferior must be in constant fear of treachery.

A general European war if prolonged should have, logically, the same result as the world war, a revolutionary explosion. What was started in 1914 destroyed the monarchies in 1918. If Stalin were a true Marxist and not a mere Georgian despot he might maneuver solely with a view to standing aside while the capitalistic world destroyed itself and lay prostrate before the Red revolution.

THE ALIMONY RACKET.

The separate maintenance law was enacted by the state legislature in 1877 and has not been amended since then. The statute as it stands is a period piece. It belongs in a museum of social history.

Sixty-two years ago women, both in law and in custom, were in a position of inferiority. The phrase "woman's rights" was just beginning to be heard. Victoria Woodhull had been telling a startled congress that under the civil war amendments to the constitution women as well as Negroes had been freed and should be allowed to vote. Susan B. Anthony was busy organizing the suffrage movement. Her activities were viewed with the utmost suspicion. They were called unwomanly.

Under the common law, woman's status was scarcely distinguishable from that of a slave. Women were the property of their fathers or their husbands. They could be beaten at will. Their rights of ownership were shadowy; broadly speaking, the wife's property belonged to her husband.

The rigors of the common law had been tempered in America, both by legal enactment and by custom, but women in 1877 were still in a position of economic dependence. Some of them found employment in factories, some in teaching, some in domestic service, but the great mass of them were still obliged to find their careers [if that is the right word] in the home. Divorce was disgraceful. A woman married to a brute was for practical purposes his prisoner. To divorce him would be to brand herself a loose woman. If she left him without obtaining a divorce she would have to support herself, and that was close to impossible, particularly for a gentlewoman.

It is against that legal and social background that the separate maintenance act of 1877 must be viewed. Those who wrote the law were seeking to correct what they regarded, and rightly regarded, as a cruel wrong. They set up an arrangement by which an abused wife could free herself from her husband without the scandal of a divorce. The economic problem was solved by the separate maintenance allowance.

When legislators determine to correct an abuse they often go too far in the opposite direction. That happened in this law. It did much more than free the woman; it enslaved the man. The tables were turned. The separate maintenance law has been used again and again as a weapon of blackmail and extortion. It is the legislature's gift to the gold digger.

Millions of women today support themselves in business, industry, and the professions. Divorce is no longer the scandalous thing it once was. The property rights of women have been fully established. The man sued for separate maintenance is now the law's victim. He is confronted by the prospect of supporting an able-bodied woman for the rest of her life without receiving anything in return and without even the right to marry another.

When a man marries he assumes an obligation toward his wife and any children they may have. He ought not to be allowed to discard her at his pleasure, without regard for her welfare or her future, and more especially, he ought not to be allowed to neglect the support of his children. But neither should she be permitted to ruin his life. If she cannot live with him she should divorce him. If she is entitled to alimony she should get it, but she should not be given a blackmailer's hold on the man to squeeze a larger settlement from him than she could otherwise get.

The legislature has before it a bill to permit a suit for divorce after two years of separate maintenance. If that becomes the law the use of separate maintenance for purposes of blackmail will tend to disappear. The law will then be neither unduly favorable to the man, as it once was, nor to the woman, as it now is. It will be fair to both.

TRAINED FOR COMMAND.

There is much that is disquieting about America's military preparation; in many respects our situation even at the conclusion of present programs of expansion will be little if any better than it was in 1917. Then, at least, we had a National Guard which had benefited from months of intensive training on the Mexican border. Our supply of arms was out of date and inadequate, as it is now, but we had made a start toward the provision of a trained force to augment the regular army.

In one respect, however, we are much better off today. We have 155,000 student officers in the R. O. T. C. and something like 9,000 of these men are graduated into the officers' reserve each year. If the call comes for a sudden expansion of our army these officers will be available for duty. They are better prepared in the main than were the young men who were given commissions after only three months of training in officers' camps in 1917 and 1918. Today's corps of reserve officers is the product of a less feverish and more thorough instruction. They know more about both the theory and practice of the military art.

In officer personnel, at least, we are better equipped to train recruits and lead them in the field than we have been at any comparable period in the nation's history.

IN THE SAME BOAT.

Sandy had done something naughty, and had been chased upstairs by his mother, where he sought refuge under the bed. When his father came home his mother told him what had happened. He rushed upstairs and looked under the bed. Sandy looked at him, and then said: "Hullo, dad, is she after you, too?"—Indianapolis News.

BILL OF DIVORCEMENT.

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary. . . . A decent respect for the opinions of mankind. . . . A long train of abuses. . . . To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world:

The month called April has tricked this column's poets into writing many charming verses in her honor, and then has withdrawn cause for publication of these odes and sonnets.

She has departed from the normal course of Nature and plagued the inhabitants of this great city with twenty days of foul, depressing, and malignant weather, with winds, fogs, clouds, rain, sleet, and snow of Patagonian grimness.

She has blighted the opening of the baseball season, caused an epidemic of colds-in-the-head, and brought all citizens into a state of despair.

She has checked the sap of growth, nipped young buds with frost, blasted the vernal crocus, and mocked at the miracle of spring's awakening.

She has plundered our Easter parade, ravaged our gardens, flooded our streets, and destroyed the happiness of our people.

We therefore solemnly publish and declare that this month called April shall be separated from all her honorable rights, shall be proclaimed an outlaw on the calendar, and shall be deprived of her fair name and the allegiance of all poets. Henceforth she shall be called the Nameless Month—nameless and unspeakable.

CUPID ON COMMON CARRIERS.

(The trial flight of the Yankee Clipper has revived the question settled temporarily by a Los Angeles judge regarding the right of airliner commanders to celebrate marriages.)

Alone with the firmament, winged like an eagle—
The plane for our chancel, the motors for choir;
And if any one hints that the rite isn't legal,
Our handsome commander will call him a liar.

But think of the downfall, from zenith to nadir—
That plunge to the depths from our skyriding perch,
When the stony-faced jurist says, "Elmer and Ada,
You'll have to get married again in a church."

If only His Honor were more acquiescent,
What popular precedents might be on file!
A cross-country bus ride—how soothing and pleasant,
With frankfurts and marriages mile after mile!

But what do you care when you're out for a lark?
"Conductor, two transfers, and—please keep it quiet,
But marry us off before Randolph and Clark."

With a Pullman conductor the risks may be greater—
He's such a precise and decorous old scout;
"I've been watching you two that got in at Decatur—
You'll have to get married, or else you'll get out."

But the taxicab driver—that great-hearted fellow—
He must be excused from performing the rite;
He's overworked now in his Checker or Yellow,
And—how would you like to play parson all night?

Duke Bakrak Would Like This Street.

Speaking of streets, Dean street wins the strawberry flavored eyebrow tweezers. It's so crooked even I don't trust it. I have lived there for five years, and each day I went to and from work with a bloodhound. There are only two ways to find it; one is by scent and the other by a combination of magnifying mirrors, electromagnets, and a ball of twine.

I believe it was named after a famous baseball pitcher. At present I am operating a wide open gambling joint on this street. The state's attorney's men will never chop my joint up because they will never find it. Sure it's listed in the street guide, but try and find it.

I have finally grown to the ripe old age of second wind, second sight, and second smell, and I can now find this street myself.

[Note by Linemaster: This lad is so mixed up that he doesn't know the name of his own street. Dean street is straight; its vermiform appendix, named Blauwans, is the crooked one.]

A Quiet Sunday at Home.

Outside, the rain slashed relentlessly at the windows, and the wind whipped the tree tops without mercy. Inside, it was warm and comfortable and quiet. The dusk of the long living room was marked here and there by the cheerful glow of lamps, and the pleasant quiet was broken only by the muted radio, and the occasional murmur of voices. Sometimes the shrieking of the wind penetrated our consciousness, and for a moment our comfort became a tangible thing, to be held and treasured. It was a day peculiarly our own, without duties or demands—even the persistent telephone lay dormant. On such a day, one becomes an individual again. Helene.

TOUCH OF THE SUN.

People who have sometime traveled find their self-control unraveled
When they have to stay in one spot
A lot.

Especially if they love to wander from curious here to beckoning yonder
They view with rancor
An anchor.

Comes just one warm and springish day,
they are wild to be away,
And such a one (sigh)
Am I.

And Where Was Gasoline Alley?

Gamblers' alley: Between Madison and Washington, between Clark and Dearborn streets. Boyle's chop house was there.

Suggestion to Mr. Wrigley: Convert the Cubs into a spring football team, for a civic tournament with the Bears, pending the passing of the Nameless Month and its unspeakable weather.

VITAMINS ON PARADE.

Part I.

WITHOUT doubt one of the most significant achievements of modern medicine has been the advance in our knowledge of nutrition—particularly in the field of vitamins. It is just twenty-seven years since the term was first used and it has now become a household word. One may well wonder what people did before these factors were identified. Well, most of us consumed balanced diets with enough of these elements, and the few who did not starved to death but under the name of some ailment.

It is impossible for any one person to keep in touch with the progress on all fronts as hundreds of articles appear in scientific journals each year. Physiologists, chemists, and physicians are working together on the many aspects of the problem. New vitamins are being uncovered, suggested functions confirmed or discarded, their chemical makeup determined, and—in a few instances—their artificial production has been accomplished. Much work has been done in demonstrating not only the optimum requirements for the normal individual, but in the quantity necessary to overcome a deficiency. In addition, the possible harmful effects of overdosage have been investigated.

As can be understood, it is no longer a simple A, B, C matter. So many compounds with vitaminlike properties have come to light that the alphabet is not long enough, and even now the original designations are being subdivided. For example, B now includes at least five or six different offshoots.

During the last year one of the most spectacular discoveries has to do with the rôle of nicotinic acid [a chemical part of B] in the cure of pellagra. In addition, mention may be made of the value of B1 for a form of neuritis found in chronic alcoholics, and the unearthing of a new ally—K—which is effective in restraining bleeding in certain types of yellow jaundice.

Vitamin A was one of the earliest of the group, but our information as to the daily ration is still uncertain. It is thought, however, that no unfavorable reactions result from taking too much. Concerning its chemistry, we know that its precursor is carotene—the yellow pigment in plants [carrots, as an illustration]—and that this is converted into A in the liver. In general, all vegetables and fruits which are green or yellow in color are excellent sources.

The lack of A manifests itself in trouble with the eyesight, especially night blindness. In other words, as nightfall approaches the visibility of objects decreases out of all proportion. It has been shown that A is no more essential in promoting growth than is any other food. Nor does there seem to be any justification for attributing to it cold preventing qualities. It is probable that its administration during the course of an infection does not influence the outcome unless a severe deficiency is present; and that its habitual use by a normal individual will not protect him against bacterial invaders. A recent claim that a high intake checked the occurrence of kidney stones has not been substantiated by subsequent study.

What medical science lacks is a true yardstick for measuring the degree of starvation of this vitamin and until such is found its relation to human beings must remain in the realm of speculation.

We now understand that vitamin B—instead of being a single substance—is made up of many fractions. The isolation of the separate components and their artificial manufacture in the laboratory has been noteworthy. The complete vitamin B is not widely distributed in our foods. It is contained in oats, the embryos of wheat and corn, red kidney beans, yeast, and liver. The adequacy of this material in the average menu is somewhat questionable and—because of our addiction to refined cereals—it has been estimated that we consume only one-third of the amount of B that was taken by our grandparents. Supplementing the diet—especially those of the low income class—with this material is probably a necessity.

[The second of a series of three articles reviewing the vitamin situation will appear tomorrow.]

HE CRAVES SAUERKRAUT.

J. R. P. writes: I have been on a diet for gastric ulcer for a year and have gained 20 pounds. When will it be safe for me to resume pork and beans and spareribs and sauerkraut?

REPLY.

We have tried to teach the lesson that a peptic ulcer is likely to come and go. Healing will occur if the lesion is given half a chance. If you are the worrying type you may never again be able to indulge in, say, corned beef and cabbage. But diet modification is a small price to pay for comfort and safety. Your physician who has carried you so successfully up to this point can advise you.

DOGS WITH RABIES.

G. S. writes: I have been told that a dog with rabies will die within twelve hours. If this is so, why are dogs kept under observation for fifteen days after biting a person?

REPLY.

If a dog has been infected with rabies he may live from two to eight weeks or even longer. If suspected of being ill he should be isolated and observed from time to time by a competent veterinarian.

MAY BE TOO MUCH PEPPER.

M. K. writes: What could be wrong when the ears and the throat feel raw and sore particularly after eating certain foods?

REPLY.

The chances are that your edibles are too peppery. There is something in the diet which proves irritating.

TUBERCULIN TESTS.

J. W. writes: How reliable are the tuberculin tests?

REPLY.

These tests are quite accurate in checking exposure to an active form of the disease. The type most frequently employed is termed the Mantoux.

TOO MUCH QUININE.

J. J. writes: Is it dangerous to take too many quinine tablets?

REPLY.

Quinine in large doses often produces annoying symptoms. In people sensitive to this drug severe reactions may occur, such as ringing in the ears followed by temporary deafness.

HE DOESN'T WANT TO BE CANNON FODDER.

Chicago, April 14.—I am not a pacifist nor do I believe in peace at any price, but I think we should profit by the experience of the last war and think twice before we let an American general say, "Chamberlain, we are here!"

I am a student, 22 years old, single, physically fit, and I realize only too well that in the event of another American-foreign war this nation will be calling for thousands of young men like me; a little later for our married brothers, and perhaps for our fathers, to fight their battles for them. For several years before coming to Chicago to study I lived a few miles from Camp Custer in southern Michigan, and many times I have driven past the two overcrowded hospitals located there—overcrowded with physical and mental wrecks who gave their all twenty years ago. I have seen too much of the chaff that was shipped back to this country after the last conflict to be easily fooled into lending my support to another war.

Thank God we have some representatives in Washington who see the uselessness and wrong of shedding American blood on foreign soil, and will do all in their power to keep America in a neutral position. BENSON E. HITCHCOCK.

C. I. O. IN THE HARVESTER PLANTS.

Chicago, April 14.—I would like to find out why the C. I. O. is so anxious to oust the small independent unions from numerous factories and other places of business. I am an employé of the International Harvester company at West Pullman, where we have our own employés union. The C. I. O. has a few members here and they are using every means to get the majority to go C. I. O.

Now they have taken it up with the NLRB to have all of our independent unions ousted. Why can't they let us alone? We know what we want and it isn't C. I. O. We do not care to contribute to the support of John Lewis or his ilk.

These organizers claim that ours is a company stooge union. I helped to organize it and can truthfully swear that all of our members joined because they wanted to stay American, not because of any company influence, of which there was none at all.

L. L. KRAMER.

RESPONSIBILITY AT ST. CHARLES.

Chicago, April 15.—As a lawyer who has been practicing many years before the bar and a former member of the Illinois general assembly, I think it manifestly unfair to blame Judge Bicek and the Juvenile court of Cook county for the escapes from the St. Charles School for Boys. If such reasoning is followed, one would be led to blame the courts for the conditions at all correctional institutions.

If conditions at the St. Charles School for Boys are bad, and I take it for granted that they are, the remedy lies with the Illinois department of public welfare and the Illinois general assembly.

RICHARD A. HAREWOOD.

LESSON FOR REPUBLICANS.

Chicago, April 17.—The Democrats are on their way out. The thing that made them is now crushing them—namely, this depression. Fireside chats, false promises, burdensome taxes will build a marvelous political machine, but then fall a long way short of putting steaks on the table of the multitude.

The Republicans should profit by the mistakes of the Democrats. The public now definitly knows that the politician never lived who could produce prosperity by increasing taxes. JOHN J. MANGAN.

THE SOB SISTER INFLUENCE.

Chicago, April 15.—Permit me to congratulate Mr. Orr on the wisdom he exhibited and the courage he displayed in daring to draw the cartoon which appeared in the CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE on Thursday, April 13. Gradually as the years have gone by, and my experience has increased, I have come to the conclusion that our sob sisters and our ultra-emotional uplifters are a greater menace to human progress than are even the criminals whose activities they so unwittingly abet. A notable illustration of this fact is just now coming to public attention:—namely, the failure of the St. Charles School for Boys to fulfill the purpose for which it was established. Twenty-seven years ago, under the able administration of Col. Adams, this was one of the finest institutions of its kind in America; admirably and efficiently the great majority of inmates were taught how to adjust themselves to life and to become good useful citizens. Then came the pernicious influence of our sentimentalists who insisted that hardened criminals and moral degenerates, just because they happened to be below a certain age, should be sent to St. Charles. Today the St. Charles School for Boys has degenerated into what one who is thoroughly familiar with its activities has aptly called a high school for crime. X. Y. Z.

BLOOD ON THE GRAIN.

Frankfort, Ill., April 16.—As an Illinois farmer I want no farm profits saturated with perhaps the life blood of my own, my friends' sons. Another war to save democracy. What hypocrisy! Is this the solution of our elected representatives of our national business depression, their solution of the unemployment problem? If that be their moral and mental caliber, God help us and our nation.

There is a desperate need of American patriotism, of men concerned about the American people and their children, men who have something better than a blood bath to offer them.

GEORGE BRANDON.

PROBABLY MADE OF CHICKEN FEATHERS.

Decatur, Ind., April 16.—In today's picture section of your paper you have an illustration of a woman's white sailor hat with a dead bluebird for an ornament. Is that kind of thing going to be permitted again? It seems to me that we have laws against the use of valuable birds for such purposes. Where is your Bob Becker? Isn't it possible to do something to stop the killing of songbirds if it is getting started again? It seems to me that this would be one very easy thing for conservation to do if it amounts to anything at all.

DUTIES OF ADMINISTRATOR.

Chicago, April 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can you tell me the [1] duties of an administrator or an administratrix? I am a widow whose husband died not long ago without leaving a will. A son and myself are his only heirs. The estate consists of some farm land and a home, but no money.

2. My son thinks I am too old to be administrator and he wants the job.

3. How much authority does he have? Does he have all the say over the farm lands or just the personal property?

4. If he is appointed administrator, where does that leave me?

5. Do I have any say as to how the money derived from the sale of corn or other farm products shall be divided and invested? Please tell me just [6] what are the duties of an administrator.

7. Am I allowed an income while the estate is being probated, and how much?

L. M. R.

1. In general, to assemble and inventory the assets, pay taxes and debts, distribute the estate and render a final accounting. It is not practicable to give you a complete outline.

2. You and your associates are in a better position to pass upon that question than we are.

3. An administrator as such does not necessarily have anything to do with the real estate. You can decide for yourself just how much authority you wish to give him.

4. See preceding answers.

5. We suggest that you employ an attorney to draw up a written instrument covering these points.

6. See 1.

7. Widow and minor children are entitled to an award of a sum deemed reasonable for their support for one year, to family pictures, and to their clothing, jewelry and ornaments. Only funeral expenses and costs of administration take priority.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ADOPTION RECORDS.

Chicago, April 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I was born about 1900, adopted legally about 1904. Where would I find record of this, and would there be any fee?

2. Would a legally adopted child have any claim to an estate of a foster grandmother?

3. A promise was made verbally before death of foster grandmother that I would be "taken care of." No will was evidently left.

4. Could I demand share of estate? If will was left [5] where could I receive a copy thereof or see it? Are they on record?

6. Deceased eight years, could will, if any, still be opened?

1. Presumably in the office of the clerk of the County court at the county seat of the county in which the adopting parents resided. It seems probable that the clerk of the court would be willing to answer a simple question without charge.

2. The Illinois statute says that the adopted child "shall not be capable of taking property from the lineal or collateral kindred of such parents by right of representation." [chapter 4, p. 5.]

3. Such promises would not be enforceable as a will, because statutory formalities were not complied with. It would not be enforceable as a contract for lack of legal consideration.

4. See preceding answers.

5. At the office of the clerk of the Probate court.

6. A will contest must be commenced within one year after commencement of probate proceedings.

SON IS A CITIZEN.

Chicago, April 13.—[Friend of the People.]—I came to this country in 1926 with my son, who was 5 years old. I received my citizenship papers in 1931. My son was then 10 years old. Is he an American citizen? G. E. E.

Under the facts stated, the son became a citizen through the naturalization of his father, provided the child was legally admitted to the United States for permanent residence at the time of entry.

The West Side hospital, at 1850 Harrison street, has been sold to Cook county, and all its facilities will be added to those of County hospital. The County hospital is at 1835 Harrison street.

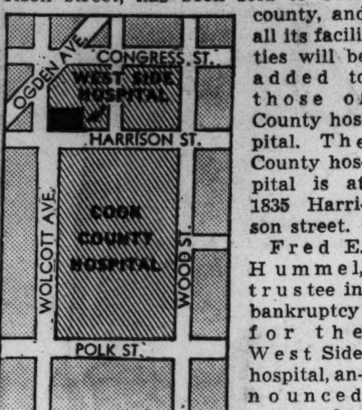

Diagram shows where Cook County and West Side hospitals are situated. Diagonal lines indicate County hospital property.

Fred E. Hummel, trustee in bankruptcy for the West Side hospital, announced yesterday that he had accepted a bid of $110,000 for the entire property. Included is a building with a capacity of 150 beds.

The bid was made by Commissioner Frank Bobrytzke in behalf of the county commissioners. It is expected that final approval of the sale will be made by the county board Tuesday. The contract of sale then will be submitted to Federal Judge William H. Holly for approval.

Building to House Interns.

Bobrytzke said the hospital building would be used as a home for interns at the County building and for treatment of outpatients [convalescents].

The West Side hospital has existed for more than forty years and has been in its present quarters since 1915. Twenty-five physicians furnished the funds for its construction and now own stock in the institution.

In April, 1938, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, as president of the board of health, ordered the hospital closed on the ground that it was insanitary. Later the conditions complained of were remedied and a license to operate was renewed.

Has Liabilities of $140,000.

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy was filed last June by the institution. This petition showed that the hospital had liabilities of $140,000, including $45,000 of back taxes, and virtually no assets except its real estate and operating equipment, with a book value of $257,000.

Hummel indicated that after the back taxes are paid the rest of the sale price will be distributed pro rata among the creditors, with the stockholders losing all their equity. He said the hospital had been losing money for the last year at the rate of $2,000 a month.

FATHER AND SON PAY WITH THEIR LIVES FOR KILLING

Columbus, O., April 19.—(AP)—Three partners in crimes—father, son and friend—paid with their lives tonight for the slaying of two Springfield, O., peace officers.

Harry Chapman, 37 years old, was first to be executed because he was the first to enter the penitentiary. Following him were Henry Dingledine, 29, and then his father, Harry, 56.

The three were convicted of the murder of Patrolman Martin Randolph of Springfield in a gun battle at the Dingledines' cottage after robbery of a Springfield café operator in 1937. The Dingledines also were convicted of killing Chief Deputy Sherif Edward Furry. Robert Cornett, a bandit, died in the gunfight, while Chapman and young Dingledine were wounded.

JEALOUS FARMER KILLS DIVORCEE, ENDS OWN LIFE

Canton, Ill., April 19.—[Special.]—The happy reconciliation of Mrs. Florence Vance, 32 years old, and her former husband ended today in her slaying and the suicide of William David, 55, a farmer of Isabel township, Fulton county.

Mrs. Vance had been employed by David as a housekeeper since she divorced Ernest Vance of Pontiac seven years ago. When Vance was injured in an automobile accident several days ago Mrs. Vance hurried to his side. A reconciliation followed and they planned to be remarried.

At noon today Lyle Schissler of Havana, Mrs. Vance's home town, called at the David farm to take her away. Unable to get into the house, he notified Sherif B. E. Cook.

Cook found Mrs. Vance's body lying alongside a fence 200 yards from the house. She had been shot in the back of her head.

David was found dead in a front bedroom, a charge from a shotgun through his heart. He also had shot his dog.

INDIANA GROCERS BATTLE SEIZURES FOR INCOME TAX

South Bend, Ind., April 19.—[Special.]—Grocers in South Bend today strengthened their lines for a battle against the unpopular gross income tax law, a measure unique to Indiana. At the same time the state income tax division and the sherif's office renewed their efforts to seize the properties of delinquent tax debtors.

Attorney G. A. Fairbaugh, representing the St. Joseph Valley Food Dealers' association, announced that an injunction would be sought to restrain seizures of property.

Deputy sherifs served warants on eight retailers today, notifying each that his property would be seized and sold to satisfy the tax deficits. Fifty more delinquents, it was announced, would be served in a few days.

Prosecutor Arthur F. Scheer asked Circuit Judge Dan Pyle to appoint a receiver for the South Bend Wholesale Fish company, which is owned by Herman Bailin, president of the food dealers' association.

ILLINOIS ASKED TO BUILD HAVEN FOR TAXPAYERS

House Bill Would Provide Pleasant Refuges.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—[Special.]—Wasteful taxation is driving taxpayers wild, State Representative Clinton Searle [R., Rock Island] told the house today. He satirized the tax wasters by introducing a bill proposing that wild taxpayers be treated for their wildness in sylvan refuges furnished with badminton courts, bowling greens, ping-pong tables, swimming pools, and band shells.

The bill, a sprightly hoax intended to fix attention on the taxpayers' plight, proposed that public pay rollers and contractors selling to governmental agencies be assessed to maintain the refuges.

Searle is the star examiner of the joint legislative committee which has been seeking evidence of waste in the state government and examining the conduct of officials.

It's Called Hallucination.

The bill would make it the duty of the state to establish the refuges for taxpayers, who, the bill says, "may be adjudged wild or suffering from the hallucination that their taxes or assessments are too high or that the money they have paid in taxes is being extravagantly, wastefully, or needlessly expended."

The refuges would be wooded lands, tastefully landscaped. Buildings would have radios, libraries, billiard tables, and card rooms.

"The dining halls," the measure stipulates, "shall serve food of the same quality generally served upon the tables of the superintendent of public institutions or other members of the ruling class."

Just Look: A Refund!

As to the treatment of the wild taxpayer:

"He shall receive each month for the period of a year treatment whereby he shall receive for the relief of his condition one-twelfth of the amount of taxes of all kinds which he may have paid during the last five year period.

"If this does not cure his hallucination the treatment shall cease and he shall remain in the refuge for the remainder of his life."

The measure closed with these words:

"Whereas, great numbers of taxpayers are wild and becoming wilder every minute, therefore an emergency exists and this act shall take effect from and after the date of its passage."

Horner Orders Cut in Spending.

Democratic state officials are expected to make voluntary appropriation cuts tomorrow at a meeting called by Lieut. Gov. Stelle at the request of Gov. Horner.

Stelle is reported to be ready to deal sharply with any official who objects to a cut. Some Republicans, however, suspect that the Democratic economy demand is an attempt to take the economy movement from the hands of the joint committee.

FEDERAL AGENTS QUIZ PARKER TRIAL WITNESS ON HIS DISAPPEARANCE

Arnold Becker, alias Joseph Bender, once missing witness in the Frankie Parker counterfeiting case, was questioned yesterday by secret service agents and Assistant United States Attorneys Warran Canaday and A. Bradley Eben.

Becker disappeared at the start of the trial. He was found in Denver, Colo., and returned here secretly. His questioners were trying to discover if any one paid him to leave town.

The government had planned to use Becker as one of its principal witnesses. Despite his absence Parker, a former airplane bootlegger, and August Englehardt, a federal convict, were convicted last Friday. They will be sentenced next Saturday.

Parker and George [Bugs] Moran are being tried for the second time with three associates in the Criminal court of Judge James F. Fardy. They are charged with conspiracy to forge and pass $500,000 in spurious money orders. A jury was completed yesterday.

BURGLARS WORK HARD FOR $3.65.

CITY WILL SPEND $3,600,000 ON NEW PAVING PROJECTS

Bids will be opened next week on materials for a new series of street resurfacing projects costing more than $3,600,000. Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt said the money will be taken from the city's share of the state motor fuel tax fund.

The program calls for laying asphalt on seventy-five miles of arterial streets in all sections of the city. Wherever necessary the roadway foundations, curbs, and catch basins will be repaired also.

Of the $3,600,000, about $2,300,000 will be spent this year.

G. O. P. NOMINEES BLAST COALITION JUDICIAL TICKET

Charge Democratic Slate Violates Law.

BY PARKE BROWN.

The first shot in the judicial campaign for the election June 5 was fired yesterday by the Republican nominees for the Circuit and Superior courts. They called it their opening declaration of principles, with an implication that there will be other declarations later.

Acting jointly, the Republicans opened the attack on the Democratic ticket, which includes both Democrats and Republicans, by charging that coalition violates the spirit of the law. They charged that the party label a candidate wears in an election is evidence of the principles he accepts, and that every man on the Republican ticket favors Republican principles.

Withdrawals to Be Sought.

Following the adjournment of a meeting at which this declaration was approved, it was reported that some of the nominees present favored action to cause some of the Republicans now on the Democratic ticket to withdraw and accept places on the Republican ticket. This discussion is to be resumed today or tomorrow.

The Republicans' declaration follows:

"The law requires that judges of the Circuit and Superior courts shall be elected by the people after being nominated by the respective political parties in convention. The law further requires that no candidate shall run on more than one party ticket.

"We believe it is the spirit and intent of this law that acceptance of a nomination on a particular party ticket, Republican or Democratic, shall be construed as a public announcement that the candidate believes in the principles of the political party on whose ticket he runs.

"Court Packing" Opposed.

"We believe that miscalled 'coalition tickets,' which deprive the voters of all choice and dictate the appointment of judges through bipartisan combinations of party representatives, are in violation of the law. We are opposed to court packing. We believe that, regardless of other qualifications, no judge can be a good judge and faithful to his trust unless he is free from domination of party dictators.

"We submit ourselves to the people. We believe that human rights can be protected and preserved only by the steadfast enforcement of our constitutional safeguards by judges who honestly believe in these safeguards.

Pledge Impartial Service.

"If we are elected we will owe our election to the people alone, and to the people alone we make our pledge. We will render impartial justice to all, and will interpret the law in accordance with the constitutions of Illinois and the United States, in both of which we reaffirm our faith."

The statement was made public by Harry S. Ditchburne, whom the candidates selected as their chairman last Tuesday. Ditchburne also said that all the nominees have been flooded with requests to speak at ward meetings and other gatherings.

The first meeting in support of the G. O. P. slate will be held tonight under the auspices of the Seventh Ward Young Republican club in the Caravel club at 7515 Yates avenue. Nominees William D. Saltiel, Marion George Kudlick, and Lionel G. Thorsness will speak. Nicholas J. Bohling Jr. is president of the club.

NEW YORK VOTES TO BAR RADICALS FROM PAY ROLLS

Albany, N. Y., April 19.—[Special.]—The state assembly today passed the Devany bill, prohibiting employment in state civil service positions or in the teaching systems of persons advocating overthrow of the American government—by force or any other means.

Immediately afterward the assembly defeated a motion to discharge the rules committee from further consideration of the McNaboe bill, a similar measure directed at communists only. The senate has passed the McNaboe bill.

The attack on the Devany bill was led by Assemblyman Abbot L. Moffat, New York Republican, who said he agreed with its purpose but not with its method, which he called "completely un-American." Assemblyman John A. Devany emphasized that the bill was backed by the American Legion. He insisted there was nothing in the bill contrary to the doctrine of free speech and assembly.

14 INDICTED IN DRIVE ON BOGUS MONEY MAKERS

New York, April 19.—[Special.]—With the indictment of fourteen men said to be the producers and distributors of at least $200,000 in counterfeit money today, federal authorities brought to a climax a drive against counterfeiting which already had caused the arrests of 287 persons for passing the bogus one, five and ten dollar bills.

While 90 per cent of the passers had been convicted, it was said, these were looked upon as small fry. The 14 indicted today, however, constituted the high command of the group, it was said.

Among them was Henry Neuwerth, an engraver, who entered this country by a fraudulent passport after escaping from a German prison in 1930. He is being held in $30,000 bail. Neuwerth was arrested in a west side apartment, where $35,000 in finished counterfeit bills was found, in addition to printing apparatus and other unfinished bills.

U.S. ASKED TO END LONG CONTRACTS OF RADIO CHAINS

Mutual Calls for Ban; Monopoly Quiz Closes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 19.—[Special.]—The Mutual Broadcasting system today called upon the federal communications commission to forbid the National Broadcasting company and the Columbia Broadcasting system to make long term contracts with radio stations.

The motion was made for the Mutual system by its counsel, Louis G. Caldwell, in the final hours of the commission's monopoly investigation. The motion, as advanced by him, would enjoin the chains from extending existing contracts with stations beyond Dec. 31, 1940.

Decision Delayed.

It met strenuous objection from John J. Burns, representing the Columbia system. Commissioner Paul Walker said the commission would take the motion under advisement, as it would that by Burns to strike out Caldwell's as irrelevant.

Caldwell said evidence offered recently indicated the large networks were attempting to make new contracts with affiliated stations and to extend present contracts until 1946. According to Caldwell these acts would nullify the work of the six month investigation.

The contracts, Caldwell insisted, have questionable features that have been the subject of scrutiny by the commission's staff and of complaint and objection by independent broadcast stations and other parties.

Assails Exclusive Contracts.

Among those he named were the exclusive contracts by which an affiliate station is forbidden to receive programs from any other national network, and long term contracts, particularly those proposing to extend the relationship between the networks and the stations over five years.

Caldwell added that unless the commission acted to prevent long term contracts, the Mutual system had arrived practically at the limit of its possibilities for expansion.

SERGT. SULLIVAN, COLORFUL POLICE FIGURE, IS DEAD

Sergt. Jeremiah J. Sullivan, one of the most colorful figures in Chicago police history, died yesterday at the age of 78. He had been ill for five weeks in St. Anthony's hospital. For twenty years prior to his retirement two years ago, he had been detailed to the county treasurer's office. His home was at 1037 South Mayfield avenue.

Sergt. Sullivan was born in Limerick, Ireland, and was both a sailor in the British navy and a soldier for England in the Boer war. He joined the Chicago police department forty-five years ago. He was stationed at the old Harrison street, later South Clark street, station in the days when Finley Peter Dunne and George Ade were newspaper reporters there.

Surviving are his widow, Anna, five daughters, and two sons.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. in St. Catherine of Siena church, Washington and Austin boulevards.

GUERIN AND KIN LOSE FIGHT FOR $65,000 ESTATE

Another round in the fight for a $65,000 estate was lost in Circuit court yesterday by Eddie Guerin, notorious international criminal of two generations ago. Judge Benjamin Epstein denied the appeal of Guerin and twenty of his relatives for a share in the estate of his half sister, Mrs. Harriet A. Mitchell. Previously Judge John F. O'Connell of Probate court had upheld a will leaving the estate to Mrs. Mitchell's niece, Mrs. Hazel Griefen.

A trust agreement, made in 1930 after a 1909 will had been ordered destroyed, named Guerin and the others as beneficiaries. Judge O'Connell held that inasmuch as Mrs. Mitchell's will was not destroyed in her presence it still is in effect. Counsel for Guerin were undecided yesterday whether a further appeal would be taken.

"Yes," said the man.

"Well, even if were Rubinoff you wouldn't get a room here."

Rubinoff, the violinist, tucked his $100,000 instrument under the other arm and walked out, finally obtaining accommodations at another hotel.

Her Struggle.

A book firm recently received a consignment of dummy copies of Mein Kampf to be used for display purposes, the cover exactly like the book, but the pages blank. One of the girls in the office asked if she might have one. Asked what she intended to use it for, she said she thought it would make a nice recipe book.

"Mein Kampf," said the boss. "What a title for a cookbook!"

"You don't know my cooking," retorted the girl.

A six room apartment, newly decorated, awaits the Danish crown prince and crown princess at the Stevens. "If you want to please the crown princess very much, have a vase full of flowers in the Swedish colors in her apartment," a letter from Denmark advised A. K. Mose of the reception committee yesterday. The Countess Reventlow, who is lady in waiting to the crown princess, is said to be a sister of Barbara Hutton's estranged husband. Rumored to be a great beauty.

Degree Prospect.

Now that the college boys have gone in for consuming goldfish, Robert Lederer says he expects to see Matt Schulien, one of the originators of the idea (a famous trick in his restaurant), awarded an honorary degree by the University of Chicago or Northwestern.

Speaking of the goldfish eating nonsense, there were two suspicious characters standing outside the Shedd aquarium the other day.

Women's U. Club.

Dr. Lydia Roberts, chairman of the University of Chicago's department of home economics, will address fellow members of the Women's University club at a dinner this evening at the clubrooms, 410 South Michigan avenue. Miss Marion Clark, assistant professor of home economics and a member, also will speak.

Club Founded by Women Hit of Frisco Fair

BY JUDITH CASS.

"Be sure and get some one to give you a guest card to the Yerba Buena club," is the advice every one who has visited Treasure Island in San Francisco gives to any one who is planning a trip to that fair. For the clubhouse is one of the most attractive buildings on the island and a more pleasant place in which to rest, to dine and to drink could not be imagined.

The Yerba Buena [good earth] is a women's club, organized and financed by women, and with women members. There are fifteen hundred masculine associate members, but they are that only because they are the husbands of the founder members. No other men are permitted to visit the club without a hostess.

The goldish wooden and glass exterior of the Yerba Buena club is so chic, so colorful, and so comfortable that every one who sees it literally raves about it. The founders have their own quarters; the associate members have theirs, and the seven thousand five hundred other members have theirs, so the club is really divided into three parts, each with its own lounge, bar, and restrooms, but all using the same dining room, terraces, and coffee shop.

Children of members are not forgotten either, for there is a special room for them and also a playground. A Junior league member is in charge of this portion of the club each day.

Praise Decoration of Club's Interior.

The gold of the club's exterior is carried into the entrance hall, which has gold covered settees and large silver chests topped with mirrors. To the right is a small waiting room with black and white checked curtains held back by slender plaster hands, and red and white furniture in modernized Victorian style. The dining room is a dream with walls hung in yellow velvet, curtains of the same rich fabric, blue and white stripd blinds, white chairs with crimson cushions, and tablecloths and china of pale pink. Large plaster bowls, mounted on tall yellow columns hung with garlands of plaster leaves, provide the lighting.

The men's lounge is gay in reds and grays with comfort stressed. The main lounge is approached by a silver ramp from the lower hall, or by a circular stairway from the dining room. It is all blue and white with huge bouquets of fresh flowers and two exotic blackamoors, right out of a Venetian palazzo, furnishing contrasting color notes. The powder and lounging rooms are gems of decorative art. The latter are done to suit the temperaments of several kinds of women. It would be hard to decide which suited one, I think; the best way would be to try a different one on each of six days.

There is so much glass used in the structure, and so many flowers and tropical plants inside and out, that the whole club gives the feeling of a huge, luxuriant garden. It has gayety, charm, comfort, everything needed to make it what every one who has seen it proclaims it, the most attractive place on Treasure Island.

Newell Sisters to Visit Fair.

A guest card to the club is cherished by Mrs. C. Frederick Childs and her sister, Miss Madeleine Newell, who are leaving on the 29th to see the exposition.

Newell Childs and his bride, formerly Jean Joers of New York, stopped in Lake Forest recently on their way from Honolulu, where they spent their honeymoon, to England. Mr. Childs will work in a bank in London for about six months and then he and his bride will return to this country to live.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Radiance is more important than regularity of features to the modern woman. Health and cleanliness are its foundations, but extra aids such as a mask that stimulates gently and erases signs of fatigue are a tremendous help to the tired business woman.

You'll do a lot of shopping before you find a mask as pleasant in every respect as a luscious cream one with the rosy tint and a faint fragrance of crushed strawberries. In fact, for your particular tastes it's quite likely you'll never find one you like as well.

This mask isn't new. But, as we recall it, it was one of the first to appear—and it's still one of the favorites. It's a friend indeed when there is an eleventh hour need to look as beautiful as the Lord ever intended you to look.

The cream doesn't draw the skin or overstimulate it. It accomplishes its work in the space of twenty minutes and remains entirely soft. You won't be particularly conscious that it's on your face except that it will smell very nice and feel soothing to your skin.

When you remove it though you'll know at the first glance in your mirror that at least some minor miracles have been wrought. You'll notice a faint radiance; the skin will be distinctly smoother and softer, and that sallow end-of-the-day tinge will have been erased.

If you're at all knowing about beauty tricks you'll lie down while the mask is on. And, of course, the skin must be thoroughly cleansed first. It could hardly be called an inexpensive cream, but women who have used it for years will tell you that it is not extravagance.

The contents of one jar last a long time. And each application leaves you so relaxed, radiant, and ready for the social fray that you won't begrudge a penny of its cost.

It's a fine preparation, carefully made, and the specialist who created it is not one to compromise where quality and purity are concerned.

A Clever Device Stops Runs in Sheer Hosiery

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Sympathetic hosiery makers have accomplished what was thought to be impossible. We're gleefully raving about some new nonrun stockings, an invention that deserves the cheers of millions.

This barricade trick is achieved by a stopping device between the sheer chiffon film of the visible part of the stocking and the reënforced section that grapples with the garter clasps This stop is a lacylike ridge band that really stops any rambling run and it stays stopped.

Such hosiery is full fashioned, filmy, flatteringly smooth in fit, and comes in three lengths: short, medium, and long. All this with the additional magic of the run-stop. The three thread beauties look as fragile, as superflattering as any luxury item of single thread mist . . . the four thread finds tax the eye of an expert to prove that they are not as clear, thin, and smooth as the thin chiffons.

This run-stop hosiery comes in six flattering spring and summer colors.

Two Surprises! Alec Templeton and Glee Club

BY EDWARD BARRY.

This morning the town is treated to the sight of a critic clad in sackcloth and ashes and beating his breast resoundingly. His fault is twofold. He has never assessed the Association of Commerce Glee club at anything like its true worth. He has consistently stressed the wrong things in Alec Templeton's playing.

Last night the glee club and Mr. Templeton combined their forces for an Orchestra hall concert. Before the evening was well begun the club had proved that it is much more than a group of 114 distracted shopkeepers who like to sing "My Wild Irish Rose" in the evening to take their minds off business conditions. The truth is that the Association of Commerce Glee club is one of the town's best singing societies.

Under Herbert E. Hyde's direction the club sang ancient and modern sacred music, some light but worthy songs from the pens of men like Protheroe and Clark, and such unclassifiable things as a Hely take-off on Handal's style.

Whether the music was good or bad, the performance was almost invariably excellent. In the slower pieces a fine flexibility of style resulted in some extremely beautiful effects of color and dynamics. When the music called for vigor the club could supply it with a bang — too much of a bang, sometimes.

Either Alec Templeton has mellowed or his serious music making is finally emerging from the shadow that his brilliant night club tricks have always cast upon it. In last night's Schubert and Chopin, especially, the young blind pianist displayed a finely inflected eloquence which has passed almost unnoticed during all these years. His melodies sang along naturally with a minimum of showmanship.

THE STAGE

By Cecil Smith.

Harry Minturn has resigned as Illinois state director of the WPA Federal Theater project to become company manager of "The Swing Mikado," all-Negro Gilbert and Sullivan production. Bernard Ulrich and other Chicago business men, incorporated as the Maroline corporation, purchased "The Swing Mikado" from the WPA a few days ago.

Ian Keith and John Connor have exchanged rôles in Shakespeare's "Othello" this week at the Blackstone theater, with Mr. Keith playing the Moor and Mr. Connor Iago. Other parts remain unchanged.

Unhappily Mr. Keith was laboring under the handicap of a severe and audible cold last night. Consequently there were no doubt a host of vocal nuances he was constitutionally unable to employ. The net impression of his Othello is that it is a simpler and less melodramatic characterization than his Iago, but that his delivery of the text develops from soothing restraint into downright ranting as his jealousy is aroused.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Behind the Scenes.

Hollywood, Cal., April 19. — Most amusing thing about the Joe Louis-Jack Roper fight was that it happened in Hollywood, which would never tolerate a 2 minute 20 second screen fight for the heavyweight championship of the world. . . . You've seen a lot of fights on the screen, and all of them go to the last round when the hero, discovering the girl has relented and come to the ringside, picks himself up off the canvas and wins by a knockout.

Or the hero, with one minute to go in the last round, switches to a south-paw stance and so confuses the villain that he is an easy prey. . . . Generally, too, there is a betting angle to the screen fight. . . . The only betting on the Louis-Roper fight was [a] that Roper would not show up, [b] that it would not rain, [c] that Louis would or would not sit in the northeast corner, [d] that Roper would or would not be flattened in one heat.

The Louis-Roper fight therefore contradicted everything that the moving picture makers have led us to believe happens in a prize ring, and the moving picture makers all were at the ringside and paid $11.50 a seat. . . . Instead of the underdog, 36 year old Roper, winning by a knockout, as would have happened in pictures, the underdog was knocked out roughly and quickly. . . . Is it possible that the movies have been lying to us all these years?

At the major studios they call them research departments, but a better tag would be "Ask Me Another," because the movie researchers who have to guarantee the integrity of pictures have to check and double-check on all sorts of things.

Dr. Herman Lissauer, Warner research chief, has had to know the answers to queries such as these: [1] the name of Paul Revere's horse; [2] the actual weights of Venus de Milo, Cleopatra, and the Florodora girls; [3] were gas or candles used in the White House during Lincoln's administration; [4] how did Maximilian's mother address her son, the emperor; [5] at what height do vultures circle; [6] how were churches heated in 1776; [7] what kind of a money changing device does a conductor use on a Mexican railroad; [8] how many apples per acre are there in the average orchard.

This town has quite a few things, peculiar to pictures, which serve as national barometers. . . . For instance, in every major studio the teletypes bring a twenty-four hour recapitulation of box office receipts all over the country, and just as soon as patrons stop shoveling money into box office tills it means that bad times are brewing. . . . When great pictures don't do business it is proof positive that the flow of money has halted.

Barometer of a different sort and perhaps not to be accepted as a direct national index is the motion pic-

Dorothy Dewes Is Bride in Her Mother's Dress

For her marriage to Richard K. Juergens yesterday afternoon Miss Dorothy Dewes wore the stunning old fashioned wedding gown first worn by her mother, Mrs. Edwin P. Dewes. A sister of yesterday's bride, Mrs. George S. Oram [Grace Dewes], wore the gown five years ago. Yesterday's ceremony took place in the Dewes home, 2314 Lincoln Park West, in the presence of relatives, and a larger reception followed at 5 o'clock.

A wreath of orange blossoms held a simple tulle veil to the bride's dark curls, and she carried an old fashioned round bouquet of white carnations and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Oram and the youngest Dewes sister, Miss Elisabeth, were dressed alike in yellow marquisette and leghorn hats. They carried yellow calla lilies and bronze snapdragons. A miniature of their bouquets was carried by little Diana Waud, the flower girl, who wore a short frock of yellow dotted Swiss.

Mr. Juergens, who was attended by his brother-in-law, John R. Hurley, as best man, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Paul Juergens of East Bellevue place. Following a wedding trip he and his bride will be at home on the near north side.

The River Bend Feud

By William MacLeod Raine

(Copyright: 1939: By William MacLeod Raine.)

SYNOPSIS.

Jeff Hunter, an American mining engineer, awaits execution in a Mexican jail, by order of Pancho Banderas, rebel leader. A peon friend helps him escape.

INSTALMENT IV.

PURSUERS EVADED.

Jeff avoided settlements as if they had been plague stricken. He had rushed through two or three villages in the dead of night, small one street adobe places that probably had no telegraphic communication. That had been necessary. But every hour increased his danger.

Though the river was not bankfull, it was carrying a good body of water. He followed it for more than two miles, looking for a wide place where the stream would be shallower except in the narrow stretches where the current flowed fast. There was nothing for him but to swim.

As he picked his way through the brush there came to his nostrils a drift of tobacco smoke. Abruptly he stopped, every sense keyed to attention. The silence was unbroken. Very carefully, making sure that no snapping twig would betray his presence, he moved forward, and peered from behind a mesquite bush. A full moon was riding a cloudy sky. By its light Jeff caught sight of a boat, one end drawn up on the bank. A man was lying in it enjoying a cigaret. He was alone. Jeff waited several minutes to make sure of that, then slipped down the bank noiselessly.

When almost within touching distance of the man he slapped out an order. "Stick up your hands."

The man leaped to his feet as if released by a spring. His cigaret dropped into the water and hissed out.

"Quien es?" he asked, voice quavering.

"Never mind who it is. I want to get across the river, and you're going to take me in your boat."

Jeff had taken his pipe from his pocket and was pressing it hard against the stomach of the Mexican. He relieved the man of a long hunting knife.

"Bueno! Bueno!" the boatman assented eagerly.

"Fine. We'll start. Sit down and——"

Jeff did not finish the sentence. He lifted his head to listen. To him there carried the sounds of voices and of the tramp of horses' hoofs. Instantly he jumped from the boat and plunged into the brush.

Some one cried in Spanish, "What's that?"

Jeff did not wait for the man to find an answer. Between those horsemen and himself he had to put as great a distance as possible. He heard the boatman pour out a spate of excited explanation, and a moment later the crash of riders driving their mounts into the thicket. Fortunately the chaparral was dense. It offered more resistance to a horse than to a man.

He cut toward the left. His pursuers would spread out, yet would keep close enough contact to prevent him from slipping back through the line. To save himself he must be beyond the last rider in the dragnet before they reached him. They shouted back and forth to each other. Once a gun roared.

The foot of the hunted man caught on a twisted root and he was thrown headlong into a little depression underneath a clump of cholla. Already he had discovered that he was outflanked. He could not make it past the last rider in time. Better trust to luck and stick it out here. If the beater covering this strip rode past on the other side of the cholla from him he probably would not be seen.

His luck held. The trooper deflected to the left to avoid heavy brush and passed him unnoticed. As soon as he thought it safe Jeff turned back toward the river. There had been a bend just beyond the place where he had seen the boat. He wanted to strike the stream on the other side of the bend. There he would be out of sight of the fellow he had been on the point of coercing for a passage.

He reached the river and ran along the bank as quickly as he could. Again he stopped, pulled up by the thud of hoofs. A man was cantering along the bank, perhaps a hundred yards back of him. Swiftly Jeff made up his mind. Just here the brush was thin and offered poor shelter. He slid down the bank into the stream and took refuge beneath some cherry bushes which overhung the water. His hat he removed and held in one hand, then lowered himself so that only his nostrils and mouth were visible.

A minute later he stood up. The rider had vanished into the shadows of the night. Just now the moon was under a cloud. Jeff made his decision. He waded out into the river, came to a sand bar, crossed it, and went into the water once more. A deep strong current swept him from his feet and he struck out to swim across. The distance was not great. After thirty or forty yards he reached shallower water and waded.

The scudding clouds had been swept from in front of the moon. Jeff turned. The rider who had passed him had come back and was staring in his direction. A shout told the hunted man that he had been seen. The fellow was calling his companions.

As fast as he could run Jeff splashed through the water toward the Texas shore. He heard the crack of a rifle. He kept going. There was nothing else to do but surrender. Across his mind flashed the old cattleman's dictum that no Mexican can shoot straight. He hoped it was true. Twice more before he reached land bullets spat into the stream beside him.

When Jeff turned to look back before he vanished into the brush he saw that a second man had joined the other. Both of them were firing at him. He lost no time in getting out of sight of the chaparral.

Now that he was safe he realized for the first time how tired he was. Ever since his capture he had been living under a great strain. It had been impossible to sleep. Much of the time he had been in hourly expectation of death. Before his eyes a close friend had been shot. He needed rest, but in this dense thicket it was difficult to find a place where he could lie down in comfort.

He pushed on, not at all sure of direction. The chaparral might stretch endlessly for fifty miles. He recalled stories of men who had been lost in it and their bodies never found. It might be better to keep in touch with the river.

Veering to the right, he cut back. The wet clothes clung to his body uncomfortably. That he would have a cold and cheerless night he knew. His sleep would be restless and broken. But he did not complain of that. A man who had just missed a terrible death, prepared for him by a savage without mercy, ought not to whine because his bed is hard and cold. So Jeff Hunter thought. He was a seasoned man, used to wind and weather. He had ridden out Texas northers hunched on the saddle of a cowpony. Many times he had faced danger with nerves steeled to meet the worst. A night in the open without a fire, even in wet clothes, was nothing to write home about.

The thicket thinned down, brought him to a stretch of open sandy ground. At the edge of this he stopped, pulled up by surprise. Near the farther side of the clearing a light gleamed from a cabin window.

Jeff moved forward, a little cautiously. There was a slight chance that some of the insurgents might have been sent across the river to pick him up if he could be found. He gave less weight to this idea when he caught sight of a car outside the house, but he did not relax his wariness, since he was unarmed.

He softfooted to the window and looked inside. The shack had one room, which served for kitchen, bedroom, and living quarters. Two bunks, one above the other, had been built in one corner of it. There were two chairs, a table, a bench, a tin stove, and a cracker box nailed to the wall to serve as a cupboard to hold supplies. At the table sat a young woman in riding boots and breeches and a brown lether jacket. She was studying some kind of a chart.

A young woman faced Jeff in the doorway, a small rifle in her hands. She looked at him silently, a question in the dark longlashed eyes. In her quiet steadiness was no hint of alarm.

"Sorry to disturb you," he said. "I'd like to borrow some matches if you can spare them."

Her long gaze took in the weariness, the haggard face, the wet clothes. "What are you doing here?" she demanded, curtness in the low drawl of her throaty Texas voice.

"I'm lost," he told her. "It's a long story."

GASOLINE ALLEY—FAVORITE DAUGHTERS

If Child Is a "Light Eater" Don't Worry

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Eating experiments have been made with twins, and I'm sure the results will be heartening to many a mother who frets because her little girl or boy eats less than the children of her friends and, perhaps [but not necessarily], weighs less than the poundage she sees mentioned on height and weight charts.

One set of twins with whom the nutrition studies were made were identical twins. They lived the same sort of life, were given the same sort of meals, were both in perfect health, and happy and serene as well. Yet one twin ate always substantially less. She ate well, I mean with relish and no behavior complications, but a noticeably smaller quantity. The other twin, in contrast, often asked for second and even third helpings. I forgot to mention that the twins were of the same height and weight.

We all know grown people who are heavy eaters and stay thin as the proverbial rail. We all know light eaters who are far from light people. Their makeup is different. Glandular balance, metabolism, length of intestinal tract, or some other physiological factor is responsible.

Children may vary similarly, but because we all realize the importance to their growth of the right food we become anxious over those who are light eaters. This is uncalled-for worrying if, and that if is vital, your small boy or girl eats with relish of a balanced variety of foods, even though the quantity of each may be less than you would wish.

If your child seems well, active, and happy and is one of these light eaters the chances are that he is getting what he needs in energy and all the other foods with their valuable mineral and other constituents.

Remember, too, in considering your child's food intake and his weight, that his build has to be considered.

While general rules for health, balance of diet, and so on must, of course, be observed, the amount of food your child eats is, in the last analysis, an individual matter.

Millers are at home from Palm Beach, where they spent the winter in their new house. Mrs. J. Ballard Moore is back from the Virginia Hot Springs, but she is planning to return there in June.

The Frederick D. Corleys and Miss Mary Louise are at Hot Springs in Virginia to remain until May 1. Mrs. Edwin Ruthven Moore came home from Sarasota, Fla., via Charleston. Mr. Moore joined her for the return trip.

The John B. Guthries will return on April 26 from a six weeks' trip to Honolulu. Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Callahan have sailed for a trip to Italy, France, and Great Britain.

Several Chicagoans are in Sea Island, Ga., for the third annual invitation skeet tournament, which opens today. Mrs. George Silverthorne Jr. and Mrs. William D. Cox, both excellent skeeters, are there, and so are Lowes De Wees and Leslie S. Gordon.

Mrs. Silverthorne and Mr. De Wees flew to Savannah on Tuesday as members of the Sea Island team to shoot in the Savannah Gun club tournament. They flew with C. W. Deeds of Hartford, Conn., in his private plane. The Charles A. Tilts, who have a home at Sea Island, also went to the Savannah shoot. Mrs. Joseph C. Belden and her son, Joe Jr., are at Sea Island for a brief stay on their way home from Florida.

Musical Program for Alliance Francaise.

The Alliance Francaise has planned a delightful party today for the last of its musical afternoons this season. Helen Rend Clarke, pianist-composer, and Serge Gagarine, Russian baritone, will give the program. Mrs. Walter R. Kirk and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey are the tea hostesses, but in the absence of Mrs. Dewey her daughter-in-law, the junior Mrs. Dewey, will receive. Pouring will be Princess Rostislav, Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr., Mrs. Philip Maher, and Mrs. Edward B. Smith.

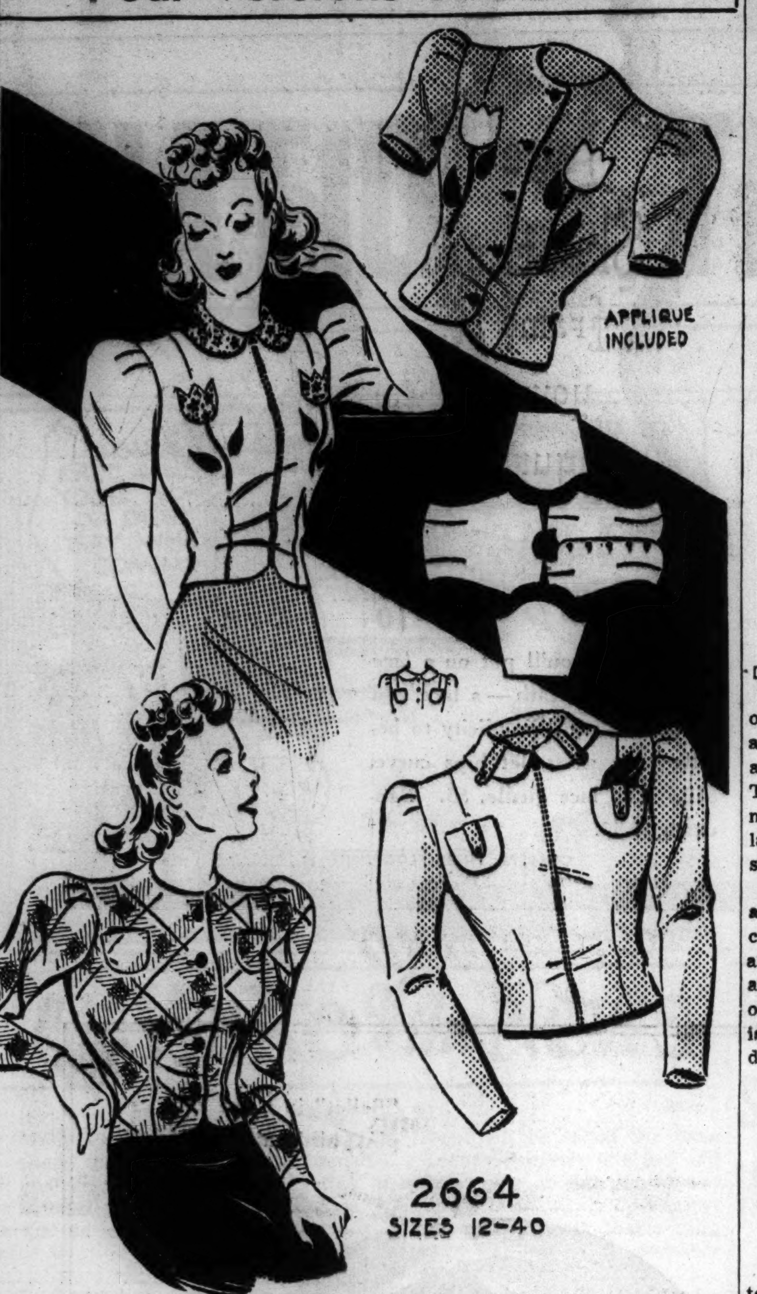
Mrs. Frank Hibbard, president of the Casino club; Mrs. Royden J. Keith, president of the Woman's Symphony orchestra; Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, president of the Arts club; Col. and Mrs. A. B. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Loesch will be especial guests of the Alliance.

Mrs. Kenneth Templeton is opening her home in Lake Forest this afternoon for a meeting of her fellow townswomen who are working for the success of the North Shore Music Festival, to be held on May 16, 18, and 20. Mrs. Albert B. Pattou and Mrs. Donald Welles will pour tea after the business meeting is concluded.

"Benjamin Franklin: the Creative Yankee" will be the subject of a talk Dr. Horace Bridges will give at 8 o'clock tonight at the Cradle, 2049 Ridge avenue, Evanston. This is the second in a series of four lectures Dr. Bridges is giving for the benefit of the Cradle.

Mrs. Mary E. Heyd has invited the Tower Town Friends of the Chicago Junior school to a buffet supper, followed by entertainment and dancing, at 7 o'clock tonight at the Drake hotel. The party will be an informal one.

Four Versions of Jacket



WOMAN'S AND MISS' BLOUSES.

For that orphaned skirt in your wardrobe, or simply as an extra accessory for your spring suit, we suggest these four versions of a particularly lovely cardigan type of jacket. It may be made of silk, woolen or cotton, and may be strictly tailored or as fanciful as you desire.

Sketched at the upper left is a snugly fitted topper with collar and applique bodice motifs in print, the pattern for the applique included at no extra cost. Applique is used in a slightly different manner on the blouse illustrated at the upper right, a version of the pattern without a collar.

Style No. 2664 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measurement.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Station, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

These are the best two recipes for orange cake I've been able to find in a long search. The cakes they make are worthy of blue ribbon awards. The orange cream layer cake is a modified sponge type with a marmaladish whipped cream filling and a smooth lemon-orange frosting.

The second, orange velvet cake, is a modification of a simple one-egg cake pattern. It's flavored with orange rind and moistened by an orange and sugar mixture which is dribbled over the cake as it cools. The result is an utterly delectable, moist, orangy dessert.

Orange Cream Layer Cake.

[Two 9-inch Layers.]
1 cup sifted cake flour
1⅓ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
1 cup sugar
Grated rind of one orange
¼ cup orange juice

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together three times. Beat egg yolks until thick and light. Add three-fourths of the sugar gradually, beating it in thoroughly. Add orange rind and juice. Fold in the sifted flour mixture a little at a time. Beat egg whites until stiff. Add remaining fourth cup of sugar gradually, mixing it in well. Fold egg white meringue into the batter. Pour into greased, wax paper lined layer pans and bake at 325 degrees, slow oven, for about 45 minutes. Do not invert pans to cool. Fill with orange whipped cream filling and frost cake with an orange icing.

Orange Whipped Cream Filling.

1 egg yolk
¼ cup sugar
Grated rind of one-half orange
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 teaspoon lemon juice
⅛ cup heavy cream, whipped

Put egg yolk, sugar, grated orange rind, and fruit juices in a saucepan and cook, stirring constantly until thick. Chill and fold in whipped cream. Spread over one layer of the cake and top with the second layer.

Orange Icing.

2 tablespoons orange juice
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Few grains salt
Grated rind of one-half orange
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon soft butter
1 egg yolk
1½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar

Mix orange and lemon juices and rind and let stand 10 minutes. Cream butter, beat in egg yolk, and work in fruit juices and sugar alternately. Beat until of spreading consistency. It may be necessary to use a little more of the sugar than the recipe specifies.

Orange Velvet Cake.

[8-inch Loaf.]
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1 cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup finely chopped raisins
¾ cup milk
Basting mix—⅓ cup orange juice, ⅓ cup sugar.

Sift flour, baking powder, and salt together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add orange rind and sugar and beat until fluffy and light. Add egg, beating it in well. Add raisins. Alternately add sifted dry ingredients and milk, beating well after each addition. Pour into greased 8 by 8 by 2 inch pan and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 50 minutes. Let cake cool in the pan for 5 minutes. Turn out and let cool 25 minutes longer. Then cover with the basting mix, spooning it over the cake a little at a time. Repeat at intervals until all of the mixture has been used. Serve the cake with a sprinkling of confectioners' sugar or topping of whipped cream.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: A very interesting hand occurred in a recent rubber bridge game. In my opinion it offered a classic example of that ancient, if not honorable, art known in bridge parlance as 'horseing.' The East-West team consisted of two nationally known experts.

"[7] Well, you got out of that one, old boy.

"[8] What's going on here? I'd better leave things alone and see if he gets doubled.

"[9] I'll not disturb it.

"Three spades was made, but alas! The result was highly unsatisfactory to North-South. Four hearts was a laydown. East, however, would go to five clubs which South would overcall with five diamonds. This contract would go down with a club opening and a spade return.

"An interesting sidelight to the hand is the fact that East can make three no trump against any defense. However, should the diamond ace be in North's hand, North-South could take the first thirteen tricks.

"B. S., Ottawa."

This was indeed an interesting hand, but it seems to me that my correspondent, and perhaps the other players, overlooked one of the most amusing features. He wrote: "The result was highly unsatisfactory to North-South." Why? North-South made the greatest possible number of points out of this hand by playing it at an inferior contract! It was conceded that if North reached his laydown four heart contract East would save at five clubs. Apparently it was overlooked that five clubs could not possibly be defeated more than one trick. Hence, although it would be doubled and go down 100 points, East's honors would wipe this score out and North-South would get nothing out of the hand. At three spades, at least they got 90 points below the line and a theoretical 50 point value of this part-score. Had North-South reached five diamonds they would have been defeated by reasonably good defense. [At five clubs East would have no difficulty about discarding one of his losing hearts on West's diamond king, since the singleton ace of hearts in the South hand would make it impossible for North-South to cash two heart tricks.]

Of course the feature that I have pointed out [that the three spade contract gave North-South more points than they could have earned in any other way] did not excuse North for passing and permitting three spades to become the final contract. With a heart suit as strong as his he could well afford to bid four hearts on his own responsibility after South's original take-out double and subsequent strong bidding.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

Frederic Grant Offers Brilliant One Man Show

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

An exhibition of recent paintings by Frederic M. Grant has opened at the Anderson galleries, 530 South Michigan avenue. It is a stirring, brilliant show. Frederic Grant is by all odds Chicago's greatest colorist, and a one-man show of his pictures is an event. This is his first show in two or three years, but when you see it you will agree that it was worth waiting for.

Color, composition, texture—these three factors play an important part in a Frederic Grant canvas. There are times in this show when the superb use of color, the magnificent challenge of blazing red, for example, will remind you strongly of Brangwyn, and yet never does Mr. Grant borrow from that other dramatic painter.

The several romantic landscapes are in line with previous pictures from Mr. Grant's brush, where trees and clouds, figures and setting, are all definite parts of a clearly defined composition.

The various still life paintings are gorgeous, subtle in color, and exquisite in set-up. "Roses and Old Print," "Petunias and Old China," "Brass and Fruit"—each is a perfect achievement.

Another interesting show is that of recent paintings by Lane K. Newberry in the mezzanine gallery of the Drake hotel, under the auspices of the All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts. The pictures deal with the trek west from Illinois to Utah, and in them Mr. Newberry continues his history of events of historical importance to Illinois.

Mr. Newberry's paintings show us the covered wagons making a slow way through the western plains and hills, through the South Pass country, a region still comparatively unknown, and where the Mormon and Oregon trails are still exactly as they were years ago.

The attractive exhibition by members of the South Side Art association is installed in the mezzanine gallery, Auditorium hotel. There are many pleasant paintings. The first award went to "Lamont," by Tunis Ponsen; second prize to the brilliant "Cannas," by Florence Ezzell Stevenson, and third prize to the charming and sensitive "South African Flowers," by Carolyne B. McCracken.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Grosvenor Calkins of Newton, Mass., announced the engagement of their daughter, Patricia, to James D. Lightbody Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Lightbody of Glencoe, Ill.

Miss Calkins, a sophomore at Vassar, was graduated from the Windsor school in Boston. She was introduced to society in the fall of 1937.

Mr. Lightbody, a junior at Harvard, is president of his class. Following in the footsteps of his father, who was an Olympic champion, young Mr. Lightbody is considered one of the best runners in the east.

Mrs. Lufkin Tennant of Highland Park has announced the engagement of her daughter, Isabelle Lufkin, to Robert Ainsworth Morris, son of Mrs. George Huckins Morris of Evanston. Miss Tennant, whose fellow Service club members call her Ib, wrote some of the songs that were hits in the club's latest revue. She is a graduate of the Roycemore school in Evanston and of the Finch school in New York.

Mr. Morris attended the Lake Forest academy, Dartmouth college, and Northwestern university. The wedding will take place this summer.

ture relief fund rolls. . . . Since 1919 this has been the organization taking care of the distressed members of the motion picture industry, supplying them with money for operations, rent, food, light, and clothing. . . . To be eligible a petitioner for aid must have been in the industry three years.

Last year Jean Hersholt's organization spent $245,043 for relief. . . . But regard the figures for the last five months and the graph is not encouraging. . . . In December the M. P. R. March exceeded that with 535 cases, and April will offer a new highwater mark of 542. . . . In Hollywood, at least, things seem to be going from bad to worse.

Tells Illinois P.-T.A. U. S. Must Plan for Declining Population

The United States has entered a period of population decline. Within twenty years it will require scientific study to fit our factories, transportation, and schools to the size of our population.

Dr. Albert Edward Wiggam, author, made these declarations last night before the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers meeting at the Stevens hotel.

"There is no cause for alarm," he asserted, "provided we can bring about economic conditions and social, ethical and religious ideals that will enable people who can create good homes to rear as many children as they wish."

Dr. Wiggam pleaded for an equalization of education.

WILSON'S Weekly MEMO by GEORGE RECTOR

The story is told of a young New York multimillionaire who was dining with a friend when the subject of a certain oriental sauce came up. The friend expressed an interest in sampling the sauce, found only in Turkey. Whereupon the y. N. Y. m. summoned his body servant and dispatched him then and there to Turkey solely to obtain the coveted condiment.

Well, personally, I think that is going too far. One should be able to satisfy his needs right here at home. At least that is the principle I am going on in the recipes given here. Perhaps, though, you won't mind if from time to time I suggest stocking some reasonable condiment or seasoning that you may have overlooked. They do step up a meal so!

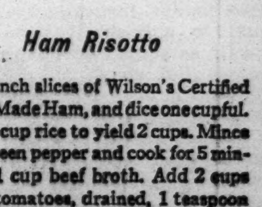
WHAT TO FEED THE BRUTE?

This good woman is undoubtedly having a bad time of it. There's this and that on hand but she does not seem able to mold them into a meal. Perhaps I can help her . . . this is a discriminating family, I know there's a family size tin of Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham in the refrigerator. And there's a large can of tomatoes on the shelf; some onions in the bin, and of course rice. Good! Send Junior out for some green beans and rhubarb and here, Madam, is your meal:



Menu

TOMATO JUICE COCKTAIL
TENDER MADE HAM RISOTTO
BRAISED ONIONS GREEN BEANS
COMBINATION SALAD
RHUBARB PIE

Ham Risotto

Cut ¼-inch slices of Wilson's Certified Tender Made Ham, and dice one cupful. Cook ½ cup rice to yield 2 cups. Mince half a green pepper and cook for 5 minutes in 1 cup beef broth. Add 2 cups canned tomatoes, drained, 1 teaspoon grated onion, and the cooked rice. Bring to a boil, add ham and cook till mixture is moist but not watery. Season with a dash of Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper and paprika. Put a dab of Clear Brook butter on each serving.

Strain and season remainder of tomatoes for the cocktail, and peel small onions and cook slowly in broth or rest of bouillon until tender and the liquid has been absorbed. Season with salt and paprika.

IT'S A NATURAL!

The natural affinity which a stalk of rhubarb seems to have for two circles of pastry more than justifies its popular name of pieplant.

This delicious rhubarb pie is made with Wilson's New Certified Pure Lard. Sift together 1¼ cups flour and ½ teaspoon salt. Cut in ½ cup New Certified Lard. Add water to make a soft dough (about 4 tablespoons). Toss on floured board, pat and roll out. Peel and dice rhubarb to make 3 cups. Combine with 1 cup sugar and 1 tablespoon cornstarch. Put in lined pie tin, dot with 1 tablespoon Clear Brook butter, add upper crust and bake in hot oven (450° F.) for 30 minutes and in slow oven (325°F.) for another 30 minutes. Serve hot with plain or whipped cream.

To Pet or Not to Pet? That Is Girl Problem

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The question of whether to pet or not to pet is one that assails our young women constantly.

The young world of women seems divided in its behavior in this connection. Some unfortunate young ones set out determined to win popularity for themselves with the mistaken notion that they can do it by permitting the sort of behavior implied by our theme of today. True, too, they may experience a wave of popularity, but it is shortlived because the youth who insists upon this sort of thing from his fair young partner of the evening isn't going to be content for long with her. He wants to move along to other pastures, and why shouldn't he when he is that sort, out for thrills of a nature never satisfied by the concessions of one girl alone?

However, that's not the arguing point, or should not be with the young person of the feminine sex. Petting, 'tis true, is a part of love, a physical expression of it. But the girl who goes in for petting without real love not only cheapens herself but learns things about boys that she'll later regret knowing; also she kills her good opportunity to know the decent side of a boy. When petting is taken on as the pastime of the evening, the girl learns little else about the boy. And that is not helping her to grow up.

It is important when you are going through those early years of associating with the opposite sex to do many things with a boy, to see him under different circumstances, to learn his ideas on things that are vital to a happy relationship.

On the House

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

In rich tile red, deep maroon, lively Spanish green, and soft light brown: decorative and preservative dyes for cement surfaces around your home are now perfected, and may be used for terraces, porches, sunrooms—and basement recreation room floors. This dye penetrates the concrete as well as colors it, and thus insures a clean floor that will not "dust" and is easily mopped and kept clean.

Stainless steel cabinet sinks and tops are now electrically welded into one unit by the manufacturer. The sink bowl is sound deadened. The steel splasher backs give perfect wall protection. The shimmering, silvery beauty of stainless steel harmonizes with any kitchen color scheme, and these sinks and counter tops can be adapted to any size and shape of kitchen or pantry, as well as fitted over either steel or wood cabinets.

Where strict economy must be maintained several hundred dollars on the cost of a small house may be saved by eliminating the basement and bringing your heating system upstairs, in a little room all its own. At last house heating plants can be satisfactorily placed on the first floor.

Cross-Stitch Is Medium Used in Transfer Pattern

BY NANCY CABOT.

Cross-stitch is one of the most fascinating of all the needlework stitches and one of the easiest to execute. These hot iron transfer figures offer a varied selection of motifs which may be used in innumerable ways. The methods of transportation form an interesting group of figures, which may be used for wall hangings, pillows, or for the corners of a bedspread in a boy's room.

For the hot iron transfer patterns of the eight figures, including the methods of transportation, No. X-575, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

THREE NATIONS TIE FOR GOLDEN GLOVES LEAD

HASH CAPTURES 1ST DERBY TEST IN NOSE FINISH

Passes Viscounty Just in Time.

BY HOWARD BARRY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lexington, Ky., April 19.—Hash, one of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Kentucky Derby candidates, got his first test at a distance this afternoon at Keeneland in his only start since last summer's Saratoga meeting. He got up in the closing strides to beat E. F. Woodward's Viscounty by a nose, with C. H. Cleary's Calexico third, five lengths farther back.

Total Eclipse, the fourth Derby candidate in the field, finished last of the five horses which started in the mile and a sixteenth run.

Eddie Arcaro, who was aboard the winner, timed his move until the last possible moment. He took his mount to the front with the rise of the barrier and held him half a length ahead of Calexico around the first turn. Halfway down the back stretch Earl Steffen brought Viscounty up along the rail and Arcaro let him go while he kept his eye on Johnny Barba, who was piloting Calexico.

He Watched Wrong Horse.

Viscounty went farther and farther ahead while Arcaro bided his time, holding his horse always just half a length ahead of Calexico, keeping his rival on the outside. On the lower bend Viscounty had opened up a lead of three lengths.

As they swung into the stretch Arcaro decided it was time to forget about Calexico and go out after Viscounty. But it was quite a job. At the sixteenth pole it was still either horse's race. Here Arcaro gave Hash one last shaking up and hand-rode him in while Steffen was going to the whip. In the last two strides Hash dropped his nose in front.

The winner covered the mile and a sixteenth in 1:46 4-5 over a track that was quite a bit off as a result of recent rains.

They Guess Future Stars.

The yearling judging contest, which has become a popular feature of the Keeneland meeting, opened this afternoon with the showing of thirteen fashionably bred fillies. The colts will go on display Friday.

Any one at the track is eligible to name his choices on the payment of a small fee for a ballot. The winners are determined on the basis of the horses' performances as 2 year olds. Kentuckians pride themselves on their ability to judge a thoroughbred by looking at him even before he has any racing record to guide appraisers. So the contest always draws a critical group of horsemen to the paddock.

Sweet Patrice, a daughter of Halcyon, had the best record of those entered in the 1937 test of judgment, her winnings last season amounting to $14,000.

Picked by an Ohioan.

A city fellow, Walter L. Hunt of Cleveland, O., stole a march on the Kentuckians by marking Sweet Patrice as his first choice. He was the only one to do it in the public contest, though William M. King, manager of George D. Widener's Old Kenny farm, performed the same feat in the balloting restricted to members of the thoroughbred club, which sponsors the event. Hunt will be here Friday to receive the prize that goes to the winner. None of the horses which were shown as yearlings last season has raced enough to get a line on his standing.

The breeders represented in today's showing were C. V. Whitney, Hal Price Headley, Thomas Piatt, Phil T. Chinn, J. H. Whitney, L. L. Haggin II., R. A. Fairbairn, Mrs. C. S. Payson, D. B. Midkiff, E. Guy Drake, and J. L. Cleveland.

Bay Filly Draws Attention.

A bay filly by The Porter, out of Never Change, shown by Mrs. Payson, attracted much favorable comment. Though nearly all of the horses were Kentucky bred, there was one importation from England. This was a bay filly by Royal Dancer, out of A Friend.

I often think of what this life would be Without the comfort of a steadfast friend
To share what comes of grief and gayety,
To stand beside you to the bitter end.
What could replace the reassuring smile,
The understanding heart of one who knows
Without the need of words, who all the while Remains the friend whose loyal heart bestows
Encouragement in all you seek to do,
Sweet solace when sometimes a thing goes wrong,
Praise sincere when you've won your way through,
And stanch belief that guides each day along.

Life would be empty were it not for friends
Who help to make it worth while till it ends.

Just how much did we give

To others for real thanksgiving?

Life isn't a gift, it is just a loan
Left in our keep for a time.

MUD IS TOO DEEP, SO SOX, TIGERS HAVE DAY'S REST

Then, Too, There Isn't Any Advance Sale.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., April 19.—The ball park mud, which yesterday wasn't considered a just cause for canceling the White Sox-Tigers season's opener, looked different to the local officials today—so different that the second of the series was called off before the hour of noon. Actually it was the same mud, maybe somewhat improved because of more rain during the night, but the real reason for not attempting to play a game was that there hadn't been any advance sale such as forced the customers to show up yesterday despite the impossible weather.

The Sox, however, didn't object to being granted an afternoon away from their regular toil. It provided them with time to attend to other duties, the most important of which was getting their playing shoes back into presentable condition. Their costly footwear, some of it brand new, were so deeply coated with gumbo that steam shovels were needed to get down to the leather strata. And there was laundry work to be done. Their nice white stockings were mud bespattered half way to the knees.

Dykes Fined $25.

Manager James Dykes didn't get his shoes soiled, but had his own reason for agreeing that the Detroit officials did the right thing by erasing the day's event. For the manager it meant that another 24 hours would elapse before he'd either be forced to be nice to Umpire John Quinn or give him the cold shoulder. Mr. Quinn threw Mr. Dykes off the field yesterday when the latter put on a colorful protest over a questionable decision.

Dykes was still ranting today about the incompetency of dictators and, after keeping an eye on his key box behind the hotel clerk's counter, he finally found a wire from President Will Harridge notifying him that his flareup would cost him $25.

A Rookie Irks Mr. McGowan.

The Sox also had a little trouble with Umpire Bill McGowan, who was behind the plate. Bill waxed indignant because Ken Silvestri, a rookie catcher, questioned his judgment on curve balls. John Rigney argued on the same subject. It all was done so quietly that nobody could detect that McGowan wasn't having a swell afternoon. And because it was done quietly McGowan couldn't resort to punitive measures, so he had to take it, except to issue a threat that he wouldn't tolerate rookie aggressiveness after opening day.

When the Sox line up tomorrow, or eventually, Henry Steinbacher is going to bat sixth instead of second, changing places with Joe Kuhel. Dykes decided on this shift as soon as yesterday's defeat had been inflicted on his boys. But today he admitted that his next change would be the installation of Larry Rosenthal in the outfield. Rosenthal will supplant either Steinbacher or Gerry Walker, depending on which reveals the most alarming tendencies as a hitter. If both continue in a slump Rosenthal will go to right and Rip Radcliff to left in place of Walker.

It's Whitehead's Turn Today.

John Whitehead, who was supposed to pitch today, will be started tomorrow, weather permitting, and Ted Lyons is almost a definite nominee for the pitching job when the Sox make their first appearance in Comiskey park on Friday. If it isn't warm enough that afternoon for a lad of Lyons' age, he'll be kept under a blanket and the mound chores turned over to Thornton Lee, the lefty.

Hague Decides to Have Grand Opening Day

Jersey City, N. J., April 19.—[Special.]—If the Jersey City Giants do not get a crowd for the 56th opening of the International league against Buffalo tomorrow it won't be Mayor Frank Hague's fault.

Not a tavern keeper in Hudson county would say so out loud, but lots of them hinted today that the business of pushing tickets was a nuisance. Through the tavern keepers, restaurant owners, and shopkeepers Democratic Boss Hague's deputy mayor, John Malone, sold 41,236 tickets.

Besides this it was announced that a sale of between 5,000 and 10,000 tickets had been made to bona fide enthusiasts.

Only 35,000 Seats.

The normal capacity of Roosevelt stadium, the Giants' park, is 35,000. Malone said extra seats could be put in, and besides a lot of the boys like to stand when they're watching a ball game.

Furthermore, tomorrow is to be a half holiday in schools in Jersey City and other points in Hudson county. Th mayor has urged industrialists and business men to grant a half holiday also.

Full page advertisments in four local newspapers made this plea, and mayors of Secaucaus, North Bergen, Hoboken, Union City, West New York, and Harrison also have proclaimed the game's importance.

Kearney, a Republican community, did not participate in the appeal.

Big Giants with Little Ones.

Jersey City will be strengthened by new players including Sam Leslie, Tom Hafey, and Lou Chiozza, whom Bill Terry dispatched over the river. Johnny Mihalic, Morris Jones, and Johnny Dickshot are other newcomers to the team that wound up in seventh place last year.

Bert Niehoff, the new manager, is expected to start Roy Joiner, a southpaw.

Other opening games bring together the Newark Bears, 1938 champions, and Rochester in Newark; Syracuse and Toronto at Syracuse, and Montreal and Baltimore at Baltimore.

RAMEY DEFEATS BILLY HODGES IN 8 ROUND BATTLE

Milwaukee, Wis., April 19.—(AP)—Wes Ramey, lightweight from Grand Rapids, Mich., outboxed Billy Hodges, Detroit Negro, in the eight round windup to a boxing show here tonight.

Hodges scored the only knockdown when he hit Ramey with a hard right uppercut in the fourth, sending him down for a nine count. Ramey had things all his own way in the other rounds. Ramey weighed 134¾, his opponent 135½.

CUBS MAKE JUST ONE MORE EFFORT TO OPEN SEASON

Then They'll Give Sox a Chance.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds may open the 1939 major league baseball season in Chicago this afternoon in Wrigley field. If they don't the distinction may fall to the White Sox and the St. Louis Browns, or, if not the Sox and Brownies, then possibly to the Cubs and Pirates next Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday.

The foregoing are cold, and, we fear, rather musty facts. Swathed in blankets we spent all of yesterday trying to conceive some cute new approach to the weather predicament that baseball teams in every major league sector have been facing. We thought up several, but when we read our breezy contemporaries on the same subject we concluded our cracks were pretty motheaten.

So there will be no wisecracks here this morning anent the elements. No talk of ducks and drakes or penguins and polar bears. No rippling jests about baseball having once been a popular American sport now supplanted by ice boating. Not even a reference to J. Pluvius or fields being veritable quagmires.

Ah! He Gives Up!

In other words the weather has flattened us completely. It's destroyed our imagination and chilled our jovial optimism. Nothing seems worthwhile any more, except Scotch and soda. We used to like bourbon and ginger ale, but now we get headaches.

Maybe one of those jolly training camp rummy games with Gabby Hartnett, Dizzy Dean, and Earl Whitehill would bring us out of it, but those gentlemen, along with other Cubs, are spending all their leisure hanging around armories trying to make believe they still have an athletic trade.

In weather forecasts printed early yesterday quite a little hope was held out for today. Fair and warmer, the man said, without a lot of quibbling. Later in the day this was it:

"Occasional cloudiness tonight and tomorrow; probably showers by tomorrow; somewhat warmer tomorrow; lowest temperature tonight near 35 degrees."

It's St. Louis Tomorrow.

Regardless of what happens today, the Cubs tonight will go to the Dearborn station and board a train for St. Louis where tomorrow they are scheduled to start a three-game series with the darkhorse Cardinals. Usually the weather is much better in St. Louis at this time of year than in Chicago. But they have been having a hell of a time down there, too.

The postponement was the sixth straight thwarting of the Cubs. They have not played since a week ago yesterday in Kansas City and the game there did them more harm than good. They really haven't had a game since they played in Dallas a week ago Monday. It was nice and warm that day, but not as warm as it was in San Antonio on Easter. That was a day! We can remember it just as plain. Temperatures in the nineties and the gals all dressed in pretty, bright summery things.

If Bill Lee doesn't get to open against the Reds, he'll open against the Cardinals, it is said.

GERMANY, ITALY, POLAND WIN TWO VICTORIES EACH

European Bouts Go On Tonight.

BY STEWART OWEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Ireland, April 19.—Germany, Italy, and Poland each scored two victories tonight and led the way into the second round as the European championship tournament sponsored by the International Boxing federation opened in the Irish National stadium. Ireland, Hungary, Great Britain, Esthonia, and Finland each advanced one man in the battling, which was confined to the five lower weight divisions.

The fighting for Europe's eight championships and places on the international team which will meet Chicago's Golden Gloves squad in the Chicago Stadium on May 12 followed along the pattern which had been expected, only one mild upset occurring when Adolph Baumgarten, German member of last year's international team, was stopped in the second round of the final bout on the program by Vilmari Suhonen, rugged Finn.

In the light of war rumors in this part of the world, remarkable spirit and international amity marked the opening of the tournament, with the predominantly Irish crowd cheering competitors from all nations. It equaled the display of fine spirit and sportsmanship by the boxers.

Stress Need for Friendliness.

The ceremonies opened with the squads from each nation marching into the arena bearing their flags while the Irish military band played the national anthem. The crowd stood at attention as Belgium first entered, followed by Esthonia, Finland, Germany, Great Britain, Hungary, Italy, Latvia, Poland, Sweden, and finally by Ireland's fighters.

Frank Aiken, Irish minister for defense, and Oscar Soderlund of Stockholm, president of the International Boxing federation, made the opening addresses, stressing a plea for a greater spirit of friendliness among nations as exemplified by international sport.

Germany gained the first victory when N. Obermauer, flyweight, won a three round decision over Sammy Kirsch of Great Britain. Kirsch used a flicking left hand to take the first round, but Obermauer, a free swinging battler, connected with a right to the head in the second and twice sent the Briton to the floor. Again in the third round the German floored Kirsch with a wild punch to gain the verdict by a wide margin.

Nardecchia Given Scare.

Jimmy Ingle, star of Ireland's team, won with ease from J. Engelen, Belgian flyweight. Working with calm deliberation, Ingle outboxed his more rugged opponent, taking every round. Guido Nardecchia of Italy, known throughout Europe as Mickey Mouse, had his hands full beating Alfred Jasinski of Poland in the third flyweight bout. Nardecchia, who fought in Chicago in 1938, is agile as a cat and evaded the hard hitting Pole by clever dancing for three rounds, but won by only the narrowest of margins.

Nardecchia must meet Ingle in the second round. It should be one of the best bouts of the entire tournament. Olli Lehtinen, Finland's champion in 1938, drew a first round bye and will meet Obermauer. Miki Bondi, also an international veteran, had a close call in his first fight. He met Myles Doyle of Ireland in the first bantamweight bout. The boys slugged incessantly for three rounds, trading punches with little thought of defense. Bondi was given the decision. It was very unpopular. Doyle has held six Irish championships and possesses a great international record.

Great Britain gained its one triumph through the brilliant boxing of Robert Watson, a Scotchman from Leith, who completely outclassed Van Der Mousse of Belgium. The Belgian kept moving in doggedly but ineffectively to take a thorough beating.

Sergo on His Way Again.

Ulderico Sergo, Olympic and European champion, four times an invader of America, brought Italy's second victory over Edmund Sobkowiak, Pol-

BEES WHIP PHILS, 7-6, ON SIMMONS' HIT IN TWELFTH

1,952 See Patriots' Day Game in Rain.

Boston, Mass., April 19.—(AP)—Playing in fog and rain, the Boston Bees opened their 1939 National league season today by taking a 12 inning game from Philadelphia, 7 to 6, in a morning Patriot's day contest witnessed by only 1,952 rugged fans.

Anxious to get the opening day's ceremonies out of the way, the two teams were forced to play three hours and one minute before the only major league game of the day was decided.

Phils Take Early Lead.

Under the leadership of their new manager, Doc Prothro, the Phils went into a 6 to 2 lead by putting across three runs in the second, one in the fourth and two in the fifth. But the Bees, sparked by three newcomers—Al Simmons, Buddy Hassett, and Eddie Miller—kept pecking away at the offerings of three pitchers until they tied the score in the ninth.

Bill Posedel, the fourth Bee pitcher, held the Phillies in check in the closing three innings. In the last of the 12th Garms got a life when Les Powers dropped a throw at first base. Maxie West pushed the Boston third baseman to second with a bunt and Hassett was walked by Max Butcher.

Simmons Ends It.

Simmons then hit Butcher's first pitch to center field for his third single and Garms trotted home with the winning run.

The Bees outhit the visitors, 12 to 10, but were forced to use four pitchers, Jim Turner, Dick Errickson, Milt Shoffner, and Posedel. Hugh Mulcahy and Al Smith preceded Butcher on the mound for the Phils.

DETROIT ENTRY LANDS FOURTH IN A. B. C. ALL-EVENTS

Cleveland, O., April 19.—[Special.]—Fred Breckle, continuing the fine bowling that last night led his Detroit team into first place in the American Bowling congress, today took fourth place in the all-events. Breckle scored 633 in the doubles and 626 in the singles, which added to his team score of 693 gave him 1,952 in the all-events.

Six Chicago teams, headed by the Pabst Blue Ribbons and Schlitz of the Classic league, will compete tomorrow. The Pabst scored 3,411 recently to win the Chicago championship.

A capacity crowd will watch the highly touted Chicagoans and some are predicting that Adolph Carlson, Herb Freitag, Paul Krumske, Les Fuller, and Joe Sinke of Pabsts will better the top score made by the Fifes.

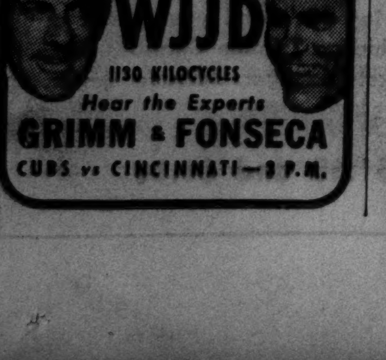
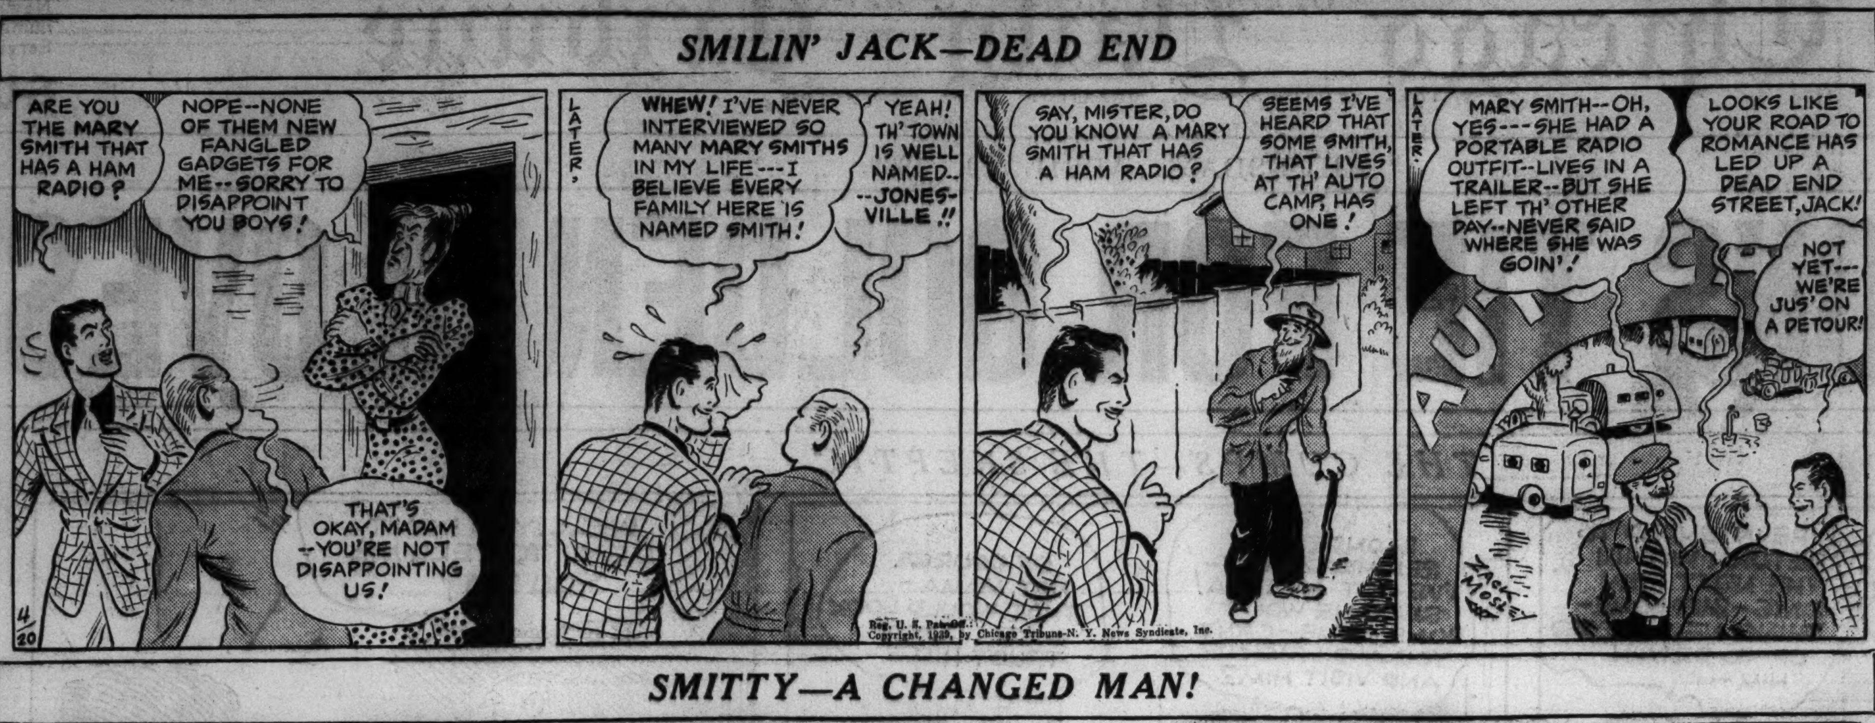
Child Struck by Discus Dies of Skull Fracture

Bayard, Neb., April 19.—(AP)—A discus thrown by Robert Connor, teacher at a school near here, killed 6 year old Jerold Lee Lipsack today. His skull was fractured when the heavy piece of sports equipment struck him. Jerold and other youngsters had been warned to stay away from the athletic field, where other boys were practicing under Connor, but the group had crept unnoticed onto the field's edge, school authorities said.





Indian Wins Marathon in Record Time

Boston, Mass., April 19.—(AP)—Ellison [Tarzan] Brown, Narragansett Indian from Alton, R. I., today ran the fastest marathon in history to gain his second victory in the last four Boston A. A. races from Hopkinton to this city.

Brown, a stone mason and out of work since he competed in the Olympics after winning the 1936 race, plodded the twenty-six miles 385 yards, mostly through a driving rain, in 2 hours 28 minutes and 51.8 seconds. He finished more than a quarter-mile ahead of the closest of his 178 rivals, Don Heinicke of Baltimore, who had run in but five previous marathons elsewhere.

Breaks Record by 2 Minutes.

The Indian's time was 2 minutes 9 8-10 seconds faster than the course's six year old record.

Heinicke, who settled down in ninth place when the bulky pack broke up after the first two miles, finished in 2.31:24.6. A quarter-mile ahead of Walter Young, who was rewarded with a police appointment in Verdun, Que., after he won this event two years ago. Young's time was 2.32:41.8.

Pat Dengis of Baltimore and Leslie Pawson of Pawtucket, R. I., the pre-race favorites, crossed the line in fourth and fifth positions, in 2.33:22.6 and 2.33:57.6, respectively. The latter set the course record in 1933 and won last year to become one of the four "repeaters" in the event.

Winner Hopes for a Job.

The next five finishers and their times were Paul Donato of Boston, 2.34:25.2; Walter Hornby of Hamilton,

"I hope this victory will enable me to get a job, as it did Young two years ago," Brown exclaimed after receiving medical attention that was unneeded, for he lost only two of his 132 pounds during the race.

ORGANIZE GIRLS' TEAM.

"Tick" Stsoebel has formed a girls' softball team, composed of former members of the Down Drafts and Montgomery V-8's. The team will play on Shewbridge field.

BIG 10 OFFICIALS WILL HANDLE N. U. PRACTICE GAME

Northwestern's intra-squad football game in Dyche stadium Saturday will be reguation in every respect, K. L. Wilson, athletic director, said yesterday. Three conference officials have been assigned to work the game. They are William Blake [Chicago], referee; John Old [Kansas], umpire, and Frank Haggerty [De Paul], head linesman.

In order to assure even balance, Coach Lynn Waldorf has placed the same number of letter men on the White and Purple teams. Veterans who will see action are Ollie Hahnenstein, Iggy Mesec, Reynold Soukup, and Paul Soper, half backs; Dick Richards, quarter back; Paul Hiemenz, center; Hal Method, Don Guritz, Joe Lokanc, guards; Corne Aarts, and Frank Young, tackles.

A number of players who were shifted this pring will receive their first test at the new assignments Saturday. Jay Laskay, regular full back for two years, and Al Butherus, reserve half back, have been switched to end to compensate for the loss of Cleo Diehl and Tom Eby, who graduate in June.

Coach Waldorf said yesterday he is well pleased with the results of spring practice.

Poland, Italy Germany Lead in Gloves Bouts

ish bantamweight. Sobkowiak was faster and willing to mix, but Sergo, master in the art of tying up opponents, held Sobkowiak in the first two rounds. They went to it in the third, both swinging freely and Sergo gained a close decision.

Sobkowiak was given a great ovation by the crowd as he left the ring. Sergo will meet Watson in the second round and the winner of this bout most likely will take the championship.

Another Polish-Italian bout followed, with Anthony Czortek, featherweight, gaining the first victory for Poland. He defeated Francis Cortonesi, highly touted title contender. Czortek tore into Cortonesi and both slugged. It ended, however, when the Italian began to wilt under the terrific attack.

H. Kenepi of Esthonia and Paddy Gernon of Ireland, rugged, willing battlers, opened the lightweight competition. Kenepi held the edge in the first two rounds, but Gernon punched Kenepi all over the ring at the finish. Kenepi's earlier margin gave him the decision, however.

Nurnberg Rallies to Win.

Abegny Kowalski, Polish air pilot, evened matters with Italy, whipping Edouard Peire. The Pole had beaten the Italian twice previously and the fight tonight was Kowalski's first without his mother at the ringside. The first two rounds were fairly even, but in the third the Pole's left had Peire on the run and on the verge of a knockout.

Another champion came near defeat when Herbert Nurnberg of Germany fought Cyril Gallie, great Welsh lightweight. Gallie was the better boxer and kept jabbing his left into the German's face. Nurnberg retaliated with chopping rights to the head and they traded lefts and rights to the final bell. Nurnberg's great showing in the final round gave him the close decision.

Suhonen's victory over Baumgarten was unexpected as it was sudden. The first round was slow, but at the start of the second Suhonen landed several terrific rights which floored the German. Then after Suhonen had sent the groggy Baumgarten to the canvas for the third time, the referee stopped the bout.

CHEER UP CUBS—EVEN THE PREP NINES CAN'T PLAY

All Chicago public school high school baseball league games yesterday were postponed because of wet grounds. It was the third time since the season opened last week that the scheduled games have been canceled because of the weather.

Most of the games will be played next week when schools are closed for the spring vacation and the others will be held at the conclusion of the season.

YANKS BLOCKED TRYING TO FARM OUT CHANDLER

New York, April 19.—[Special.]—Feeling sure that Spud Chandler, right handed pitcher who suffered a broken leg late in February, would not be available before July, if then, the Yankees today tried unsuccessfully to get waivers on him. The idea was to option the Georgian to one of the Yankee farms and recall him as soon as he proved he could pitch again. Behind this scheme was the desire to avoid carrying the injured man under the twenty-five player limit, which goes in effect May 17.

Two clubs, however, telegraphed immediate claims. "They want Chandler even with his broken leg," complained President Ed Barrow, who at once withdrew the waiver request. The Yankees will have to go along with only twenty-four active men.

Rule Proves Boomerang.

The fight for the twenty-five limit, headed by the Yanks, thus acts as a boomerang on Joe McCarthy. Under the twenty-three player rule injured men could be replaced on the involuntarily retired list for sixty days. But the new regulation has wiped out the old hospital corps.

Discussing the Boston Red Sox, which the Yanks have been rained out of meeting for two days, McCarthy refused to admit that he rated them his most formidable opposition.

Sees Big Job for Rookies.

"It is possible that Cronin will find his attack weakened by the loss of Pinky Higgins and Ben Chapman," Marse Joe continued. "Higgins hit .303 and drove in 106 runs. Ben batted .340 and batted in eighty. That leaves it to Jim Tabor and Ted Williams to make up for the loss of 186 runs driven in, and a two man batting average of .321. It is possible that the rookies will do even better than the players they have replaced, but until they do, we've got to figure that Cronin faces a situation. Lefty Grove is another man who must be watched."

The Monarchs won three games from the Thompsons last night in the Jay Bee Recreation and now are within one game of the lead in the Wednesday division of the Classic league. Power House defeated Schlitz twice and are tied with the latter for fifth place.

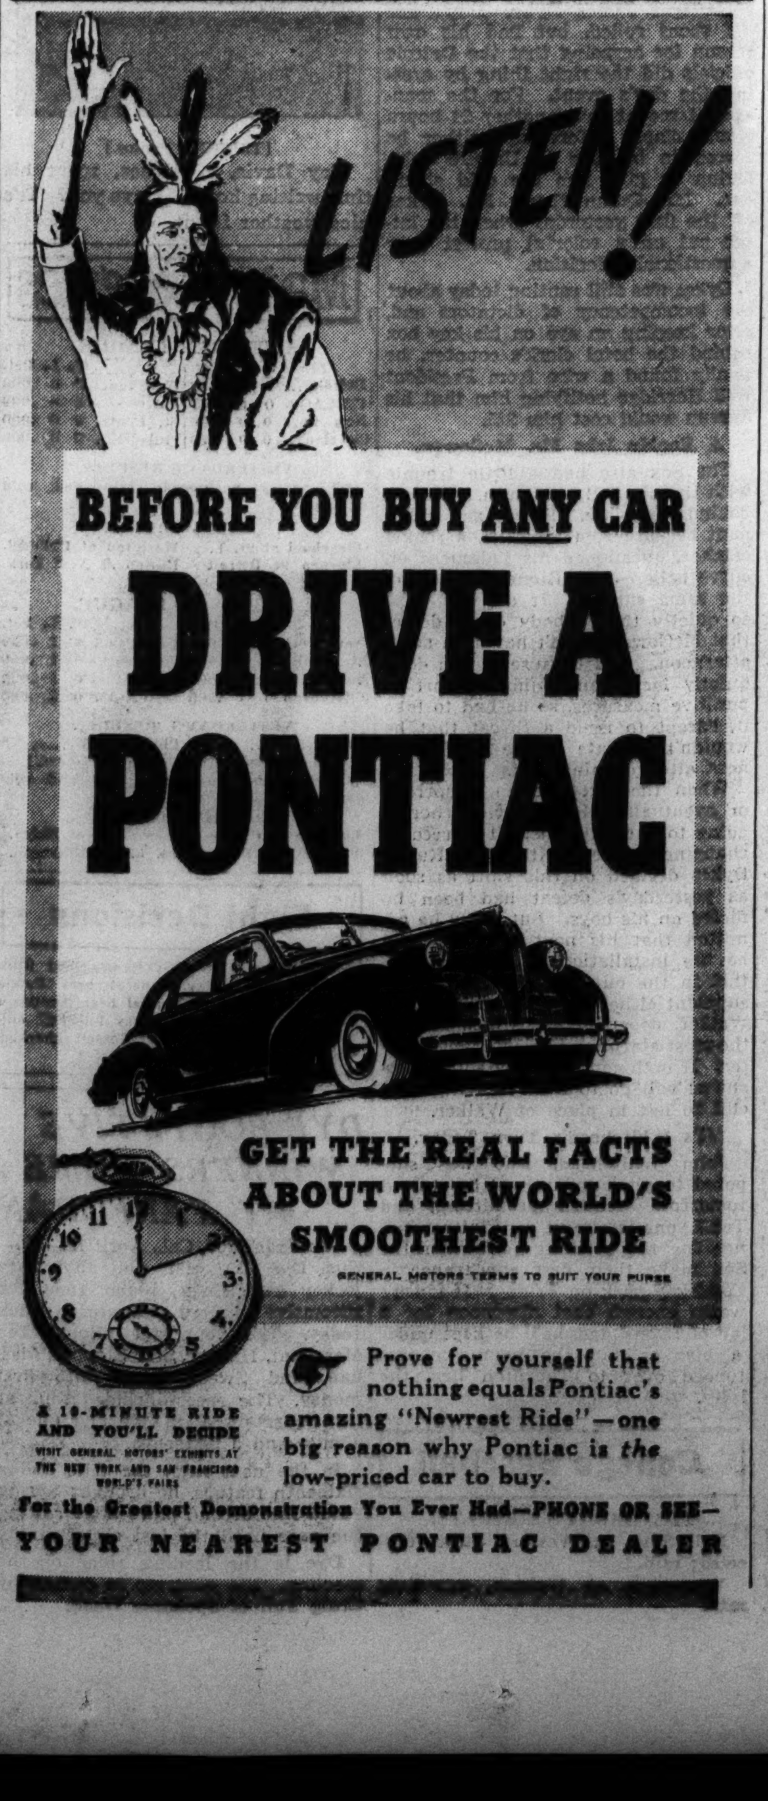
Barnes Defeats Whalen for North-South Net Title

Pinehurst, N. C., April 19.—(AP)—Bruce Barnes of Austin, Tex., recently a touring companion of Donald Budge, won the singles championship of the annual north and south professional tennis tournament today. He defeated Joe Whalen of Memphis, Tenn., 6-8, 6-3, 6-3, 10-8, in gusty winds that made accurate play difficult.



HIGH SCHOOL GIRL, 17, WINS IN FIRST NATIONAL MEET

Dorothy Leonard Takes A. A. U. Swim Title.

Dorothy Leonard, a 17 year old high school girl from Worcester, Mass., competing in her first national meet, beat Halina Tomska of Detroit, the defending champion, to win the senior women's National A. A. U. 220 yard free style swimming titl in the Medinah club pool last night.

Miss Leonard, who represented the Worcester Swimming club, trailed Miss Tomska over most of the distance, then sprinted in the final length to win in the last stroke. Her time was 2:35.3, almost three seconds slower than Miss Tomska's American record. She had won her qualifying heat in 2:34.7.

Claudia Eckert Fourth.

Patsy McWhorter of the Newark Women's A. C., was third; Claudia Eckert of the Shawnee Country club, Wilmette, fourth, and Mrs. Katharine Rawls Thompson of the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Swim club, fifth.

The event was one of a program of five which also included women's National A. A. U. senior lowboard diving and 400 yard relay; Central A. A. U. women's 50 yard free style, and Central A. A. U. men's senior 100 yard free style.

Arlite Smith of the Medinah club, successfully defended her diving title for the second time, defeating Claudia Eckert by slightly more than two points. Miss Smith scored 120.35 points and Miss Eckert 118.21. Barbara Cook of the Indianapolis A. C., was third with 106.33 points, and Helen McHale of the St. George Dragon club, Brooklyn, N. Y., fourth, with 105.81 points. Seven competed.

The Women's Swimming Association of New York easily won the 400 yard relay title, its final swimmer, Elizabeth Ryan, finishing five yards ahead of Mildred Fetzel of the Broadwood A. C. of Philadelphia. The Medinah club was third; the Indianapolis A. C., fourth, and the Lake Shore A. C., fifth. The time of the winning team, Lorraine Fisher, Gloria Callen, Helen Rains, and Miss Ryan, was 4:18.9, 5½ seconds over the record.

Margaret Johnson of the Lake Shore A. C. won the central women's 50 yard free style event in 28.2 seconds to tie Miss Eckert's record. Jayne Stickrod of the Medinah club was second; Betty Wyle of the Medinah club, third, and Muriel Berndt of the Medinah club, fourth.

Ed Kirar of the Medinah club, national intercollegiate 50 and 100 yard champion in 1938, won the Central men's 100 yard event in the slow time of 54.2 seconds. Otto Jaretz of the Medinah club was second; Jay Brown of the Lake Shore A. C., third, and Dick Fahrbach of Northwestern university, swimming unattached, fourth.

BOZEMAN BEATS CHAMACO TWICE IN CUE SERIES

Jay Bozeman won both blocks of the 600-point three cushion billiard match with Joe Chamaco yesterday to increase his lead to twenty-nine points. The games were played in Bensinger's Recreation, 131 South Wabash avenue. Two more will be played there today, starting at 3:30 and 8 o'clock.

The two players faced each other at the start of the matinée game with Bozeman leading, 200 to 198. Both had won two blocks. Bozeman, however, got the jump in the afternoon session, beating the Mexican star, 50 to 29, in fifty inning. His run of six was high for the match. Jay won the night game, 50 to 42, in thirty-nine innings, with the evening's high run of seven.

Chamaco showed flashes of his championship brilliancy in both blocks, but his calculations were just a fraction of an inch off.

Afternoon and evening blocks in the 600 point, $1,000 match will be played through Saturday.

CHICAGO TEAMS GET FRANCHISES IN NEW LEAGUE

Milwaukee, Wis., April 19.—(AP)—A tri-state baseball league, comprising teams from Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana, was organized at a meeting here tonight.

Franchises were granted the Madison [Wis.] Blues, Chicago Mills, Chicago Spencer Coals, and Sheboygan, Wis. Tentative franchises were given to Michigan City, Ind., and Elgin, Ill.

A thirty-game schedule was adopted, with play beginning in May. The tri-state winner will play a post-season championship series with the winner in the Ohio-Indiana league, comprised of several teams which also were members of the Tri-State league last year.

Calumet Pro 1 of Few with Double Duties

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Mr. George Knox, a citizen of Homewood, Ill., has a fine family, including Mrs. Knox, George Jr., and 15 year old Robert Alexander, but he likes to think that there is another member in the clan. It is the Calumet Country club where George is entering his twentieth year as professional and greenkeeper.

To include a golf course in a family circle may seem a trifle unusual, but to George Calumet is like one of his own and he treats its accordingly. There is a reason for this attitude, for he constructed the course and has seen it grow into one of the best golfing layouts in the Chicago district.

There are professionals as such and there are greenkeepers as such, but the race of pro-greenkeepers is one apart, for they combine the duties of both. Our town has quite a band of them. In addition to Knox there are Alec Pirie of Old Elm, Alex Cunningham of North Shore, Al Naylor of Idlewild, Jack Patterson of Midlothian, Mel Johnson of Butterfield, Dave Foulis of Hinsdale, Al Lesperance of Westmoreland, and Maurie White of La Grange.

A Scottish Golf Background.

Knox himself was raised in the best golfing tradition. A native of Edinburgh, Scotland, his father, Frank, was the greenkeeper of the Seafield Golf club on the Leith links, one of the oldest golfing playgrounds in the world. George well remembers tramping the Leith walk, the famous thoroughfare which runs from the docks off of the Firth of Forth up to Princess street at the top of Edinburgh.

He assisted his father as a lad, one of his chief duties being to remove all of the eighteen flags on the Seafield course each night and then set them up the following morning. This precaution was taken to prevent raids by poachers who deemed the flags of some value, although they were nothing like the banners American golfers shoot for today. They were five feet rods of iron, topped by four zinc flags.

Turned Pro in 1909.

George was quite some shakes as an amateur player and still has as a watch charm the medal that went with his victory in the Petrie cup play for the Lochend Golf club in 1905. He came to America as an amateur, but became a professional in 1909, working at the London Hunt club in London, Ont.; Brantford, Ont.; La Grange, Ill.; Kalamazoo, Mich., and Chicago's Northmoor club, which he built.

Calumet originally was planned as a 27 hole course, but the third nine never was built, and the membership was dissatisfied with the first eighteen, so that Donald Ross was called in as architect, with Knox drawing the job of building it.

What are the duties of a pro-greenkeeper, Knox was asked yesterday.

First, there is the little item of starting a tour of the course every morning in season at 7 o'clock. The itinerary of this trip includes a checkup of every green and tee, as well as any questionable segments of fairway. Following this journey, which usually takes more than two hours, Knox must give instructions to his crew of five, which will be doubled during the season, on what must be done for the course.

Worms Don't Have a Chance.

The chief pests in the life of a greenkeeper are webworms, cutworms, Japanese beetles, brown patch, and above all, humidity. A prolonged spell of the last named will add gray hairs to the head of any laddie responsible for a course. A long rainy spell is no boon, either, for it sours the ground. Webworms constitute Public Enemy No. 1 among the insect outlaws, and Knox yesterday recalled one case wherein eighteen greens were ruined overnight on one golf course by these worms.

Sodding fairways, strictly a manual task, is another important operation in greenkeeping. This is directed at the removal of bare patches, weeds and dandelions. Knox concentrates this action on the stretch between the 175 and 225 yards marks in the longer fairways.

Insects Don't Have a Chance.

To combat the inroads of all of these pests Knox uses a spray of a chemical in which the principal ingredients are arsenic of lead and bichloride of mercury. Greens and tees generally are sprayed every ten days, although the stretch between sprayings may be longer in good weather. Rainfall within 24 hours after a spraying nullifies its value.

Routine maintenance operations include the cutting of greens and tees and the raking of Calumet's 130 traps. Knox usually cuts his greens five days a week, barring Monday and Friday, the two days on which he tonsures his tees. Arsenic of lead is applied to fairways from time to time, particularly in the spring. Four of Calumet's fairways are now under treatment.

The greens are given a thorough top dressing about four times a year—in the spring, before Decoration day, before Calumet's annual Plae Dae, and before Labor day. This top dressing consists of sand, black soil, phosphate, potash, ammonia, and arsenic of lead.

Watering is one of the major tasks of the greenkeeper. An artificial well which produces 450 gallons a minute is Calumet's source. Knox usually waters nine greens and six fairways in a single night, beginning at about 8 p. m. and continuing through the night. Each green is watered 26 gallons to the minute for 45 minutes, while four popup valves on one fairway yield 55 gallons each for the same period.

The Master of Calumet Club

George Knox, who built Calumet Country club golf course twenty years ago, is an outstanding example of the work required to keep a course in tiptop shape. Here he's shown working on a member's club in his pro shop.

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Annual Tarpon Runs Begin Off Florida Coast

BY BOB BECKER.

The tarpon fishermen on the west coast of Florida, especially those near the famous Boca Grande and Captiva passes, are waving their fishing rods in the air these days. According to reports from guides who annually pilot their boats near the Boca Grande pass, the silver kings are beginning to run larger and they're being taken in numbers now that warm spring weather prevails in Florida.

The largest tarpon that we have heard about so far this season weighed 111 pounds. It was caught by Col. F. L. Thomson, an eastern fisherman who spends most of the winter and spring near Boca Grande pass in an effort to trick the tarpon into taking a lively pinfish bait. [The tarpon which fall for this edible morsel don't know that there's a husky sized hook attached to the live bait!]

Although most species of salt water fish which live in Florida waters react unfavorably to cool weather and northeasters and refuse to strike when conditions are not normal, the tarpon is one of the most sensitive of all game fish to cool weather. When it's warm or downright hot these popular fish, noted for their tremendous jumps when hooked, will strike with abandon.

Let the weather change and usually the tarpon sulk on the bottom. What they eat during these periods always has intrigued us. They must feed daily irrespective of cool weather. But they certainly do not show much interest in tempting live baits dangled in front of their noses, as compared to the way they strike when warm weather prevails.

Two of the most preferred places on the Florida west coast for tarpon are the Boca Grande and Captiva passes which are not far from Useppa Island. In these passes [fairly narrow openings leading into the Gulf of Mexico] the tarpon congregate in countless numbers every spring.

JOE LOUIS ON WAY HOME; GALENTO NEXT ON HIS LIST

McMillen and Silverstein End Drills Today.

Joe Louis, who made his sixth successful heavyweight championship defense in Los Angeles by knocking over Jack Roper Monday, will arrive at 1:25 p. m. tomorrow at the Dearborn street station. The Brown Bomber, who lives out on the south side, next puts his title on the block against Tony Galento in Yankee stadium June 28.

Jim McMillen and Ruffy Silverstein will conclude training this afternoon for their wrestling bout in the Coliseum tomorrow. McMillen will work out in Trafton's gymnasium and Silverstein in Kid Howard's place. McMillen's partners in yesterday's drill were Paul [Frenchy] Amnotte and Phil Gruber. Amnotte faces Lee Wyckoff of Kansas City, Mo., in a supporting match tomorrow. Silverstein used the Jewish People's institute as his training quarters yesterday. . . . Three contests have been added to the boxing card in White City tomorrow. These are between Perk Daniels and Johnny Brown, heavyweights; Nick Castiglione and Sam Scully, lightweights, and Orlando Trotter and Sol Robinson, light heavyweights. Seven other contests of four rounds are scheduled, including those between Chester Rutecki and Billy Martin, Eddie Meleski and Tony Sopko, Norman Roth and Russell Nyberg, all middleweights; Tony Motisi and Bruce Atwell, welterweights, and Kelly Cohen and Joe Law, featherweights.

James C. Mullen, Irving Schoenwald, Jack Begun, and Jack Hurley, sponsors of boxing shows in the Coliseum, yesterday met to complete plans for their next program on May 3. Milt Aron, Illinois' No. 1 welterweight contender, and Billy Marquart, Canadian lightweight challenger, will appear in two engagements at ten rounds. Milo Theodorescu, Rumanian 147 pounder, rejected an offer to fight in a third ten rounder because of an injury suffered in his fight with Aron on the last Coliseum card. Tony Musto, Blue Island heavyweight who defeated Lem Franklin in a co-feature, will not be available either, Mullen said. Marquart, who conquered Jess Ackerman in Omaha March 24, will start workouts in the loop today.

Larry Amadee, trainer for John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight title holder, who has indicated he will retire from the ring, has been hired to condition Oscar Rankin for the Los Angeles 167 pound slugger's ten round bout with Marty Simmons in Marigold Gardens Monday. . . . Jack Lebovitz, west side heavyweight, will oppose Walter Schramm of East Chicago in an amateur contest in Madison Athletic club tomorrow. . . . Art Winch, co-manager with Sam Pian of Davey Day, will head for Hot Springs, Ark., today to supervise Day's preliminary training for his ten round scrap with Pedro Montanez in Madison Square Garden May 23. . . . Jack Carter, Illinois Athletic club amateur welterweight winner, is preparing for his professional debut soon under the direction of Cecil [Seal] Harris, former heavyweight.

The Blue Ridge farm stable, owned by M. E. O'Toole of Chicago, put over a well backed horse in the second race, a six furlong sprint. Witan was the winner. After going to the post as the favorite, he got away well and raced head and head with Braxton Bell to the turn out of the back stretch. Here Braxton Bell quit and Witan drew out to an advantage of several lengths.

Wake Robin Graduates.

NATIONAL SOCCER SERIES TO START ON SPARTA FIELD

Sparta stadium, 21st street and Kostner avenue, will be the site of the first game between the Manhattan Brewers and St. Mary Celtics of Brooklyn for the national soccer championship on Sunday, April 30.

The second of the two game series, with total goals counting, will be played in Brooklyn. Manhattan club officials are arranging a special train excursion for the second game, leaving Chicago on Friday night, May 5.

The Manhattans will play the American Nickeloids of Dalzell, Ill., in an exhibition Sunday at noon in Kuppenheimer stadium, 19th street and Keeler avenue, in their final tune-up for the title series.

Another soccer feature Sunday will be the Mayor Edward J. Kelly cup finals between the Swedish All-Stars and German All-Stars in Sparta stadium at 1 o'clock. This will be followed by a game between the Lindell club, Ozark League A. A. U. champions of St. Louis, and a picked team from the local International league.

VANDERBILT TO SAVE IMPOUND FOR PREAKNESS

Denies He Has Been Offered Belmont Post.

New York, April 19.—[Special.]—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Impound is a doubtful starter for the Kentucky Derby, the young owner said today.

There is nothing wrong with Impound, however. He has been training soundly at Vanderbilt's farm in Maryland since his return from California, where he showed vast improvement over his juvenile form.

Vanderbilt, however, is afraid pointing Impound for the Derby and the Preakness might take too much out of him. These important $50,000 stakes are run only a week apart and Vanderbilt intends to save him for the latter on May 13. Impound is among the six supplementary entries to the Preakness at a fee of $1,500 each.

Denies Getting Offer.

The Preakness is Vanderbilt's race. In that the young sportsman, who is the guiding spirit of Pimlico, hopes to bring it the same national prominence as the Derby. Impound is expected to make his next start in the $15,000 Chesapeake at Havre de Grace Saturday.

Vanderbilt denied he has been offered the post as president of the Westchester Racing association, which operates Belmont Park. He claimed he had not been informed that Joseph E. Widener had resigned as head of Belmont Park, although reports to this effect have been heard ever since Widener, because of poor health, resigned as president of the Miami Jockey club last winter. His son, Peter A. B. Widener, succeeded him there.

39 IN PREAKNESS

Baltimore, Md., April 19.—(AP)—The Maryland Jockey club announced today that thirty-nine 3 year olds representing twenty-seven stables were eligible for the forty-ninth running of the $50,000 added Preakness stakes at Pimlico on May 13. The list included all the top flight 3 year olds now in training, many of whom are candidates for the Kentucky Derby on May 6.

The lone filly named was King ranch's Ciencia, winner of the Santa Anita Derby. Only two fillies, Rhine Maiden, in 1915, and Nellie Morse, in 1924, have been Preakness victors.

Besides Ciencia the outstanding nominees include W. L. Brann's Challedon, Wheatley stable's Gilded Knight, Belair stud's Johnstown, W. E. Boeing's Porter's Mite, Saratoga stable's Volitant, William Ziegler's El Chico, Woolford farm's Technician, Greentree stable's Day Off, George D. Widener's Eight Thirty, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Impound.

Challedon, Impound, Gilded Knight, Volitant, and Eight Thirty are expected to be among the starters in the $15,000 added Chesapeake stakes at Havre de Grace on Saturday. Other Preakness eligibles are:

Brandywine Stable's Deil and Guyencourt, Belair Stud's Challenge, E. R. Bradley's Benefactor, Joe W. Brown's T. M. Dorsett, Parker Corning's Chip In, Foxcatcher Farm's Golden Clown, Greentree stable's Hash, Third Degree and One by One, Harry F. Guggenheim's War Dog, Mrs. John D. Hertz's Gala Hour, Hal Price Headley's Atatime, King Branch's Equestrian, J. C. Milam's Opelika, John Marsch's Lightspur, Mrs. M. J. Mohr's Rebellious, Milky Way Farm's Giles County, Shandon Farm's Syracuse and Yankee Lad, Starmount Stable's Shambles, Valdina Farm's Viscounty, John Hay Whitney's Heather Broom, Sidney Carton and Counterpoise, George D. Widener's Birch Rod, Wheatley Stable's Devil's Peak and William Zeigler's Time Sheet.

ERA OF WONDERS AHEAD FOR U.S., SLOAN PREDICTS

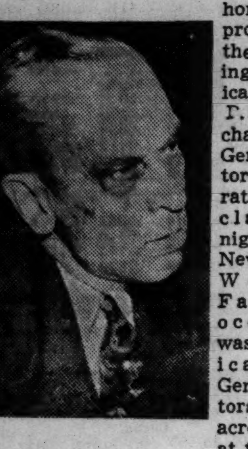
BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 19.—[Special.]—Industry will lead the way toward new horizons of progress in the rebuilding of America, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of General Motors corporation, declared tonight at the New York World's Fair. The occasion was the dedication of General Motors' seven acre exhibit at the exposition.



Alfred P. Sloan Jr.

Five hundred dinner guests, leaders in the nation's industrial and civic life, heard Sloan assert the "pattern of American industry is sound" and express his belief that industry will triumph over the difficult problems and adversities faced in recent years. Expansion of industrial horizons has just begun, he said.

Enjoy a Plane Ride of 1960.

Before the dinner program, visitors were conducted on a tour of the exhibit, which will open on April 30. The major attraction is the "futurama," largest scale-model panorama ever constructed. This panorama depicts an imagined highway transportation system for 1960, threading through cities, farmlands, mountains, and crossing rivers and lakes. Armchairs equipped with loud speakers conveyed the guests about the circuit.

Designed by Norman Bel Geddes, the "futurama" appears as a scene from a low flying airplane. More than 500 artists, designers, and model makers participated in its creation. The exhibit contains more than a million miniature trees, more than half a million houses and buildings, and 50,000 motor vehicles on the roads.

1960 Street Corner Scene.

At the end of the "Futurama" guests stepped out into a street intersection of 1960, with a theater, department store, apartment house and automobile display room occupying the four corners. Below the elevated pedestrian sidewalks of the city of the future, motor trafic was moving. General Motors products are exhibited and dramatized in the group of buildings.

Taking as his theme, "Highways to New Horizons," Sloan found the vast progress in the transportation system—the past and that envisioned for the future—symbolic of progress in every human activity. Sloan predicted new economic horizons, new horizons in the art of government, new social horizons, new horizons expanding in all directions "to the end that greater degrees of well being may be enjoyed by every one, everywhere."

Progress Despite Difficulties.

"Industrial horizons have been lifting in spite of the difficult problems of the last few uncertain years," he declared. "New concepts have arisen in science and research, new techniques in production and distribution, and, above all, the beginnings of a new understanding of the true function of industry as an integral part of our social and economic life."

Sloan told of the progress made in the five years since General Motors gave a similar dinner at the re-dedication of its building at a Century of Progress in Chicago in 1934. At that dinner leading industrialists gave a thrilling account of American progress up to that time.

Since the Chicago dinner, Sloan said, America has made important industrial advances as a result of its activity in research and invention.

Looks Into Future.

He envisioned these things in the not far distant future:

Daily airplane service to Europe at speeds of 500 to 600 miles an hour, automobiles air-conditioned and made foolproof against human weaknesses, and automobiles that park themselves. He foresaw chemistry making the burning of raw coal an economic crime, farms producing industrial raw materials instead of foods, and television becoming as essential a part of our life as the newspaper and the radio.

He said there will be soilless truck farms in giant bathtubs, more machines and less human toil on the farms, clothes that will be so cheap it won't pay to launder them, synthetic foods, built chemically from coal, air, and water; chemical panaceas that postpone old age, and all-electrical, air-conditioned, dustless and germless homes.

Cities lighted by towering suns were predicted, along with automatic machinery for routine tasks, machines to do "routine thinking," and superhighways avoiding cities for speeding travel.

Presents a Roll Call.

Sloan presented a roll call of the developments of the last five years which included several hundred new products and processes.

"I believe that these results of industry demonstrate what can be done in the development of new products and in the improvements of old ones—how prosperous times can be restored through constructive work," Sloan said. "I firmly believe that our continued and always accelerating efforts along these lines cannot fail to

2 Steel Firms Report First Quarter Profit

Companies operating in the heavy goods industries reported substantially improved first quarter earnings yesterday. Increased operations in the steel industry enabled two producers, Republic Steel and Truscon Steel, to turn first quarter losses of last year into profits this year. Truscon Steel is controled by Republic, which owns a majority of the common and preferred stocks.

In the quarter ended March 31 Republic had net income of $532,899, equal to 91 cents a share on the 6 per cent preferred stock after dividend requirements on the 6 per cent prior preference stock. Last year the company had a net loss of $3,062,564 in the March quarter. Truscon Steel reported net income in the March quarter was $20,418, against a net loss of $395,144 in 1938.

Report Rise in Profit.

American Brake Shoe and Foundry, railway equipment manufacturer, reported net income of $408,937, equal to 44 cents a share, in the three months ended March 31, against $240,486, or 22 cents a common share, in the initial three months of 1938.

Bendix Aviation corporation and subsidiaries reported net profit for the first quarter was $1,023,996, equal to 49 cents a share, against a net loss of $561,605 in the first quarter of 1938. The company manufactures aviation, automobile, marine and radio equipment.

Among the companies with smaller first quarter earnings were Atlantic Refining company [preliminary report], United corporation [Delaware], and Texas Pacific Coal and Oil. Columbia Broadcasting System reported a smaller net profit for the thirteen weeks ended April 1 than in the comparative 1938 weeks.

Others Less Favorable.

For periods longer than the first three months of this year, earnings reports were not as favorable. Owens-Illinois Glass had a net income of $5,948,561, or $2.24 a common share, in the fiscal year ended March 31 against $7,646,782, or $2.87 a share, in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1938.

In the nine months ended Feb. 28, Dow Chemical company reported net income of $2,440,560, equal to $2.30 a common share, against $3,044,258, or $3.10 a common share, in 1938.

BANKS' PROFITS RISE IN LATTER HALF OF 1938

Washington, D. C., April 19.—(AP)—Preston Delano, controler of the currency, announced tonight that National banks had improved their profits in the latter half of 1938. He said the 5,230 National banks in existence on Dec. 31, 1938, had made $85,394,000 net profit in that period. This was equal to 5.42 per cent of the par value of the bank's common and preferred capital stock.

For all of 1938, the net profits of national banks before paying dividends were $197,959,000, a decrease of $32,062,000 from 1937. Out of this, they paid dividends totaling $142,496,000, compared with $148,335,000 in 1937.

Motor Coach Company Nets More in 1938

Net income of the Chicago Motor Coach company increased in 1938 to $859,147, from $736,391 in 1937, although operating revenues were slightly lower, the company disclosed yesterday. Of the 1938 net earnings, $719,625 was paid in dividends to the Omnibus corporation, holding company controling bus operating companies in Chicago and New York.

The Chicago company's operating revenues were $5,352,853, compared with $5,459,790 in 1937, it was shown in the annual report of the Omnibus corporation, headed by John Hertz, chairman and John A. Ritchie, president. All of the Chicago company's capital stock is owned by the holding company.

Earns $1.72 a Share.

The Omnibus corporation's 1938 net income was $1,623,185, principally in dividends from the operating companies. This was equal to $1.72 a share on the common stock, after preferred dividends. In 1937 net income was $1,654,808, or $1.74 a share.

The holding company reported the combined taxes of the operating companies rose to $3,546,311 in 1938, from $1,331,497 in 1928, an increase of 166 per cent. The Chicago Motor Coach tax bill was $755,840, or 89 per cent above the 1928 rate; that of the Fifth Avenue Coach company $686,929, an increase of 48 per cent, and that of the New York City Omnibus corporation and its subsidiaries, $2,103,542, a rise of 351 per cent.

Taxes Take $14.12 of Each $100.

Taxes of the Chicago Motor Coach company consumed $14.12 of each $100 of its gross operating revenue.

The interest rate on the Chicago company's equipment purchase obligations was cut from 4¼ per cent to 3.3 per cent, on April 1, effecting a saving of $18,500 for the remainder of 1939, the report said.

MEXICO TO SWAP $2,000,000 OIL TO ITALY FOR RAYON

MEXICO CITY, April 19.—(AP)—Mexico has concluded a second major oil barter deal with Italy, arranging to exchange an estimated $2,500,000 worth of petroleum for rayon yarn and machinery, it was learned tonight.

About 2 million dollars worth of the oil will be bartered for the rayon yarn. Machinery to be exchanged for the remaining $500,000 in oil has not been classified.

Oil shipments are to start in June at the rate of about 30,000 tons a month. The oil will be loaded in Italian ships at Minatitlan and Tampico. Severe curtailment of American, Japanese and Dutch rayon yarn exports to Mexico is predicted in some quarters as a result of the deal with Italy. It was said Mexico will get 7,938,000 pounds of Italian yarn.

The first oil barter deal between Mexico and Italy, negotiated several months ago, involved 3 million dollars worth of oil for three tankers now being built in Italy.

N. Y. COURT BARS NAZI CLAIMS TO BILLS OWED JEWS

New York, April 19.—(AP)—Nazi agents appointed to take charge of Jewish firms in Sudetenland cannot legally collect money owed the former owners by American merchants, Supreme Court Justice Isidor Wasservogel ruled today.

Justice Wasservogel held that such agents, known as kommissaars, have no extra-territorial rights. His ruling was made in a suit by the former firm of Edmund Stern of Czech Sudetenland. Stern's lawyers said the Jewish owners fled to France after the Nazi annexation, leaving uncollected a bill of $35,390 owed by S. S. Steiner, Inc., of New York.

The Steiner company said Kommissaar Otto Bodack had filed claim for the amount and it could not pay both litigants. The ruling held that Bodack had no just claim.

Film Company to Spend Million on Advertising

Universal Pictures will spend a million dollars in advertising during 1939-1940, with most of this fund earmarked for newspapers, W. A. Scully, vice president and sales manager, said yesterday. Scully spoke at the company's midwest convention at the Palmer House. An increase in sales of 20 per cent this year was reported.

FIRST OF 100 CITY PROMOTION CLINICS WILL BE HELD TODAY

The first of 100 city-wide "clinics" to develop ways to promote Chicago will be held today at the Palmer House. The clinics were planned by the Chicago Association of Commerce in connection with the "Greater Chicago campaign." About 40 business leaders will attend today's meeting, at which George A. Richardson, trustee of the Marshall Field estate, will lead the discussion.

Among those who will give their views on what is needed to make Chicago more prosperous and a better city will be Fred Scott of Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., Laurance H. Armour, president, American National Bank and Trust company; James B. Forgan, First National Bank of Chicago; Britton I. Budd, president, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois; Irving Florsheim, Florsheim Shoe company; John R. Thompson, restaurateur, and Walter Gregory, Palmer House.

A second clinic will be held tomorrow at the American Furniture Mart, which will be attended by near north side business men.

TWO RAILROADS REPORT GAIN IN EARNINGS IN 1939

Improvement in earnings for March and the first three months of 1939, as compared with corresponding periods in 1938, was reported yesterday by two railroads.

The New York, Chicago and St. Louis [Nickel Plate] reported March net income of $88,525, against net loss of $301,624 in March last year. Net income for the first three months was $49,460, against net loss of $1,036,663 in the corresponding 1938 period.

Net operating income of the Erie in March was $939,943, against $16,866 in March last year. For the first three months net operating income was $2,048,734, compared with a loss of $269,209 in the same period last year.

The Wabash reported February net loss of $621,646, against $961,362 loss in February, 1938, and two months' net loss of $1,066,166, against $1,813,284.

The Milwaukee reported 1938 net loss of $17,996,270, against a 1937 net loss of $14,221,271.

TRUST REPORTS RISE IN ASSETS, STOCK SWITCHES

Net asset value of Massachusetts Investors Trust was $19.01 a share on March 31 the company reported yesterday. It was $15.56 at the same date last year, and $22.25 at the close of 1938.

New securities added to the portfolio during the first quarter included stocks of Glenn L. Martin and Safeway Stores. Substantial increases were made in holdings of Armstrong Cork, Bendix Aviation, Chrysler, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, and Sperry corporation.

Reductions were made in holdings of Allis-Chalmers, Continental Can, and United States Rubber common. The trust eliminated from the portfolio $203,200 Commonwealth Edison 3½s of 1958.

The trustees reported to shareholders that "they believed that in spite of unforseen foreign developments, the year as a whole will show an encouraging improvement over 1938."

UNITED AIR LINES' MAIL PAY PLEA HEARING APRIL 24

United Air Lines' petition to the Civil Aeronautics authority for changes in the method of payment for carrying air mail has been set for hearing at Washington, D. C., April 24, W. A. Patterson, president of the air line, said yesterday. United is seeking payment on a pound mile instead of a plane mile basis.

The company's petition urges that its compensation should be measured by the amount of service performed, pointing out that last year it carried approximately 32.3 per cent of the nation's air mail and received only 23.1 per cent of the air mail pay.

United's petition marks the first formal application under the new civil aeronautics act for air mail payment to be based on the pound mile method on the pound mile method.

Borg-Warner Buys Aviation Pump Builder

The Borg-Warner corporation, Chicago, has acquired the Pump Engineering Service corporation, Cleveland, O., Charles S. Davis, president, announced yesterday. Borg-Warner is one of the leading manufacturers of automotive parts and equipment, and purchase of Pump Engineering will extend the Chicago company's activities into the aviation field.

Charles S. Davis.

Make Varied Types of Pumps.

Among its products are fuel pumps, vacuum pumps, anti-icing pumps, propeller feathering pumps, electrical motor driven units, combination pumps, valves, hydraulic pumps, and complete hydraulic systems and equipment.

Among its customers, Davis said, are large airplane manufacturers, the air line companies and the army and the navy. Its products are manufactured in Great Britain by the Plessey Co., Ltd., Ilford, England, which has been licensed to produce equipment for the air ministry and for various British airplane manufacturers.

Keep Present Management.

Pump Engineering service will be operated as a subsidiary of Borg-Warner, with the present management continuing to operate the business. William S. Jack, one of the founders, will continue as president.

"As a Borg-Warner subsidiary, the Cleveland company will be able to continue and expand its engineering and new product development program at its modern plant in Cleveland," Davis said.

He said the purchase is in line with the diversification policy of Borg-Warner.

STEEL OUTPUT DIPS FOR FIFTH STRAIGHT WEEK

Steel production in the United States has declined for the fifth consecutive week, but English mills are working at capacity for the armament program, Iron Age reported yesterday.

"Inquiries have been received in the United States for sizable quantities of shell steel and other munitions materials," the trade journal said in its weekly review. "These are coming chiefly from England and Canada."

Ingot output in this country dropped 1 point to 50.5 per cent this week. Last week the slump was 3 points. Iron Age said that the narrowing of the decline may indicate that production has been brought in line with orders.

Softness in the scrap markets caused the biggest drop in the Iron Age composite price for scrap in a year and a half. The price declined 66 cents a ton to $14.42. This reflected decreases of $1 a ton at Chicago, 75 cents at Pittsburgh, and 25 cents at Philadelphia.

President Asks $600,000 More for Monopoly Probe

Washington, D. C., April 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt requested congress today to make available an additional $600,000 for the monopoly investigating committee. The committee's original appropriation was $500,000.

AM. TELEPHONE SHOWS BUSINESS GAIN THIS YEAR

Budgets 320 Million '39 Improvements.

With its business on the upgrade, the American Telephone and Telegraph company plans to spend $320,000,000 on plants and improvements this year, Walter S. Gifford, president, told stockholders yesterday at annual meeting in New York. The amount is $37,000,000 more than was spent by the system last year.

Heads of several other companies reported to their stockholders that business in the first quarter was better than in the first quarter of 1938. Among these were Borden Co., Inc., the Electric Storage Battery company, the Westinghouse Airbrake company, and Godchaux Sugars, Inc.

Gifford said that in the first two weeks of April the Bell system recorded a gain of 34,000 telephones, compared with 14,000 in the first two weeks of April, 1938. Residence telephones currently have been showing a relatively greater gain than business phones, he said.

Calls Exceed Year Ago.

Toll and long distance calls are running well ahead of last year's volume, he reported, and although not yet equal to the peak year of 1930, are slightly above the volume for the first part of 1937, which was the best year since 1930.

Gifford said the system has approximately 16,000,000 telephones in service—an all-time high. This is about 800,000 more telephones than were in use in 1930.

The largest gain in number of phones in use over 1930 was made in the southeast, followed closely by the Pacific coast and Rocky mountain states. The northeastern section still has slightly fewer than in 1930.

Gifford said the company currently is earning its dividend. In 1938 earnings fell $12,638,000 short of covering the $9 a share dividend paid in 1938. He said it now appears likely that 1939 taxes will be about $9,000,000 more than in 1938.

Contrasts 1911 and 1938.

He told the stockholders that a chart made in 1911 showed that 50 per cent of revenues went to employés, 5 per cent for taxes, 20 per cent for materials, rents, etc.; 19 per cent for dividends and interest, and 6 per cent to surplus. In 1938, 27 years later, the figures were: 49 per cent to employés, 14 per cent for taxes, 18 per cent for materials, rents, etc.; 19 per cent for dividends and interest, and nothing to surplus.

Answering a stockholder, Gifford said that at the moment the company has no plans for financing this year.

About 500 stockholders attended the meeting. A laugh was caused when the name of Sears, Roebuck & Co. was found among the nominations for accountants. The election was won by a regular auditing firm.

Borden Profits Improve.

Sales and profit of the Borden company in the first quarter were ahead of volume in the corresponding 1938 period, Theodore G. Montague, president, told stockholders in New York. Stockholders approved an employé retirement plan.

John R. Williams, president of Electric Storage Battery, said 1939 orders to date are about 20 per cent larger than in the 1938 period and that shipments have increased about 24 per cent. Earnings are about $200,000 larger than for the first 1938 quarter. "This is no time to feel discouraged," he said.

G. A. Blackmore, president of Westinghouse Airbrake, said first quarter earnings were $399,015, compared with $135,030 in the 1938 period.

Boat Company Is Busy.

Henry S. Carse, president of the Electric Boat company, said the company's plants in Bayonne, N. J., and Groton, Conn., are busy and that it is expected they will "keep busy at full capacity this year and in 1940."

James Work, president of the Brewster Aeronautical corporation, told stockholders in New York that American naval aviation now leads the world. "Last year," he said, "American aviation increased speed about 2 miles an hour over the 1937 rates. Some American planes, flying at 4 to 6 mile altitudes, can average speeds approximating 7 miles a minute."

Godchaux Sugars, Inc., in the first quarter had earnings fully equal to or better than in the first 1938 quarter, Charles Godchaux, president, told stockholders. April earnings are expected to be better than those of April, 1938, he said.

John M. Lovejoy, president of the Seaboard Oil company, said earnings for the three months ended March 31 will run from 30 to 32 cents a share, somewhat less than for the corresponding 1938 period.

Report Rule of RFC May Go to Hopkins

Washington, D. C., April 19.—(AP)—Reports reached Capitol hill today that President Roosevelt was considering transferring the Reconstruction Finance corporation and other government lending agencies to the commerce department in the first reorganization move under authority granted him recently by congress.

Harry L. Hopkins may get new powers.

The contemplated reorganization order, which some legislators said they expected to be issued next week, also may include the Federal Housing administration and Home Owners' Loan corporation, thus consolidating major business recovery agencies under one command, it was said. In addition there were reports that the President was considering transferring to the interior department both the biological survey, now in agriculture, and the bureau of fisheries, now in commerce.

Report RFC Chief Opposes.

Although Chairman Jesse Jones of the RFC declined to comment, it was reported authoritatively that he had discussed with some senators the possibility that the agency might be brought within the scope of the commerce department, headed by President Roosevelt's close friend and adviser, Harry Hopkins. Jones was described as opposing this move, and there were indications that if it were made it would bring about the first test of the section of the reorganization bill which permits an executive order shifting bureaus to stand unless both houses of congress vote disapproval within 60 days.

One senator said he regarded the RFC's reduction in interest rates on loans this week as the opening gun in a campaign to stave off any change in the agency's status. The RFC cut interest rates on loans to business from 5 per cent to 4.

Believe Jones Would Leave.

This senator said there was little doubt that if the agency were placed under the commerce department Jones would step out as its chief. The prospective reorganization move also held political implications, inasmuch as Jones is a close associate of Vice President Garner and has been popularly credited recently with supporting Garner for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940. There also has been discussion in political circles of the possibility that Hopkins may be President Roosevelt's choice for his successor, if the President does not himself decide to run again.

One of the first agencies to be set up to cope with economic problems brought about by the depression, RFC was inherited by the Roosevelt administration from the preceding Hoover administration and its activities were enlarged and expanded.

ADVANCE REALTY BUYS LAND AT 1000 S. MICHIGAN

The Advance Realty corporation, owned by the Edward J. Lehmann estate, yesterday merged the fee and leasehold at 1000 South Michigan avenue. The 60 by 201 foot parcel of land wasb ought from the Edwin F. Gillette estate for $375,000, according to the revenue stamps on the deed.

The Lehmann estate has been occupying the land under a 198 year lease. The estate also owns the 74 feet adjoining on the north and the 75 feet on the south. This gives it a total frontage of 209 feet, extending from the Standard Oil building south to the building at the northwest corner of Michigan and 11th street.

The north 134 feet of this land is improved with a two story building, mostly rented. The south 75 feet contains an eight story building, entirely vacant. According to the Lehmann estate there are no plans for changing the present improvements.

American Airlines, Inc., will ask the Civil Aeronautics authority for authority to carry passengers, express, and mail by plane between Oklahoma City, Okla., and San Diego, Cal., via Albuquerque, N. M., and Phoenix, Ariz., C. A. Rheinstrom, vice president in charge of sales, said last night.

If the new route is approved by the CAA, American Airlines will provide direct through service from Chicago, St. Louis, Tulsa, and Oklahoma City to Phoenix and San Diego, and direct through service from Tulsa and Oklahoma City to Albuquerque, company officials said.

LEWIS WAVES STRIKE CLUB IN COAL DEADLOCK

Orders Tieup of All Fields in 15 Days.

New York, April 19.—(AP)—John L. Lewis carried out tonight his threat to order a complete shutdown of the nation's soft coal industry unless Appalachian region operators quickly come to terms with his United Mine Workers [C. I. O.] on a new contract.

Officials of the U. M. W. in districts outside the Appalachian region began announcing that the C. I. O. president had notified them to terminate special agreements under which they have continued working while 338,000 Appalachian miners were idle.

Fifteen days' notice is required to terminate the agreements. A U. M. W. spokesman here said about 150,000 miners in 14 states would be affected by the cancellation.

Lewis' spokesman would neither confirm nor deny the order. He said any comment would come out of the conference of operators and miners' negotiators resuming here tomorrow in the face of a growing coal shortage.

Order Received in Illinois.

Confirmation came nevertheless from several U. M. W. officials in the outlying districts, comprising the states of Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wyoming, Montana, Washington, Colorado, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, and Alabama and in western Kentucky.

Contract terms in those areas customarily are based on the terms for the Appalachian region, which produces 70 per cent of the nation's soft coal. Appalachian U. M. W. members quit work April 1 when their two year agreement expired.

[Although railroad shipments of coal from Appalachian bituminous mines have practically ceased the nation as a whole was said by experts to have an adequate supply. Shortages reported in some centers were attributed to failure to lay in supplies in advance of the expiration of the old mine labor contract March 31.]

U. S. Conciliators at Parley.

Two top conciliators of the United States department of labor—James F. Dewey and John R. Steelman, director of the conciliation service—sat in the conference during part of the afternoon session, but there was no indication of any substantial progress toward agreement. Steelman said the government had offered no compromise proposal. He returned to Washington tonight to report to Secretary Perkins.

Meanwhile growing railway unemployment attributed to the mine shutdown in the Appalachian area was reported.

The railroads apparently most seriously affected were the Baltimore and Ohio and the New York Central.

Vice President Charles W. Galloway said the B. & O. was losing $100,000 a day in freight revenues and had laid off several thousand men in "virtual shutdown" of its shops.

New York Central Shops Closed.

In Cleveland a spokesman for the New York Central—which like B. & O. normally does a big business in carrying bituminous coal—said a number of that line's shops had been closed and that "the coal strike's just playing hob with business."

[The term "strike" has been used by operators, while the union insists that "lockout" is the proper definition.]

An official of the Lackawanna here said it was mixing anthracite with bituminous coal for fuel and that with such an arrangement its supply would hold out three or four weeks. Freight tonnage on that line, he re-

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 19.—Stocks improved moderately today as traders took a more hopeful view of the European situation. Reports that the British ambassador would soon return to Berlin brought immediate strength, but little activity to the market. Active issues gained fractions to 2 points. Volatile stocks made advances running to 4 points. Turnover was only 436,880 shares.

Taking their cue from firmer foreign exchanges, prices here started higher. The list then went through a period of uneven swings until the start of the fourth hour. The British report then was greeted with a substantial buying flurry and prices moved up smartly. Toward the close mild selling shaded the best quotations.

Contributing to the caution, according to commentators, was additional evidence of slackening of the domestic business pace.

Standard industrial issues led the upturn. Chrysler, up 1¾ points, was volume leader. General Motors added 1 point. United States Steel, Bethlehem, Crucible, United States Rubber, Goodyear, and Anaconda contributed gains of about 1 point. Douglas featured the aviations with a gain of 1 point. Glenn Martin, Consolidated Aircraft, and Bendix scored major fractional gains.

Leading carriers turned higher after early indecision. New York Central, up ⅜, was leader.

Consolidated Edison and North American company reflected modest inquiry in the utility section. Most oils worked fractionally higher.

Heavy machinery issues registered advances running to 1½ points in International Harvester and 2½ points in Westinghouse.

New York Bonds.

New York, April 19.—(AP)—The bond market made modest gains today. Two sessions of decline on small volume prompted some demand from trading quarters counting on a rally in view of slightly lessened European tension.

United States government issues recorded new gains running to 5/32 point. Dealers said the government market appeared to be on firm ground again after recent unsettlement on the early April string of foreign crises.

Up fractions to around a point were Jones & Laughlin Steel 4½s at 92, International Telephone 5s at 60⅜, Commonwealth Edison convertible 3½s at 106⅜, Baltimore and Ohio 4½s at 11⅜, Rock Island general 4s of '88 at 11¼, Walworth 4s at 60.

Foreign bonds were mixed. Italians lost some ground. Poland 6s.

Chicago Stocks.

Most issues on the Chicago Stock exchange moved higher yesterday in dull trading. Turnover was only 12,000 shares and 40,000 Commonwealth Edison rights. Of 62 issues traded, 32 advanced, 15 declined, and 15 were unchanged. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's average of twenty stocks closed at 9.20, compared with 9.24 Tuesday.

Midland Utilities 7 per cent preferred, volume leader, closed ⅛ higher. Similar advances were made by Middle West and Chicago corporation common. Merchants and Manufacturers A stock and Armour common were unchanged.

Bank Stocks.

Advances of $1 to $3 were made yesterday by several Chicago bank stocks, dealers reported. City National and Continental Illinois shares gained $1, and First National stock, $3.

COARSE GRAINS ARE STRONGER; SALES LARGER

Coarse grains were strong yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. The continued refusal of farmers to part with their reserves of cash corn and oats and a good shipping demand brought in fairly active speculative buying of futures. May corn advanced ½ cent at one time and sold at 49⅜ cents a bushel, the highest price in six weeks.

May oats sold at 30¼ cents a bushel, or within ¼ cent of the season's high mark. No. 2 white oats in the sample market brought 34¼ cents, the highest price quoted for that grade in more than a year. Closing trades on corn futures were at gains of ¼ to ⅜ cent. Oats were ⅛ cent higher.

A house with export connections was an aggressive buyer of May wheat contracts early, but the market eased later. Closing trades were unchanged to ⅛ cent a bushel higher.

Strength in cash corn is due largely to the normal demand which develops shortly before the opening of lake navigation.

Commodities

Under leadership of the world contract, sugar futures yesterday advanced to the highest level since 1937. Best gains were reduced before the close. Other commodities recorded minor changes.

Strength in the London market was a prominent factor in the advance of the world sugar contract, which closed on gains of .005 to .05 cent. Much speculative buying was reported. Domestic sugar closed unchanged to .01 cent higher.

The recent rise in silk futures was checked, with prices irregular at the close. Straits tin, which has experienced a substantial advance on Tuesday, was uneven. Cottonseed oil, lead, and hides moved ahead slightly.

All leading copper producers met the new price of 10½ cents a pound for the domestic metal, posted by a leading smelter a week ago. Copper futures closed .01 to .04 cent lower. Coffee, cocoa, and wool tops also eased.

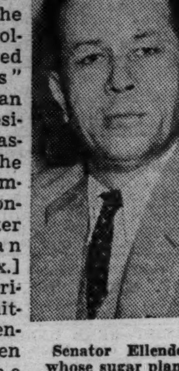
SUGAR CONTROL CHANGE OPPOSED BY ROOSEVELT

Would Violate Treaties, He Tells Rep. Jones.

Washington, D. C., April 19.—[Special.]—Enactment of the sugar bill amendments proposed by Senator Ellender [D., La.] would be a "serious threat to the future of the policy of improved relationships" among American republics, President Roosevelt asserted today. The President's comments were contained in a letter to Chairman Jones [D., Tex.] of the house agricultural committee. The Ellender bill has been passed by the senate and is pending in Jones' committee.



Senator Ellender, whose sugar plan is opposed by President.

Ellender's proposals, the President contended, would undermine the Cuban trade agreement and would violate the nation's treaty obligations under the international sugar agreement approved Dec. 20, 1937. The bill is designed to guard against possible reductions in acreage planted to sugar cane. It would give sugar producing states a larger proportionate share of total production than territories and possessions.

Removes Price Guard.

President Roosevelt told Jones that the agriculture, state, and interior departments, to which Jones referred the Ellender bill for comment, had requested the President to set forth "the basic position" of the administration toward the proposed amendments. One of the amendments, the President charged, would "unfortunately" remove the present sugar act's protection to the "housewives of the nation against housewives higher than necessary to maintain domestic industry.

The President further declared that the amendments call for a sharp reduction in the Cuban sugar quota, which would further curtail shrunken markets for domestic agricultural exports at a time when congress and the administration were struggling with measures to expand such markets."

Makes Another Change.

A further change, the President said, would reduce Porto Rico's and Hawaii's share of the total domestic sugar quota and would deny them their proportionate share of the large increase provided for all domestic areas.

"The bill would thus create a colonialism of the old world type in the form of an underprivileged American citizen living in these particular insular parts of the United States," the President said.

HOUSE GROUP ADOPTS BILL BANNING SALES WITHOUT PROFITS

Springfield, Ill., April 19.—[Special.]—By a vote of 13 to 0 the house judiciary committee today approved the Saltiel bill prohibiting the sale of goods at less than 6 per cent above their wholesale cost. The sponsor, Representative Edward P. Saltiel [R., Chicago], who is chairman of the committee, relinquished the gavel to Elmer J. Schnackenberg [R., Chicago], and took the committee floor to urge the bill's approval.

Five witnesses approved the measure in short talks. They were: Sidney M. Libit, general counsel, Associates Grocery Industries council; F. H. Massman, president, National Tea company; Edward Steele of the Steele-Wedeles company; A. A. Zdrojewski, Midwest Wholesale Grocers, and Campbell Holton, wholesale grocer of Bloomington.

These witnesses told the committee that the sale of goods at less than their wholesale cost was ruining small business men. The measure now goes to the floor of the house, where Saltiel will attempt to push it to third reading—the passing stage.

DURANT ON TRIAL OVER DEALINGS IN GRAIN FUTURES

Fraud Charged; Losses Set at $25,000.

New York, April 19.—[Special.]—William C. Durant, first president of General Motors corporation, appeared as a defendant today at a hearing on charges of having violated the fraud provisions of the commodity exchange act in grain trading. The complaint also named two brokerage houses and several other individuals, including Catherine L. Durant, his wife.

Among those who took the witness chair was Mrs. Alis R. Feigenspan of Rumson, N. J., widow of the head of a large brewing company. An elderly, handsomely attired woman, she testified with seeming reluctance.

She had invested $2,000 in a system of dealing in wheat futures, through which she anticipated a steady income and no losses. In this she was mistaken, it developed, but she had taken her loss philosophically and bore no malice toward Durant.

Once Worth 100 Million.

In reply to a question, he said his show-place home at Deal, N. J., and his art treasures went under an auctioneer's hammer last year for $111,778. Durant is new 77 years old.

Those named with the Durants are Joseph Buchalter, Alexander Eisemann, and Clement B. Johnson, and two brokerage houses, Alexander Eisemann & Co., and H. W. Armstrong & Co. They are accused by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace of trading in grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade through the two brokerage houses and with "having cheated and defrauded persons for whom futures contracts were made."

False Records Charged.

This was done, according to Secretary Wallace, by means of false and misleading reports and statements concerning the contracts. The method of trading was known as the "Buchalter plan."

In forty-eight separate accounts, the losses totaled more than $25,000, the government charges. Virtually all of the operations took place last year.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By HOMER CNEISZ

Lilac Buds Open.

LILAC buds are beginning to open at the Du Page county farm. Both flowering and leaf buds started swelling before the freezing weather of last week, but apparently none was injured by the cold. Prospects are good for a heavy crop of blossoms.

No blooms are expected on the lilac bushes before the first of May. The late spring has retarded development of the flowering buds and it is likely that they will start blooming later than usual. The bushes are partly surrounded by woods and shade trees that protect them against cold winds from the north and east. They also have some protection on the west. As a result, they sometimes start blooming late in April.

Lawn makers at the farm are having difficulty sowing grass seeds because of wet grounds. They are anxious to get all bare spots in the lawns seeded as soon as possible so the young grass can get a good start before hot weather this summer.

Lawns Need Repairs.

Some of the open lawns need repairing this spring. When bluegrass is well established in the open it ordinarily requires little attention, but crab grass gave trouble last year and thinned out the bluegrass in some places. These spots are being reseeded.

Crab grass is one of the worst lawn pests at the farm. It is an annual that starts growing after the weather is warm. Once started it spreads rapidly until killed by frost in the fall. It may make such vigorous growth as to smother the bluegrass. This leaves thin or bare spots in the lawn when the crab grass dies.

The gardeners follow the practice of working up the soil or putting on a top dressing of rich soil before reseeding. Small amounts of commercial fertilizer are mixed with the soil before the seeds are sown to stimulate growth of the lawn grasses. The idea is to get a strong growth before hot weather so crab grass will be less likely to get started.

Seed Mixture Used.

The seed mixture that is being used consists of 80 per cent Kentucky bluegrass, 10 per cent annual rye grass, and 10 per cent redtop. Sometimes a little white clover is seeded with the grasses. The mixture is put on at the rate of about two pounds to 100 square feet. This is considered a heavy rate of seeding, but it is believed to give a thicker turf than lighter applications.

The rye grass and red top serve as a nurse crop for the bluegrass. Once the bluegrass gets a good start it gradually crowds out the other grasses, leaving a smooth bluegrass sod. The seeded areas will be sprinkled whenever necessary for the next two months. Sprinkling will be lighter during hot summer weather in order not to encourage crab grass.

Kentucky bluegrass is used almost exclusively for open lawns at the farm. It makes a beautiful lawn, lives through dry spells without watering, and is about the first grass to green up when fall rains start.

Reviews Industry's Past Triumphs, Sees More.

speed up recovery and prove that industry's developments will bring tangible results in solving our problems.

"I am confident that industry will continue to lead the way in the rebuilding of America. It is logical to assume that we have only really begun to expand our industrial frontiers; we are only beginning to discern some of the means and methods by which future progress can be made possible."

Sloan recalled that when the Chicago dinner was held, General Motors' giant Diesel electric locomotive plant near La Grange did not exist. Now 3,000 men work there in fourteen acres of buildings on 120 acres of ground that five years ago was prairie. Locomotives built there are pulling forty-six streamlined trains across the country.

Reviewing the five years of progress, Sloan gave extracts from statements of company executives on the new developments that are now available to the public. Extracts from some of these statements, by divisions follow:

AIR.

W. A. Patterson, president of the United Airlines Transport corporation: Indicators which record airplane elevation above ground instead of sea level, a static eliminator which virtually ends plane radio static, a new type of "feathering" propellers that stop a propeller if an engine becomes disabled.

Jack Frye, president of Trancontinental & Western Air, Inc.: Ultrahigh radio frequencies for two-way communications and aerial navigation that will function under the most adverse conditions.

Vincent Bendix, president of the Bendix Aviation corporation: A new injection carburetor by which air is sprayed into the engine supercharger under pressure rather than drawn into the chamber by suction. Advantages include fuel saving, freedom from carburetor ice formation, accurate automatic altitude adjustment and operation unaffected by plane position.

Sloan disclosed that one of General Motors' divisions is building large aircraft engines that may "completely change high speed and weight carrying airplane design."

AUTOMOBILES.

K. T. Keller, president of Chrysler corporation: Fluid drive, a new method of transmitting automobile engine power to the wheels which does away with need for shifting gears; now practical for mass production.

General Motors corporation: Automatic transmissions, hypoid gears, coil spring suspensions and other improvements.

CHEMICALS.

Theodore P. Walker, president of Commercial Solvents corporation: Nitroparaffins which offer the prospect for the development of a wide range of new industries; basic raw material is natural gas of which large quantities are wasted.

D. Pyzel, director of Shell Oil company: Edible fats from petroleum and coal.

Edgar Monsanto Queeny, president of Monsanto Chemical company: New phosphates to revolutionize household and commercial cleaning, permit the farmer to make hay when it rains, and replace olive oil in the chemical industry.

Earle W. Webb, president of Ethyl Gasoline corporation: Removal of bromine from seat water for use as constituent in anti-knock fuels.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Powell Crosley Jr., president of Crosley corporation: Radio facsimile broadcasting in which a whole page may be transmitted, picked up and printed.

FARMS.

Max W. Babb, president of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company: One man harvesting machine that in a single operation cuts, threshes, separates, cleans and binds more than 100 different varieties of grains, beans and seeds.

W. S. Peddie, treasurer of the Minneapolis Moline Power Implement company: An all weather tractor cab equipped with radio and heater and later to be air conditioned.

FIBERS.

Lammot du Pont, president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.: Nylon, a wholly new organic material so versatile that the extent of its varied commercial uses can only be guessed today. Derived basically from coal, water, and air, together with other materials, the textile filaments made from this product are stronger and more elastic than any fiber now in general use.

Harold Boeschenstein, vice president of Owens-Corning Fiberglas corporation: Glass in the form of strong, pliable fibers than can be felted and woven, with hundreds of uses, a depression product.

FOOD.

Joseph Wilshire, chairman of Standard Brands, Inc.: A new process whereby ordinary yeast may be made to contain increased amounts of vitamin B.

John Holmes, president of Swift & Co.: A new method of preparing and shipping veal.

GLASS.

Vinyl plastic glass developed by five large companies to be brought out on 1940 automobiles: Stronger and more pliant, also providing less danger from splinters than present safety glass.

John D. Biggers, president of the Libby-Owens-Ford Glass company: A new translucent glazing product composed of a layer of spun glass fibers sealed between two pieces of flat glass. Offers excellent light diffusion and insulation against heat, cold, and sound.

HEALTH.

Dr. W. E. Weiss, director of Winthrop Chemical Company, Inc.: Prontosil and related sulfanilamide compounds, effective against various diseases.

S. De Witt Clough, president of Abbott Laboratories, Inc.: Pentothalm, used to produce intravenous anesthesia for short operative procedures. Ends many of the bad effects of other anesthetics. Vitamin K to stop bleeding by promoting blood clotting in connection with surgical operations.

HOUSEHOLD.

A. W. Robertson, chairman of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company: Precipitron, an electrical device which removes dust from air.

LIGHT.

METALS.

B. F. Fairless, president of United States Steel corporation: High strength, so-called lightweight steels.

Philip D. Block, president of the Inland Steel company: Lead alloy steel which can be machined 30 to 50 per cent more quickly than ordinary steel.

The metal developments include possibly the greatest number of improvements in any of the divisions. Many new alloys and new methods have been developed in the last five years which have greatly increased the scope of the metallurgical industry.

PETROLEUM.

Robert E. Wilson, president of Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company: New cracking processes which greatly increase the amount of anti-knock gasoline obtainable from a barrel of crude oil. Great aid to airplane operation.

PLASTICS.

Aldus C. Higgins, president of the Norton company: Eye glasses almost unbreakable and only half as heavy as conventional ones; made of water-white resin.

RAILROAD.

G. A. Blackmore, president of the Union Switch and Signal company: Central trafic control, permitting a dispatcher to operate switches and signals over 100 miles or more of track; new interlocking for high speed train operation.

D. A. Crawford, president of the Pullman company: New streamlined lightweight trains.

Edward G. Budd, president of the E. G. Budd Manufacturing company: A new lightweight railroad truck for smoother operation and a new disc braking system.

ROADS.

Frank T. Sheets, president of the Portland Cement association: A new soil-cement road to solve the light-trafic road problem in which natural roadway soil and cement are combined to make a weather resisting low cost road.

RUBBER.

S. B. Robertson, president of the B. F. Goodrich company: New rubber sealing strips, nonskip tires and rubber springs for smoothing the highways to new horizons.

LEWIS ORDERS STRIKE THREAT IN COAL DEADLOCK

marked, had not suffered materially, since anthracite movement had picked up and the Lackawanna never had been one of the heavier carriers of bituminous.

The Pennsylvania and the Reading railroads, whose stake in the coal area is a vital one, said they had enough locomotive coal for three weeks and ten days, respectively. Both roads said there was no danger of immediate curtailment of service.

The Association of American Railroads estimated 9,000 railroad men were idle on coal carrying roads, and that the roads are losing a total of $11,000,000 a week in gross revenues as a result of the soft coal stoppage.

Meanwhile, as the bituminous coal dispute went on, the union—John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers [C. I. O.]—entered a second conference on a proposed new contract covering anthracite miners to replace one expiring April 30. The U. M. W. is demanding the thirty hour week in place of thirty-five hours, with present pay scales. Today's anthracite parley lasted three and a half hours. The talks will be resumed at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Will Ask Penalty Clause.

Anthracite operators of Pennsylvania, an informed source said tonight, will demand that the new wage and hour contract include a penalty clause for illegal strikes, the issue that has deadlocked the soft coal conference. The clause provides that miners will be fined $1 to $2 a day each for illegal strikes. The present anthracite contract contains no penalty clause. It was said also that the anthracite operators will demand a wage cut.

Dispatches from Cleveland said that with ice in the Straits of Mackinac and the St. Mary's river delaying opening of Great Lakes navigation, the shutdown of the Appalachian soft coal mines had not been felt by lakes shipping.

A total of one million tons of coal was at Lake Erie ports either in ships or in rail yards awaiting opening of navigation. Vessel men said if the strike continued much of this coal might be diverted to domestic and industrial use. As yet, however, only a few small consignments have been diverted.

ILLINOIS OUTPUT RISES.

Coal mines in Illinois in March increased production 1,304,185 tons, or 47.9 per cent over output in March, 1938, James McSherry, director of the state department of mines and minerals, reported yesterday. Total output last month was 4,022,967 tons.

PITTSBURGH COAL COMPANY PLACED IN RECEIVERSHIP

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 19.—(AP)—Federal Judge R. M. Gibson today placed in receivership the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation of Cleveland, which last week announced it was unable to meet a $57,000 pay roll at three mines near Pittsburgh.

The action was taken in a suit by the North American Coal corporation of Cleveland, which charged the Terminal corporation owed it about $250,000. Trustees named by Judge Gibson were John M. Rayburn of Pittsburgh and S. W. Blakslee of Cleveland, vice president of North American.

CROSLEY'S AUTO TO BE EXHIBITED AT INDIANAPOLIS

New York, April 19.—(AP)—Crosley corporation of Cincinnati has developed a small low priced automobile which will be exhibited at the Indianapolis speedway April 28, it was announced today.

Company spokesmen said details as to price, construction, and marketing plans would be released coincident with the car's display.

Crosley corporation has heretofore confined its production mainly to automobile accessories, radio equipment, and household electrical equipment.

DOLLAR NEARLY STEADY AGAINST FOREIGN MONEYS

Principal European currencies held about steady against the dollar yesterday in foreign exchange transactions at New York. French currency eased .00⅛ cent at 2.64 15-16 cents, the Belgian belga 0.01 cent at 16.80 cents, and the Swiss franc 0.00¼ cent at 22.43 cents. Discounts on most forward rates widened slightly.

A total of $8,900,000 of gold was engaged abroad for shipment to this country.

Taxes, Expenses Cut Value of Herrick Estate 31 Pct.

New York, April 19.—(AP)—The gross value of the estate left by Parmely W. Herrick, Cleveland banker, was listed as $1,794,304 in an accounting filed in Surrogates' court today. It showed taxes and expenses reduced the estate about 31 per cent to $1,231,133 as of Dec. 31, 1938. Herrick died July 7, 1937. His widow and son were left annual incomes of $25,000 and $10,000, respectively.

N. Y. Marine Underwriters Readjust War Risk Rates

New York, April 19.—[Special.]—Leading New York marine underwriters today adjusted war risk rates on securities to 7½ cents per $100 of value. This brought the rate, which previously had been at 18 cents per $100, into line with the rate quoted by London underwriters.

COTTON

Old crop deliveries of cotton in American market showed strength yesterday. Short covering and mill buying disclosed a lack of pressure on the May future. There was fair selling of the new crop months by commission houses and also some pressure attributed to hedging against Brazilian cotton. Closing trades were .05 cent higher to .05 cent a pound lower.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .10 cent higher with New York, 8.98 cents; New Orleans, 8.70 cents; Houston, 8.40 cents, and Galveston at 8.29 cents a pound. Prices follow:

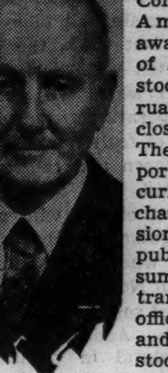
Gen. Harbord Gives Away 1,100 Shares of RCA.

Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord of New York City, chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America, gave away 1,100 shares of his company's stock during February, it was disclosed yesterday. The gift was reported to the Securities and Exchange commission and made public in a SEC summary of stock transactions by officers, directors, and principal stockholders of corporations.



Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord.

The summary, the concluding one covering February transactions, showed purchases and sales about equally divided during the month. Gen. Harbord reported gifts of 500 shares of common stock, 500 shares of first preferred, and 100 shares of class B preferred. These gifts, to unnamed recipients, left the radio chairman with 653 shares of common and 847 shares of first preferred. The gift of class B preferred represented his entire holdings of that security.

COLD WEATHER AND RAIN DELAY WORK ON FARMS

Early Blooming Fruit Is Reported Injured.

Record breaking low temperatures for so late in the season and excessive precipitation in the more eastern parts of the grain belt delayed field work in the last week, the weather bureau reported yesterday. No damage to winter wheat was caused by the low temperatures. Early blooming varieties of fruit were injured by frost in southern and central areas, the bureau said.

Development of the winter wheat crop is irregular, the bureau said. Some spring wheat fields are up to good stands in North Dakota. Strong winds depleted soil moisture in much of the north. Additional moisture would be helpful in planting and germination in parts of the spring wheat territory.

Corn made slow growth in the extreme south because of cold weather. Germination in parts of Texas is being delayed by dry soil.

Conditions by States.

Conditions in leading agricultural states for the week ended April 18 were reported as follows:

ILLINOIS — Frost damage to peaches and strawberries in south; moderate damage to oats and young clover. Wet soil retards field work. Oats sowing under way over.

INDIANA—Lowlands flooded; soil too wet for field work. Winter wheat progress fair to good. Oats seeding not completed. Frost damage to fruit.

OHIO—Spring backward. Progress of wheat fair. Young alfalfa and clover damaged by freezing.

IOWA—Oats and barley seeding nearing completion in south and west; less than 50 per cent done in northeast. Germination retarded by cold weather. Winter wheat growth poor.

WISCONSIN—Practically no field work accomplished; ground too wet. Most vegetation still dormant.

KANSAS—Rainfall adequate. Condition of winter wheat unchanged; jointing in southeast, south central, and extreme southwest. Little progress in field work. Pastures, oats, barley, and alfalfa improving rapidly.

Investors' Guide

Thursday, April 20, 1939.

[Copyright: 1939: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MARKS BROS.

Investors' Guide: What has happened to the Marks Brothers Theatres, Inc.? My uncle had $2,000 of the company mortgage bonds which he willed to me, but I can't find that such a concern exists any more. Are the bonds worth anything? Miss H. C.

Answer: Marks Brothers Theatres was reorganized in 1936, and the mortgage bonds, such as you inherited, were entitled to $7.50 in cash for each $100 of bonds.

In addition, one share of preferred stock in Midcity Theatres, Inc., was issued for each $100 of Marks Brothers' bonds. Midcity Theatres is controled by Balaban & Katz corporation, and we suggest that you write the latter firm at 175 N. State street, Chicago, for information on how to obtain the cash and new stock for your bonds.

PIANO COMEBACK.

Investors' Guide: I am interested in knowing how much of a comeback the piano has made in recent years. In this connection, could you give me the sales figures for the Wurlitzer company and Aeolean American corporation, two prominent piano makers?—Mrs. R. M.

Answer: Here are the sales figures in recent years for the two piano companies:

	Wurlitzer [Year ended March 31.]	Aeolian American [Year ended April 30.]
1938	$17,171,000	$2,046,000
1937	16,449,000	2,257,000
1936	9,534,000	1,840,000
1935	6,831,000	1,395,000

Profits for both companies turned downward in the 1937-'38 fiscal year, although Wurlitzer's sales increased. Wurlitzer makes other musical instruments besides pianos, and operates retail stores. Aeolian American is strictly in the manufacturing division, and concentrates on pianos.

HOW INVESTED?

Investors' Guide: I have a life insurance policy with the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, and would like to know how this company invests its assets. How much of its funds are in bonds, how much in mortgages, etc.?—M. T.

Answer: Of Northwestern Mutual's assets of 1 billion 233 million dollars at the end of 1938, 52 per cent was invested in bonds. Cash amounted to 1 per cent, mortgage loans to 25 per cent, and real estate to 4 per cent. Loans to policy holders took 14 per cent. More than half the bonds are government obligations of the United States or state and local agencies.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The market for hogs weakened under pressure of heavier receipts yesterday. Arrivals at Chicago, 15,000 head including 5,500 direct to packers, were largest for a Wednesday since Feb. 15. After a steady opening, 5 to 10 cent lower prices prevailed in most classes. Both the top and average lost 5 cents, at $7.30 and $7.00, respectively.

Cattle receipts continued small as a result of the recent sharp decline of prices. Steers and yearlings met narrow demand, and despite the decrease in supplies, prices were weak. A few sales of best steers as well as some cheaper kinds were steady, but instances of 25 cents decline were recorded in others, which were 25 to 50 cents under last week's close.

GERMANY'S WOOD PULP SALES IN U.S. INVESTIGATED

Washington, D. C., April 19.—(AP)—The treasury today ordered immediate investigation of allegations by American wood pulp producers that Germany was dumping wood pulp in this country. Pending outcome of the investigation, customs officials have been ordered to obtain special bonds on imports of German wood pulp to satisfy any extra tarif duties which may be assessed.

O. M. Porter, secretary of the United States Pulp Producers association, said he had presented evidence that Germany was selling wood pulp here for about half of her domestic sales price.

"How I Got a Loan of $100

"I needed $100 in a hurry. I dreaded to ask friends for a favor. And I had no security for getting a loan at a bank. What was I to do? Fortunately I heard about Household Finance and so went to a nearby office. The manager was courteous and friendly. He merely asked me a few simple questions. The next day I got the money, with 20 months to repay. Only my wife and I signed the papers. I was delighted to get a loan so simply and promptly."

Whether you are married or single, if you need a loan of $20 to $300 the manager of the Household office near you will be glad to discuss your problem with you in complete privacy and without obligation. Why not phone or visit him today?
